clean, polite, little gentlemen and ladies. The eyes of the father and mother were clear, fearless, brave, loving. The eldest girls, now maturing into womanhood, are grounded in the soundest of old-fashioned morals. And the whole family is striving forward as a unit along the wholesome pathway of right living to the goal of better things.

I came away from the home feeling stimulated, wishing that there were more large, fine families like that in the country, thinking better thoughts, admiring that fine mother and stalwart father.

So I just had to write about it. I wish all of you could know them and admire them and feel good about them as I have.

THE death of Commander John Rodgers, U. S. N., commander of the ill-fated navy plane lost in the Pacific near Hawaii, ends a proud American tradition.

Since the days of the birth of the republic there has been a John Rodgers in the American navy. The first of the line was known as "the old bald eagle of the seas." From him the Rodgers line inherited daring, cool judgment and the ability to handle men. In every war of the United States a John Rodgers, directly descended from "the old bald eagle," has taken a courageous part.

The John Rodgers who died in his uniform ended his life in a manner which any of the several John Rodgers would probably have chosen—but he left no son to perpetuate the name. We Americans, whose tradition is young at best, should feel sorry about that. In the navy and in all walks of civilian life we need all of our John Rodgers.

Ray Tomkins is working on the inside of the jail decorating it up and they was quite a draft in the jail from the open door and so Chief Patterson he goes over and shuts the door and so I locks it and you should ought to be heard Ray set up a howl. Then the chief unlocks the door because he is afraid Ray would pretty soon remember that he has forgot some of his tools.

Ten Strike Austin was driving on East Road the other night and they was a Ford standing near the curb in front of the El Prado apts. and Ten Strike he runs into it because they wasn't any tail light showing and he didn't see the Ford and it sprung the rear axle on the Austin vehicle and removed the fender on the Ford and the boys is now calling Ten Strike Lizzie's De-Fender.

Oil Activities Going Forward In Local Fields

Paso Robles continues to be the mecca for persons interested in oil and oil possibilities. Among the notables here in the last few days was T. A. Hinton, editor of the California Oil Review. Mr. Hinton said he was in the field to get facts on local development for a story soon to appear in his paper.

Ed. Wiley, boss, driller at the Exline property, is wearing a pleased smile.

Operations are going ahead at the Walkin well on the Emerich place, and favorable oil indications are said to have been found.

Other drilling operations in the various sections of the Paso Robles country will soon be under way, according to report.

Mrs. Dorsey Asks For Improvement Of School Ground

Following representations made by the Chamber of Commerce, Mrs. Susan Dorsey, superintendent of schools of the Los Angeles district, recommended to the building committee of the Board of Education that the ground in front of the High School in Torrance be beautified. This information was contained in a letter written by Mrs. Dorsey to Carl L. Hyde, secretary of the Chamber of Commerce.

Page and their daughter looking at the monkeys and Rufus says his little girl points at one and says Oh Papa look at that monkey he got-out of the cage and Rufus says you come along here now that ain't a monkey, he come from Watts.

Well anyway it was true that all the evidence in support of the Darwin theory wasn't behind the bars.

The banks has things pretty soft and last wk. they had signs out that says this here bank won't be open Monday, Labor Day and this here bank won't be open Wednesday, Admission Day and the bus mgr. says it would be cheaper for the bank to hang out one sign and say what day it would be open. Which didn't seem like very good business to me from a bus mgr. who is in the business among other things of printing signs.

They is some funny things happen in politics which if you don't believe it why the following incidence will prove to you that they is some funny things happen in politics. You see some of us is having a little informal discussion of a coming political event, that is casting its shadow ahead of itself and they is one bozo there that is dead set against this here political event and all the rest is for it strong and this here guy who is against it he talks in kind of broken English if any and while the rest of the boys is talking things over in one part of the room I goes over and sets beside this here objector and talks, and talks and does my best to make him see that these here objections of his is unfounded and pretty soon he says I guess you're right and I'm for it and when I gets back in the group with the other boys they is all laughing fit to kill and I says what are you laughing at and Carl Hyde says well we is laughing to see you try to sell that chap in there and I says what is there about that to make you laugh and Carl says why that guy ain't even got a vote. Nobuddy was hurt.

Well the boys and gals vacation ended and Mother's started when school opened Tuesday.

I have noticed says Jack Hanson that when it comes to driving a auto its a whole lot worse to run out of judgment than it is to run out of gas.

I have valuable potential oil lands at Paso Robles to trade for City Property, Equities, Mortgages, etc.

Hawthorne Will Play Oil Squad Here on Sunday

The second game of the big Hawthorne-C. C. M. O. series will be played at the Oilers' park next Sunday afternoon.

The Oilers took the first game, which was played at Hawthorne last Sunday, and are determined to make it two straight and wind up the series with next Sunday's game.

Hawthorne has one of the best looking semi-pro ball clubs in Southern California and will make the Oilers step out and hustle to win their next game. Hawthorne landed in first place in the AA summer league and have added several strong players to their lineup so are backing their team to the limit to take the series from the Oilers.

Regardless of who wins, Sunday's game is bound to be a hotly contested affair and one that will keep the fans intensely interested from start to finish, so if you like a good snappy game of ball don't fail to be at the Oilers' park next Sunday at 2:30.

$7668 Is Said To Be Low Bid For Fire House

When the bids on the proposed new fire house were opened Tuesday by the Board of Supervisors they were found to range from $9525 to $7668.

After investigation by the county fire committee, the contract will probably be awarded to the lowest bidder, said to be Marco and Son. According to Secretary Jorgensen of the local Chamber of Commerce, no bids were received from local contractors.

Injuries Fatal to Reservoir Worker

Crushed by a roller while at work at the storage reservoir west of Lomita, Peter J. DeNelle, 31, of Walteria, died Friday, a few hours after the accident.

Born in France, DeNelle came to Lomita three years ago, and for several months conducted a grocery store on Narbonne avenue near Beacon street. Recently he moved his business to Walteria.

He is survived by the widow, Mrs. Mona DeNelle. Services were held Wednesday morning in the Torrance Catholic Church. Interment was made in Roosevelt Memorial Park. Funeral arrangements were in charge of Stone & Myers.

Retailers of Credit

It has been said that a bank buys credit at wholesale and sells it at retail.

In other words, a bank is an organization whereby the credit of the entire business community is stabilized and balanced.

You can maintain a strong credit standing by a connection with the Bank of America, a credit rating which you can easily enjoy whether you remain in this particular community or not.

The Bank of America is a mighty institution with branches and affiliations to serve you wherever your business may take you. It's worth while thinking about.
