TOWNE ALKE

"Just for Fun"

By RAS BERRY

Our aviation forces may be weak in the U. S. but Mr. Dawes in the Senate seems to be making a determined effort for control of the air.

The boys were talking about education and Geo. Neill says to Sam Rappaport well Sam you didn't know anything about interest did you and Sam says if you watch out for the interest the business will take care of itself.

W. Post took a slant at the bus. mgr. who has got a swell new suit like they wear up to Hollywood and a pr. of them snappy snub-nosed shoes and then he turns to me and says I can't see why you run so many of them imported fashion cuts in your paper when you got a model like this right in your own office.

Fred Palmer he wakes up about 4:30 p.m. the other a.m. and hears one of Ben Lingenfelter's hens cackling and Fred thinks there is a cat in Ben's coop so he gets up and slides into his slippers and steps out in the cool damp of the early May morning and hurries large hunks of seed at the coop to scare this cat away and pretty soon Ben comes around the corner of the house in his night shirt and a shotgun over his arm and Ben says it's all right Fred the old hen just layed a egg and Fred says Oh I see and you is guarding the egg with a shotgun eh Ben?

We neighbors of that district is sorry we wasn't up at 4 p.m. in the a.m. so we could of saw Fred in his pajamas and Ben in his night shirt with a shotgun over his arm at that time in the morning. Quite a picture that was, say we.

They was quite a argyment at the Legion meeting about who should ought to be Scout Masters and a few of us who is married and possess children says bozos who is married and has not got any offsprings should ought to do it and them guys says No it ain't up to us because not having no children ourself why we don't know how to handle boys, but most of the bachelors is boys themselves and don't know what to do with themselves nights so why not let the baches do it and then the baches says well you birds ain't looking into the future, because if you, the all us bachelors up nights with Boy Scout engagements we won't have no chance to do any courtin and if we don't do no courtin why we won't get married and if we don't get married why in a few yrs. there won't be no boys to be Boy Scouts and there you are. You got to look ahead in figuring these things out. Nobuddy was hurt.

Wednesday was Straw Hat Day and it rained. If we tried twelve mos. to think one up we couldn't frame up any better joke on these men's clothiers.

And speaking of lids why I see where John B. Stetson Jr. is going to be a U. S. ambassador. And if them European politicians try to slip anything over on him why he'll get mad as a hatter.

What the little boy in the hospital says was see all the scissors to cut your toenails with and it same out in this col. as tonsils instead of toenails.

That wasn't as bad as once back in Mich. when I wrote a obituary of a prominent citizen and I wrote it Mr. Blank was an unusually thrifty citizen and when it come out in the paper it said Mr. Blank was an unusually thirsty citizen.

When Hughey up to the American fountain sees that the officers is making vendors avoid the practice of packing boxes in such a way that the big fruit is on top hiding measly fruit on the bottom why Hughey he says Ain't that the berries.

Here is one that Willis Brooks wrote for the P. E. Magazine: "A STORY WITH A MORAL" "On the night of the Mechanical Department's party held at Torrance April 24th, our genial Shop Superintendent E. O. Staub was dutifully visiting around among the ladies. It seemed that he spied Mrs. Houghton, who didn't happen to be dancing at that time and started over to have a little neighborly talk. Just prior to this moment J. W. himself, after 20 years of gracing a wall flower's chair, suddenly got a wild inspiration to dance, and in his excitement placed his full plate of pink ice cream on the chair adjoining Mrs. J. W. Ed took a notion at that unfortunate moment to take a load off his feet and covered the chair already occupied by the pink ice cream. Pretty soon Ed felt a sudden cold and chill and then proceeded to get hot and had a heated argument with Jack as to who should pay the cleaner's bill.

"Moral—Be careful where you sit."

Mr. and Mrs. James L. King last evening entertained the Harlequins at their home on Arlington avenue.

Following a short business session the two one-act plays given in the afternoon for the Women's Club were repeated.

The next meeting of the Harlequins will be on next Thursday, May 21, at the home of Mrs. J. M. Fitzhugh at 2023 Arlington avenue.

2 Anaheim Papers Are Consolidated

ANAHEIM, May 15.—The Orange County Plain Dealer and Anaheim Bulletin have amalgamated, due, according to notice published in each paper, to "economic necessity." The notices set forth that Anaheim was financially unable to support two newspapers. The new consolidated paper appeared last Saturday as The Bulletin-Plain Dealer.

The next meeting of the Harlequins will be on next Thursday, May 21, at the home of Mrs. J. M. Fitzhugh at 2023 Arlington avenue.
