TOWNE ALKE

"Just for Fun"

By RAS BERRY

Ed Kelly and Ed Huddleston is planning a trip into the wilds of Washington (not Wash. D. C.) and in giving consent to their better halves to pass through the jungles of San Francisco why the bus mgr. says he guesses Mrs. H. and Mrs. K. calculated that two Eds is better than one.

Brad Bradbury goes down to Hemet the other day and it was so hot that when he grabbed the emergency brake lever he fried all the skin off the palm of his hand. He broke all speed records getting back to Torrance.

They was a lot of statio on the air last Sat. nt.

Even the radio was set, but the ceremony was called off.

The Legion, however, guaranteed presentation, even if the guarantee was warranted.

Joe Prata officiated when the set was given away Monday night. Says Joe, "I gave it to Perry Briney so he could defend me if I got pinched."

That there remark recalls one on Perry. Perry is the bozo who drafts the city ordinances and he got a valentine from the local cops the other night for leaving his car out in front of the house all night without no lights lit and when he appears before Judge Rippy why the judge suspends sentence on him because of his unfamiliarity with the ordinance.

George Proctor is back from his annual trip into the mts. with Mrs. Proctor and as per usual why Mrs. Proctor has got several good wheezes about Geo. and so here is one of them. Geo. had fished and fished on a big lake and he hadn't even ketches a minnie and so he rents a big spliner a yard long that cost fifty cts. to rent and he hands the fish pole to Mrs. Proctor and says now you troll and I'll row this here skiff and so Geo. starts rowing and Mrs. Proctor throws out the spinner and they ain't rowed over ten ft. before Mrs. Proctor says they is a fish on this line and Geo. says Aw you're crazy what do you know about fishing. Don't pull that line up but leave it in and he keeps on rowing and rowing all around that lake and about every two minutes Mrs. P. says Geo. I tell you they is a fish on this line and every time he says Aw you're crazy, I'll tell you when you got a fish and finally she says well all you are doing is rowing around and drowning this fish and finally Geo. says well they ain't no fish in this lake and he rows back to the landing and Mrs. Proctor pulls in the line and they is a two-pound fish on it that has been on it so long that it is plumb defunct and still Geo. says he is a fisherman.

While Joe Baker of Torrance is boxing with Joe Lopez of Compton somebody yells, Hey Joe slip him the P. E. punch.

When it was announced at the boxing show that the City League

SOCIETY NEWS

Mrs. R. L. Reed of Bakersfield has returned to her home after a two-weeks visit with Mr. and Mrs. Art Freeman of 1920 Andree avenue. Other guests during the week were Mrs. Freeman's mother, Mrs. Laura Tooman, and brother, Hubert Tooman, of Delano; also an aunt, Mrs. J. B. Johns, of Folsom, N. M.

The visit of Mr. and Mrs. John Friel and son, of Kansas City, Mo., guests of Mr. and Mrs. S. F. Webb of Cota avenue, was marked by several enjoyable family affairs.

Mr. and Mrs. Webb and their guests were entertained at dinner Sunday by Mr. and Mrs. Tom Webb of Pasadena. Other guests were Mr. and Mrs. Roy Confer and family, of Torrance; Mr. and Mrs. Ed Friel, Mrs. James Blakeley and Miss Ludolph, of Los Angeles. Last Saturday evening the entire party enjoyed the performance at the Egyptian Theatre in Hollywood; a wiener bake at Hermosa afforded amusement for Monday evening; the Passion Play at Hollywood was enjoyed Tuesday evening, and a merry swimming party was held at Redondo Wednesday evening. Mr. and Mrs. Friel left Thursday morning for their home, via the Grand Canyon.

A "pot luck" luncheon and "pot luck" prizes were amusing features of the meeting Tuesday of the Crossword Bridge Club at the R. R. Smith cottage at Anaheim Landing, with Mrs. Smith and her mother, Mrs. Harry McManus, as hostesses. At the tables, following a swim and luncheon, were Mrs. J. H. Fess, Mrs. W. C. Von Hagen, Mrs. Alfred Gourder, Mrs. A. W. Meizner, Mrs. May McKinley, Mrs. S. Doss, Mrs. Dye, Mrs. W. C. Dolley, Mrs. J. W. McManus, Mrs. James Wise, Mrs. W. H. Dolley, and Mrs. Smith and Mrs. McManus.

Some bozo sneaks in while I am out of the scene and leaves these here wheezes on my spindle and I'll print 'em because news are scarce these summer days. Here they be:

Fay Parks hangs out a sign that reads Iron Sinks and Charlie Tansey says Sure it does, anybody knows that.

Then Geo. Parr comes along and says that platinum rings.

And Fred Palmer eezes up in about 3 minutes and tells Fay that rubber tires.

Mrs. Nettie Steinhilber and Mr. and Mrs. Frank Steinhilber and son returned Wednesday from their vacation at Huntington Lake. Their visit was sandwiched in between two cyclones. One struck the Huntington Lake district just before they arrived and another swept over the area right after they left. Mrs. Earl, Mrs. Steinhilber's daughter, of Los Angeles, took eight hats with her, but there was so much wind that she didn't get a chance to wear any of 'em. But she is a milliner in the city and probably will put 'em all back in stock.

Mrs. Hurum Reeve the other day decides that she will varnish the stairs that goes upstairs and so she tells the whole family to be sure and take all the clothes they is going to need downstairs because she is going to varnish the stairs and she don't want nobody walking up and down in the varnish after clothes and so the whole family takes what clothes they is going to need and carries them downstairs and Mrs. Reeve starts at the top and varnishes them stairs and when she gets 'em all varnished to the bottom why she realizes that she has got her old clothes on and all her other clothes is upstairs and then, according to Hurum, things went round and round. No-buddy was hurt.

Luncheon guests Tuesday of Mr. and Mrs. Harry Bale of Carson street were Mrs. Farley Johnson and daughter Clara, of Pasadena. Mrs. Johnson formerly conducted the ideal boarding house on Cabrillo avenue.
