Stuffed Sweet Peppers—Remove the seeds from six sweet peppers and cook peppers in boiling water until tender. Stuff with one cup of cold chicken chopped fine, one-half cup bread crumbs, one teaspoon minced onions, a few pepper seeds, all mixed well together and seasoned with salt and pepper. Put a teaspoon of cream over each pepper, put a generous piece of butter on top of each, and bake twenty minutes.

Bavarian Cream—Take one-half grated pineapple and two-thirds cup of sugar cooked together. Dissolve one-half package strawberry gelatin in one-half pint boiling water. Add pineapple and sugar mixture and juice of one-half orange. When cool add whipped cream.

An excellent recipe for a rose or potpourri jar is as follows: Gather the flowers early in the morning when the dew is on them. Toss the petals lightly on a table in a cool, airy place and let them lie until the dew has evaporated. Then put them in a large glass jar, sprinkling salt over half-inch layers of the petals. This can be added to from one day until another, until enough flowers for the purpose have been gathered, letting them stand in the jar for ten days after the last are put in and stirring the whole every morning.

Have ready one-quarter ounce allspice and cloves, all coarsely ground, half of a grated nutmeg, one-half ounce cinnamon broken in bits, one ounce powdered dried rose, and one-quarter pound dried lavender flowers. Mix these together in a bowl and fill the rose jar with alternate layers of the "stock" and the mixture of spices. A few drops each of several essential oils (rose, geranium, bitter almond and orange flowers are good) should be dropped upon the layers as you progress, and over the whole pour one ounce of your favorite toilet water or eau de cologne.

This is enough to fill two quart jars, or one very large jar, and it will keep for years. From time to time various sweet things may be added to it, as a few tuberoses or a spray of heliotrope. If the jar is left open for half an hour every day it will fill your rooms with a delicate, indefinable spicy fragrance. The flowers chosen should be those having agreeable perfume—rose, plinks, violets, verbena, heliotrope, acacia, balm, lavender, etc.

WIFE SAVERS BY MRS. MARY MORTON

Asparagus Salad—Cook stalks until tender, add very cold dressing on lettuce, decorate with pimento or peppers, and serve with mayonnaise dressing.

Wall panels as substitutes for pictures are growing in favor. Strips of cretonne are bound with bias binding to imitate a more expensive tapestry. Such a panel is effective placed between twin beds. Patchwork landscapes are rather new, and are simply patchwork applique carried out. The materials may be unbleached cotton, pongee, linen, crash, saten, crepe, or cambric. The landscape should be simple, but showy. A ship model is very pretty and makes a good decoration for a dining room wall. Several colors may be used, or just a light patch against a darker background. The stitches may be invisible or basting stitches of black mercerized cotton.

Cheese and Bacon Sandwiches—Cut bread in slices one inch thick, toast lightly, brush with butter. Broil bacon. Place a strip of bacon on each slice of toast. Lay a slice of tomato on top of bacon, sprinkle generously with grated cheese, salt and paprika. Put in oven until cheese melts. Ham may be used in place of bacon.

Attractive cookies are made for a children's party by making powdered sugar faces with powdered sugar icing. Red coloring is used for the mouth, white for the nose, and big drops of white for the eyes. After this dries, put smaller drops of purple icing for the pupil. Make some mouths curl up and some curl down. Some of the eyes may look sideways, some crossed, some up, and some down. Use a toothpick to spread the icing.

Stuffed Cabbage With Sausage—Select a loose-leaved head, separate, and boil in salted water ten
