"GIVE ME THE WEST" - SAM RAPPAPORT

Two Weeks' Visit In East Proves Profitable Business Trip

After spending two weeks in St. Louis, Chicago, Milwaukee, and other Eastern cities, Sam Rappaport returned home last Sunday night, and glad to get back. While his visit east was purely a business one, a certain amount of time was devoted to sightseeing and observing conditions generally. Tall buildings, great manufacturers, where production of finished merchandise is done in such enormous quantities that staggers even those used to moving goods the year round, are interesting to one from the west. That hustle of the great cities, the enormous acreage, plains, and bountiful crops passed in the vast area of the middle west was highly appreciated by Mr. Rappaport, but not over interesting, for, as he said, "I was sure glad to get back to Torrance," and feel that we all should be happy that we live in such a thriving section of Southern California.

Cost of Courtship Reduce Number of Marriages

Certain periodicals are urging young men to marry. They state that the small number of marriages is an alarming fact, meaning as it does that fewer girls are educating themselves to fill the places of men at increased salaries.

The man of today has to have more money than the man of a generation ago needed before he will be looked upon with favor by parents with marriageable daughters. Fathers, who began with $500 or less when they married, insist that prospective sons-in-law must have thousands. Parents are not willing to have their daughters start in a small way.

Girls are making more demands that in years gone by, so that a man must possess a great deal of courage or a great deal of money and bright prospects if he dares to mention marriage to the lady of his choice.

One of the reasons why men do not accumulate more money nowadays is because the girls cost so much to entertain; boys have to pay from $1 to $5 an evening for entertainment or he is considered a piker. Most of the money must come from his dad, or out of the boy's own earnings.

Money that boys earn should be put at interest to make more money.

NOW RESIDES IN TORRANCE

C. V. Jones, manager of the Consolidated Lumber Company in Torrance, has taken up his residence at the Ironton Hotel, during the absence of Mrs. Jones and baby, who have gone to Sierra Madra to visit with her parents for three months.

YELLOW FORDS

The Consolidated Lumber Company has blossomed forth lately with all cars painted a rich yellow, bearing the slogan in black, "From Tree to Consumer," and it looks very pretty.
