

ANOTHER BIG WEEK SLATED FOR MOVIE PATRONS HERE

Nita Naldi, Lewis Stone, Colleen Moore, Eddie Phillips, Thomas Meighan, Lila Lee, Jack Holt. These are some of the stars whose latest feature vehicles will be thrown on the screen at the Torrance theatre next week. Four pictures have been booked.

Nita Naldi's first stage sweetheart was John Daly Murphy, who has a leading part in this noted Paramount player's newest picture, "You Can't Fool Your Wife," which will be seen the love affair of their common stage appearance several years ago, right where they left off. The intervening years were merely a slight interruption. Nita's first appearance on the legitimate stage was in "The Dowry," wherein John Daly Murphy, the well known comedian, though married in the play, made love to the beautiful girl, much to the distress of his unattractive stage wife. In "You Can't Fool Your Wife" Miss Naldi's wiles, Leatrice Joy, Lewis Stone and Pauline Garon are featured with Miss Naldi in this attractive photoplay.

Three Stars in Film There are three well known screen players in the Paramount-Cosmopolitan production, "The Nth Commandment," coming Tuesday and Wednesday, Oct. 30 and 31. Colleen Moore is the leading woman, and James Morrison and Eddie Phillips have the leading male roles. The picture is based on a story by Fannie Hurst, author of "Humoresque," and it is said to be intensely appealing.

A Kyns Story
Thrilling rescues at sea, terrific storms, said to equal in realism nature in her angriest mood, an unusually appealing love theme—these are the principal features of "Homeward Bound," a new Paramount picture starring Thomas Meighan, which will be on view Thursday and Friday, Nov. 1 and 2. Lila Lee, who played opposite Mr. Meighan in "The Never-De-Well," is his leading woman in this new screen offering.
Mr. Meighan is a seaman in this delightfully crisp story, while Miss Lee is the daughter of a ship owner who unaccountably detests the sailor in his employ. He is unaware that Jim Bedford, the sailor in question, loves his daughter, and that she returns his love. She goes to sea in a palatial yacht, the command of which had been wrested by Bedford from Swenson, a cowardly skipper. This sets in motion a series of thrilling events which goes far to make this perhaps the best sea picture screened in many months. Of course the finish, although surprising, is pleasing to the spectator.

Keeping up appearances. This theme of the modern matron's existence is seen to excellent advantage in Jack Holt's Paramount picture, "A Gentleman of Leisure," which will be the feature at the Torrance theatre Saturday, Nov. 2. Mr. Holt is ably supported by Sigrid Holmquist, Casson Ferguson, Alec Francis, Adele Farrington, and others.

Mr. and Mrs. Lloyd Procter and daughter Helen, of Grangerville, Ida. are guests of their cousins, Mr. and Mrs. Farley Johnson Sr. The Procters will spend the winter in Southern California and will probably settle here permanently.

Lynn Eider, of Camp Kearney is a guest of Mr. and Mrs. Clyde Parker.

Mr. and Mrs. McChellan of Los Angeles were dinner guests Sunday of Rev. and Mrs. F. A. Zeller of Marcellina avenue.

Mr. and Mrs. W. E. Bowen and Miss Doris Beatty visited Charles F. Davis Sunday. Mr. Davis is ill in the Seaside hospital, Long Beach.

FRIENDS PAY FORMER LOCAL FOLKS VISIT

Judge Graves and Son Now Living Near Paso Robles

Three automobile loads of Torrance boosters made a trip last Saturday—returning Sunday night—to the almond country near Paso Robles to see that country and at the same time to pay a visit to Judge Graves and his son Frank, former Torrance residents, who are now making their home in the northern country.

Judge Graves will be remembered by Torrance residents as not only an able justice and lawyer but as one of the best boosters this city had during his residence here. He is now the owner of several acres of land in San Luis Obispo county, having planted most of the acreage in almond trees, which commence to bear in three years in this section.

His son, Frank Graves, was formerly a well known tonsorial artist here, having a host of friends among the merchants and Union Tool boys. Frank and Mrs. Frank have built themselves a neat home in the mountains and are leaders in all social and civic affairs in their new location.

F. D. Murray, local real estate and property owner of Torrance, was the conductor on the trip. Mr. Murray has purchased 40 acres of land in the almond district and is also the Torrance agent in selling this non-irrigating land for R. C. Fritz, who owns several hundred acres there.

As a host the visitors voted a hundred per cent for Mr. Fritz, a former Redondo resident, and who now makes his home in Los Angeles and on the large ranch in the almond country. It is stated on good authority by inside friends of Mr. Fritz that after catching a case of the fish in the ocean at Redondo he moved to Los Angeles to forget his favorite sport until the ocean could be restocked.

Several of the party purchased land while on the grounds and another trip is to be made next week-end so as to be able to attend the party that has been arranged for next Saturday night in the community hall. It is to be an old-time party, the ladies to wear house dresses and the men overalls.

Mr. Fritz states that he will act as host again, and instructed Mr. Murray to bring along another crowd of friends of the Graves' and to come prepared to enjoy a social good time. Those wishing to go can see Mr. Murray at his office in the new Karp building on Sartori street any time Friday, Oct. 26.

Mrs. M. F. Peer of Marcellina avenue spent Friday with Mrs. E. Shoarer of Los Angeles.

Mr. and Mrs. John F. Zeller of Redondo Beach were recent guests of Rev. and Mrs. F. A. Zeller.

J. T. Stanton had his shoulder thrown out of place and his head badly cut when he was struck by a machine driven by A. I. Vaughn of 1123 Chestnut street. In his report to the police department Mr. Vaughn stated that he was driving north on Arlington, and Mr. Stanton stepped out in front of his machine.
