When Will Boys Have Chance to Be Peter?

By MARGERY PICKARD

NEW YORK.—When is a little boy going to be given the opportunity to play "Peter Pan"? It seems as if it were time for a boy to interpret the leading role in the most popular of all children's plays. Maude Adams made Peter famous in this country. And now, when Peter is again being seen after an absence of a number of years, the part is again being played by women. Marilyn Miller is appearing in the part on the stage in a revival of the play here, and Betty Bronson, a young woman heretofore unknown in the films, is creating Peter in the films.

It looks as if James M. Barrie, Peter's creator, is a party to the conspiracy to keep women playing the role. When the question came up as to who would play it in the movies, Jackie Coogan was among those suggested and he was considered by many ideal for the part. But Barrie chose in favor of Betty Bronson.

Local Teachers Go to Institute Meeting in L. A.

While Students Enjoy Vacation, Educators Must 'Go to School'

The kiddies are getting quite a "kick" out of the fact that, while they're having a vacation, "teacher" has to go to school herself this week.

High school teachers are attending institute at the Trinity auditorium, while elementary teachers are in session at the Philharmonic auditorium. A corps of over 7000 teachers in the Los Angeles city school district necessitated a division, since there is no auditorium in the city large enough to hold them.

During the first three days of this week the city institute is held, while Thursday and Friday the teachers of the county schools will be in session.

For the benefit of those other than teachers who are interested in educational topics, we are giving a few of the outstanding features of the institute.

Tonight at 8 o'clock the Philharmonic Trio will give a concert in the Manual Arts high school under the auspices of the Ephebian Society. Jules Lepski (violin), Earl Bright (cello) and Alfred Kastner (harp) will be assisted by Gertrude Frohman Jones, pianist. At the Philharmonic Wednesday morning Mrs. Nancy M. Schoonmaker will discuss "Woman's Part in the New Europe," while at the Trinity "The Three C's in Education" will be the subject of an address by O. T. Corson, editor of the Ohio Educational Monthly.

At 1:30 Wednesday, at the Philharmonic, the Elementary School Junior Orchestra will give a concert, followed by a Christmas program under the auspices of the music department, Los Angeles city schools.

Other interesting sessions to be held Wednesday include the fourth annual conference on educational research at the Morocco theatre, with discussions led by Edith Burleigh, child guidance clinic; Dr. Elwood P. Cubberly, Stanford University, and Dr. J. L. Merriam, of the U. of C. Southern Branch.

The visual education section will meet in the Manual Arts high school auditorium at 1:30, where the pictures "The First Americans" and "Steamouche" will be shown. In the Los Angeles high school auditorium at 1:30 Dr. H. H. Newman, University of Chicago, will lecture on "The Variation Factor in Evolution."

The liberal arts section will listen to Dr. Walter Miller, University of Missouri, lecture on "The Troy of Homer" at the John Adams school. Vocational education will be discussed at the part-time high school by the secretary-manager and the president of the Los Angeles Builders' Exchange, and Dr. Arthur D. Dean will speak on "One-half of One Percent of Vocational Education."

"The Need for Understanding and Creating the Problem Child: The Psychological and Educational Element" will be discussed at Bardette hall by Richard H. Paynter, Ph.D., head psychologist of the child guidance clinic. At the Tenth Street school auditorium Miss Nellie Gare, U. of C. Southern Branch, will lecture on "An Appreciative Review of Printing."

Dr. Frederick Mosen will give " Tales of an Explorer" at the Soutous junior high school. "The Composition Teacher as a Critic" will be the subject dis-

Funeral of Coker Boy on Tuesday

The funeral of Gordon E. Coker, 6-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. M. E. Coker of 1816 West 22d street, who passed away Saturday at the Children's hospital, Los Angeles, after a three week's illness with meningitis, was held this morning at 10 o'clock at the Baptist church, Rev. J. W. Green officiating. Interment at Inglewood cemetery.

ARKANSAS YOUTH EVANGELIST AT 11

Paul Fountain, 11, Methodist of Sulphur Springs, Ark., is believed to be the youngest licensed evangelist in the United States. In the last year he has made 200 conversions, a third of them adults. He is scheduled to open a 15-day revival in Kansas City in February.

Women's Club Hears Moving Picture Talk

Edward Langley of the Fairbanks Studio Addresses Organization

Another interesting program was given at the meeting of the Women's Club Thursday afternoon, when Edward Langley of the Douglas Fairbanks studios spoke on motion picture making.

Mr. Langley stated in his opening remarks that he knew very little about moving pictures, as he had only been in the business twenty-three years.

Mr. Langley compared early methods, when whatever scene was wanted was painted on a sheet nailed on the back wall, with those of today, when hundreds of people are employed as actors, designers, decorators, carpenters, and many other trades.

The first picture ever made from a scenario was about a tramp and a dog. It was 35 feet long and took three weeks to make, and could be viewed in 35 seconds.

The first motion picture ever made was taken in California when Senator Stanford conceived the idea of placing 17 cameras in a row with threads from the shutters to the opposite side of the track, so that the horses when running on the track at Palo Alto would break the strings and release the shutters. Thus 17 pictures were made which, when projected from each other by a strip of white and run over quickly by the hand, gave a picture of a running horse.

The statement made by Mr. Langley that there never was a moving picture and that there never will be seemed incredible, but he explained that it was the rate at which the stills were taken and the rate at which they were projected that made them "move."

Miss Lois Lingenfelter delighted the club with her singing of a group of songs—"Cadman's The Moon Behind the Cottonwood," Ware's "Mammy's Song," and Rose Gromley's "Four-Leaf Clover"—Mrs. Fitzhugh playing the accompaniment.

After the flag salute and the singing of "America," Mrs. Maude E. Schneider read the "Club Col-lect," in accordance with the wishes of the district president, Mrs. Charles Toll, who asked that it be read at each club meeting during this month.

Mrs. Steinhilber reported on the motion picture section, and stated that Mr. Gray of the Torrance theatre was willing to co-operate with the club in getting better pictures for the children on Saturdays. A request was made to the club for Christmas boxes for the ex-service men at Compton, also for magazines for these same men. Mrs. Stone announced that instead of the party to be held at her home, there would be a food sale on Dec. 20.

While regretting that Mrs. J. A. Young found it necessary to resign as federation secretary, the club thinks itself very fortunate to secure Mrs. J. B. Hines for the office. As the fourth Thursday in December is Christmas Day, there will be no meeting until Jan. 8.

TAKES NEW POSITION

G. E. Starkenberg, who has been in the employ of the Southern California Edison Company for four and one-half years, has resigned to accept a position as superintendent for the Great Western Title Company at Santa Monica.

Mrs. Chas. N. Curtiss and son have gone to Palm Springs to spend several weeks.
