New Club Is Organized

The Art club was organized at the home of Mrs. Roy Flood this week. The club will hold their meetings every two weeks, on Thursday afternoons. The next meeting will be held at the home of Mrs. J. Ashley, at Athens-on-the-hill. The following ladies are members of the club, Mrs. Nettie Steinhilber, Mrs. John Young, Mrs. A. B. Street, Mrs. J. M. Barnes, Mrs. Joe Stone, Mrs. Elsie Miller, Mrs. J. Ashley, Mrs. M. T. Sherwin, Mrs. W. W. Woodington, Mrs. Fred Lessing, Mrs. J. G. Gay, Mrs. George Watson and daughter Virginia, and Mrs. Vorhis of Lomita.

NO GOAT GLANDS

From Kentucky comes the report of the death of a man at the age of 134. He left a daughter 90 and a son 6. His first wife died when 122. His second wife was 30 when she passed away. It is possible that the story is true.

Public Library Building Going Up In El Prado St

Temporary quarters for the Torrance Public Library have been arranged for by the benevolence of the Torrance Land and Improvement association when they announced Monday that they would build a room north of the Dominguez Land Company sales offices in Le Prado street.

Herbert Black has the contract and says the building will be 30x50 with a wing 22x24, constructed so that the building may be moved later and if necessary turned into a cottage, the windows, doors, and entrances being so built that interior arrangements may be easily added with small expense.

Hurl Crank at Two Holdup Men

Excitement was at fever heat for a few moments last Saturday night when at 12:30 a. m. two boisterous youngsters drove up in front of the Day and Night Garage apparently for gas. When Farley Johnson, night man at the garage walked out with the oil pump crank in his hand to serve the lads with gasoline, they shoved a gun into his face and he threw the crank at them with such terrific force that it crashed into their machine. Such an unexpected rebuff evidently frightened them for they immediately "stepped" on the gas and fairly flew away. Nothing has been heard of the "crank" since.

Moore Gains In Ranks Of Hiram Voters

Los Angeles, July 21—Never in the history of California politics has there been a more pronounced revision of popular sentiment against any incumbent of high political office than is manifesting itself against Hiram Johnson in the present Senatorial campaign.

This is plainly evidenced in the powerful support volunteered to Charles C. Moore by the membership of the Johnson-for-Senator club of 1916.

On this committee of Johnson leaders who handled his fight in 1916, thirty-six have already declared for Moore and joined the Moore club. Only thirty-one have admitted they are for Johnson.

There is strong criticism of Johnson's course on many public questions. His opposition to the Four-Power Pact—his close alliance with Hearst—the fact that his campaign in Los Angeles is in the hands of former Southern Pacific Attorney Frank P. Flint, Southern Pacific lobbyist Frank P. Doherty, and Leo V. Youngworth, all old "machine men"; all these causing former supporters to fall away from Johnson at a rate which is alarming his leaders.

R. J. Deininger Returns to Desk

After a three weeks absence to his home in Montana to attend the funeral of his father, R. J. Deininger returned Monday to his desk at the Dominguez Land Corporation. Mr. Deininger says the Northwest country looks prosperous and that business conditions are very good.

Contractor Is Kept On Go

The remodeling of the Baptist church on Carson avenue and two new houses for the P. E. are keeping John Holm on the go. One of the houses will be occupied by Mr. Cassidy and family of Los Angeles, and the other by Mr. and Mrs. Crossmire of Redondo Beach.
