Parkway

"Just Wonderful" is the most fitting description of Parkway PTA's sponsored "Roaring 20's" fashion show held last month at San Pedro Hacienda.

Following the eleven o'clock social hour, guests enjoyed a delicious lunch consisting of tomato juice, salad, baked caponette with wild rice, creamed asparagus, rolls, beverage, and Neapolitan ice cream. The beautiful table decorations were handled by Mrs. Ernest Neu who carried out, in sparkling fashion, the "Roaring 20's Theme" of roses and flapper silhouettes.

Special guest of Parkway PTA was Mrs. Don Niguil whose husband is a noted Los Angeles dress designer.

With Mrs. Paul Stevens handling the show commentary, program began with Mrs. Malcolm Richland modeling a chemise of the 20's as designed by fashion experts of that era. Next came "Mothers of Parkway" modeling "originals" of the 20's. Participating was Mrs. Charles Meyers, Mrs. James Hall and Mrs. Don Houghton. Audience response was enthuiastically approving, especially with Mrs. Leo Hinchcliff attired in a white background, red polka dot bathing suit.

Next on the program was Mrs. Walter Denning performing a "Charleston" dance complete with flapper dress and twirling beads, very daring indeed, and wonderfully received.

Reaction to pantomime number of Helen Kane, "Boop boop a doop gal" portrayed by Mrs. Don Houghton, attended by Mrs. James Hall and Mrs. William Jarrell dressed as men complete with top hat, delighted and entertained guests tremendously. Mrs. Arthur Griebel presented the "blues and jazz" song stylings of Helen Morgan with piano bit. Her performance was excellent.

Coordinating the deseigners fashion show portion of the program was Mrs. George Cokas. The professional touch these models and their presentations added to the show provided enjoyment to all concerned. Chairman of the entire program was Mrs. Paul Dergarabedian who deserves tremendous credit.

Two showings of the third in the current series of technicolor movies "So Dear To My Heart", starring Bobby Driscoll and Burl Ives, was shown Saturday, March 29th at Parkway School Cafetorium.

These entertaining movies sponsored by Parkway PTA have been enthusiastically received by both youngsters and adults.
