Deep Test Of So. Torrance Field Started

Deep tests of the old Torrance oil field town lot area were being undertaken this week by a company of local operators including Earl Robinett, Rocky German, C. T. Rippy, and Dr. J. C. Chapman.

The new firm is sinking a shaft into the Schist sands on a site located at 229th st. and Narbonne avenue, seeking to uncover deep sands in the famous Torrance field. It is expected that the drill may bite the sands as low as 6,000 feet to strike the Schist area, wells of the Wilmington and El Segundo fields having found production in the Schist at from 6,000 to 6,500 feet. Wells in Wilmington in the Schist have yielded from 3,000 to 4,000 barrels of 30 to 32 gravity oil daily.

A 136-foot steel derrick will be used in drilling the new venture which will be watched with extreme interest by hundreds of local operators.

Most of the Torrance wells in that area now are classed as "strippers" and if the productive deep sand is found it is possible that it will cause many a small operator to undertake new oil explorations.

The result will have its effect, also, on home development plans scheduled for the district, it was said.

City Manager Government Is Winning Approval

Cities throughout the nation are moving toward the city manager form of government, according to a survey conducted by the International City Managers' Association. The proposition of amending the Torrance City Charter to provide for a city manager form of government now is being considered in official and civic circles.

Hartford, Conn., is one of the most recent cities to adopt the city manager form of government.

In recent elections, 16 of 23 cities favored adoption of the council-manager form of government, the association said.

The association reported that the Hartford action increased to 70 the number of cities approving shifts to city manager government in 1946. The previous high was 47 adoptions in 1921.

More than 720 cities now are governed under the city manager plan.

"Substance" will be the Sunday Lesson - Sermon subject in all branches of The Mother Church, The First Church of Christ, Scientist, in Boston. Paul's declaration to the Corinthians is the Golden Text: "God is able to make all grace abound toward you; that ye, always having all sufficiency in all things, may abound to every good work."

This incident is told in Mark's Gospel, "And Jesus sat over against the treasury, and beheld how the people cast money into the treasury: and many that were rich cast in much. And there came a certain poor widow, and she threw in two mites, which make a farthing. And he called unto him his disciples, and saith unto them, Verily I say unto you, That this poor widow hath cast more in, than all they which have cast into the treasury: For all they did cast in of their abundance; but she of her want did cast in all that she had, even all her living."

In "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures," Mary Baker Eddy writes: "Christians rejoice in secret beauty and bounty, hidden from the world, but known to God. . . . Practice not profession, understanding not belief, gain the ear and right hand of omnipotence and they assuredly call down infinite blessings."

Lessing Will Preach Sunday In St. Andrew's

While the Rev. Mr. Lessing is at St. Andrew's, the Rector, the Rev. Paul Moore Wheeler, will take the services and preach at St. Mark's, Downey.

The Rev. Mr. Lessing will speak to the Church School students at their 9:30 service.

Elson Memorial Portraits Given By W'43 Class

The recent purchase of two water colors painted by Henry L. Richter of Rolling Hills for the Torrance High School, as a memorial for the Winter Class of 1943, to Thomas Hughes Elson, former principal, are now hanging in the school library.

One, the duins of a Moorish bridge near Ronda, Spain, is the scene of an acqueduct made about the time of Columbus.

The second subject, Callejon del Agua, a street in Seville, Spain, is a favorite spot for artists. Richter was in Spain at the beginning of the revolution against the monarchy, spending several months making studies of this most interesting country.

Richter is well-known, having lived in California many years. He has been a member of many art clubs, is a life member of the Laguna Art Association, and a member of the Palos Verdes Art Association. He is a versatile painter, handling landscapes, people, marines, and almost any type of subject with equal ease. He studied in the Royal Academy of Munich; and in the Chicago Art Institute of this country.

Nine of the Torrance school board candidates were introduced and Rev. Paul Moore Wheeler, pastor of St. Andrew's church, gave a short talk.

State Guardsmen Placed On C.N.G. Reserve Lists

Provisions to place California State Guardsmen on the reserve list of the California National Guard in recognition of their wartime service have been announced today by Brig. Gen. Curtis D. O'Sullivan, the adjutant general of California.

State Guardsmen with a minimum of 90 days of honorable service between Dec. 7, 1941, and Dec. 31, 1946, will be placed on the National Guard reserve list, without federal recognition, under authority contained in the California Military and Veterans Code.

The group includes a number of Torrance officers and enlisted men who served with regular Army officers and troops in protecting critical areas, the beaches and other vital defense points throughout the war, it was said.

As members of the National Guard reserve, the former State Guardsmen will be privileged to wear the uniform of the California National Guard at military ceremonies, social functions and gatherings of a military character, when engaged in military instruction of a cadet corps or similar organization, or when participating in military drills or exercises.

The California National Guard's distinctive insignia will be worn on the uniform, the office of the adjutant general said.

Clear Up the Dust Germs . Don't Toss Them About!

It's time to say goodbye to the broom and dustpan—they are out of place in this age of scientific cleanliness, when we know that dust germs are disease breeders.

Broom sweeping swished them about; filling the air with them; blowing them from one part of the house to another; letting it settle somewhere else—sometimes in the food.

The electric suction cleaner cleans. It sucks up all of the dirt and dust from the floor, rugs and carpets, collecting it in a bag, which you empty outside the house, and it cleans so thoroughly that there is no need of house-cleaning.

It is simplicity itself. You attach the cord to a lamp socket, and push the cleaner about, letting it eat up the dust. The cost of current is about the same as for your electric iron.

Your electric dealer has electric cleaners to demonstrate.
