

WHAT EACH DID

As St. Peter was receiving a group of new arrivals he questioned what each did for a living while on earth.

The first man said: "I was the representative of justice between man and man. I defended the oppressed and unfortunate. I was a lawyer."

The second man said: "I brought the newborn babe into the world. I cured the sick, and, when that was impossible, I lightened the pains of the dying. I was a doctor."

The third said: "I tried to have men lead good lives. In prosperity I advised them to practice self-restraint; in adversity I bade them hope. I was a clergyman."

The fourth said: "I defended my country against her enemies, within and without. On the field of battle I faced death bravely. I was a warrior."

The fifth said: "I made my country's laws. I championed and voted for the greatest good to the greatest number. I was a Congressman."

The sixth member of the group was to answer. She had a worn and tired look and a subdued manner. Finally she was induced to speak. "I was the teacher who introduced these five distinguished gentlemen to knowledge. I guided their childish footsteps up the heights of learning. When fame and wealth came to them they not only forgot me, but they denied me a living wage. That accounts for my weariness. I had grown so tired through the incessant demands of teaching, I had become so worn in trying to make both ends meet on my poor salary, I had been so depressed by the long struggle against discouragement over not being appreciated on earth that death was a relief when it came, and I am glad that I am here."—Journal of Education.

A SIX-PLUS BIRTHDAY DINNER

Mr. and Mrs. J. A. Wolfe of Cota avenue gave a dinner on Saturday evening in honor of Mr. Sam Levy's birthday. Large, beautifully decorated cake held the place of honor on the table, and the six candles that were part of the decorations caused a lot of merriment, as did the fact that "Murphy" ate too much cake, and became quite ill. The guests were Mr. and Mrs. Sam Esland, Mr. and Mrs. Ellis Harder, Mr. and Mrs. Fred Palmer, Mr. and Mrs. Sam Levy, Miss Ethel Adams, Mrs. McAroy, Mr. Briggs, and Mr. Murphy.

Mrs. H. McManus, while driving in Long Beach Saturday, was in an unaccountable accident. A runaway team of horses, hitched to a milk wagon, crashed into her car, and did a great deal of damage. Fortunately Mrs. McManus was unhurt.

Sunday, April 30th, Mr. and Mrs. Harry Jones of North Arlington avenue passed another milestone on life's journey. As she tripped down the walk with Mr. Jones to join Mr. and Mrs. Kembell for a ride to Bixby Park to celebrate the day, her step had the lightness and her face the smile of youth and joy. Mr. Jones, who is an artist in their line, had a basket decorated and a beautiful birthday cake for her, and they were joined at the park by a group of friends who later enjoyed a splendid picnic dinner of ham and eggs, sandwiches, cake, coffee, strawberries and cream. Later they motored through Long Beach, Seal Beach and Huntington Beach. Mrs. Jones declared with enthusiasm it had been one of the happiest days of her life.

"BUT HE AIN'T WENT YIT"

Every little while they tell us that the horse has got to go; First the trolley was invented 'cause the horses went so slow. And they told us that we'd better not keep raisin' colts no more. When the street cars got to motin that the horses pulled before. I thought it was all over for old Fan and Doll and Kit, S'posed the horse was up and done for, "But he ain't went yit!"

When the bike craze first got started people told us right away. As you probably remember, that the horse had saw his day; People put away their buggies and went kitin' round on wheels: There were lots and lots of horses didn't even earn their meals I used to stand and watch 'em with their bloomers as they'd flit, And I thot the 'horse was goin', "But he ain't went yit!"

Then they got the horseless carriage and and they said the horse was done, And the story's been repeated twenty times by Edison; Every time he gets another of his batteries to go He comes whoopin' out to tell us that the horse don't stand a show, And you'd think to see these chauffeurs, as they go a-chauffin', it was good-bye to Mr. Dobbin, "But he ain't went yit!"

When the people get to flying in the air I s'pose they'll say, As we long have been a-saying, that the horse had had his day; And I s'pose that some old feller just about like me'll stand Where it's safe and watch the horses haulin' stuff across the land, and he'll maybe think as I do, while the crowds above him flit, Oh, they say the horse is done for, "But he ain't went yit!" —Chicago Record-Herald.

NOTABLES TO MEET HERE

The Fourth District Chambers of Commerce hold their regular monthly meeting in Legion Hall, Torrance, Thursday night, May 11. An excellent program of speaking and music is being prepared. The Redondo Chamber will furnish a radio entertainment and the Torrance Industrial Film will be exhibited. A regular dinner will be served at 6 p. m. sharp. This will set you back one dollar, but will be worth more. Everybody come.

A PLEASANT SURPRISE

Mrs. J. R. Sach of Cota avenue was pleasantly surprised by a number of her friends one day last week. One by one they dropped in, and each lady had such a good reason for coming that it was not for some time that Mrs. Sach suspected that it was all pre-arranged. During the afternoon Mrs. Stockton, on behalf of the ladies present, gave Mrs. Sach a beautiful flowering Begonia and a "Sunburst" rose, and Mrs. Colburn, whose birthday was the day following Mrs. Sach's, was also presented with a birthday gift. Dainty refreshments were served. Those present were Mesdames Brooks, Beckwith, Davis, Colburn, Taylor, Stock, Barnard, W. H. Gilbert, Wallace Gilbert, Zamperinas, Benson, Milburn and Sach; Misses Ruth Barnard, Lucile Stock, Alice Marie and Ruth Taylor.

TORRANCE WINS AGAIN

The American Sash and Door ball team of Los Angeles had an exciting argument with the Union Tool Club last Saturday afternoon on the local diamond before a large number of ball fans. The Union Tool got away with the long end of the score—5-2. The back field has lost the appearance of a goat pasture since the boys gave it a thorough grooming last week. The baseball season is here, folks. Get out and give your lungs a bit of healthy exercise and show the boys that you appreciate a good home ball team.

RESTAURANT MOVED

The American Restaurant moved this week to a new location across from the Llewellyn Iron Works. There is nothing like getting a front seat if you want to see the show, and the same thing applies to business locations.
