Projects Keep YWCA Busy

Volunteer For Chest

Harbor District YWCA has turned in more worker's cards for the Community Chest drive than any other agency, Mrs. Paul Abrams, Chest Chairman, reported at a recent meeting of the executive board.

This initial meeting of the fall season at the Y focused attention on the coming Chest drive with a short talk by Ira Kaye, chairman for the San Pedro area.

INTERNATIONAL NOTE

Harbor District YWCA is one of the five in the Western Region selected to hostess one of the delegates of the YWCA International Leadership Training Project.

Announcement came by letter from Mrs. Walter A. Gordon, project chairman for the Western Region.

"This project," said Mrs. C. R. Halfpenny, president of the board of directors, "will bring 20 leaders from Asia, Africa, and the Middle East to this country for nine-month work-study course beginning in October. They will take on-the-job training in international relations and social welfare."

Early history of the Y was told by Mrs. John Morris, executive director, who stated that the movement began almost 100 years ago as a result of the industrial revolution, when women coming to work in cities needed shelters.

National Federation of Business and Professional Women's Clubs, National Institute of Immigrant Welfare, Traveler's Aid, and Women's Exchanges for the Sale of Handwork all had their start in the Y, she said.

Board passed the recommendation of the San Pedro house committee that rental fees of residence rooms be increased.

HOUSEGUESTS LEAVE

Miss Elizabeth Null of San Francisco and Robert Warner of Stockton, who have been houseguests the past week-end at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Carl S. Warner, 1452 El Prado, returned Sunday to the bay-area cities.

Dues Raised To $2 Mark

Dues in the Harbor District YWCA will be increased to $2 beginning Oct. 1, electors decided at an Assembly held Tuesday at the YWCA building.

"The fee is intended to represent no more than the cost involved in establishing and maintaining a defined membership in the organization," said Mrs. Ecklund, area membership chairman.

Felt-o-graph presentation by Mrs. Otis Blackstone, membership director, showed things for which membership fees are used.

First life member of the Torrance Branch, Mrs. Minnie B. Solomon was presented with a gold life membership card. This brings the number of life members for the Harbor District Y to 16.

"Subcommittee on Brass Tacks," a humorous skit, was presented by Mesdames Ecklund, Phelan Foley, Duryl Vaughn, Melvin Andrews, Kenneth Lapier, E. H. Johnson, Don Olmstad, Loraine Harper, Floyd Miller, and Paul Dwight; and Misses Edna Whitlow and Barbara Lisman.

Program highlights for the year were presented by Mrs. Lee Stamps, former chairman of Torrance Branch.

Preceding and following the meeting, refreshments were served by the Torrance membership committee, composed of Mesdames Walter Levy, chairman; Parke Montague, and William Kuchs; and Mesdames Walter Silence, Carl Mohler, and Mildred Evans of the Torrance House committee.

Mrs. Olmstad and Miss Lisman poured during the refreshment hour.
