Harold Lloyd in 'The Freshman' At Torrance Theatre Two Days

Harold Lloyd adds another outstanding characterization to his record of "Grandma's Boy," his mind physician of "Dr. Jack," and his stuttering Lothario of "Girl Shy," with his delineation of a college boy in "The Freshman," his latest contribution to the world of mirth, to show at the Torrance Theatre Sunday and Monday.

It is said that Lloyd gives the best performance of his career in "The Freshman," in which he has caught the spirit of the college youth whose ambition is to become the most popular boy on the campus. The trials and tribulations he goes through to attain fame bring about scores of hilarious incidents, with a large measure of sympathy running throughout the picture.

It takes two clever crooks to escape some half dozen traps laid for them in California coast cities while being chased from San Francisco and Tia Juana, Mexico, and back again by a troop of police, but Betty Compton and Raymond Griffith prove just that clever. The unusual chase provides much of the interest in "Paths to Paradise," a fast-moving Paramount comedy, which comes to the Torrance Theatre on Tuesday.
