Safeway Declares Dividend

At a meeting of the directors of the Safeway Stores, Inc. held a few days ago, the regular quarterly cash dividend was declared. Checks are now in the mail.

The above photograph is not that of a freight car. It is, almost. It is one of the large Safeway trucks constantly in movement between the central warehouse and the Safeway Stores at Vernon and Alameda, Los Angeles, and the warehouses which we are informed are maintained in both Bakersfield and San Diego.

Easy Lessons in AUCTION BRIDGE

New Series by WYNNE FERGUSON Author of "Ferguson on Auction Bridge"

Copyright 1925 by Hoyle, Jr. Every private circle of auction players has one or more members who believe in using the pre-emptive or shut-out bid in practically every hand. Such tactics are very showy when they succeed, but as a rule they are losers.

he was doubled and lost 515 points. The other players thought this would make him less cocky, but on the very next hand he again bid two no-trump with the following hand: Hearts—A, K, 8 Clubs—A, K, 10, 4 Diamonds—A, K, 7, 6 Spades—none

The next player bid three spades and our college boy thought that he had a chance to get back his loss of 500 points, so promptly doubled. Much to his amazement and chagrin, his opponent made the three spades doubled. He had a freak hand, of course, but the college boy made his task easy for him by making the pre-emptive bid of two no-trump. The opponent's hand was as follows: Hearts—Q, J, 10, 9, 7 Clubs—none Diamonds—none Spades—Q, J, 10, 9, 8, 6, 3, 2

The opponent would probably have bid four or more spades with this hand if the college boy had bid his hand up gradually instead of starting in with two no-trump and then double. Take your bidding gradually and don't make pre-emptive bids unless you have some very good reason for doing so. The pre-emptive bid is very useful at times, but unless used with great discretion is apt to prove a boomerang, as in the cases cited.

Several weeks ago the following hand was submitted to the writer for comment: Y : Hearts—K, Q, 6, 3 Clubs—A, K, 6, 4, 2 Diamonds—A, K, 9, 2 Spades—none

Rubber game, no score. Z dealt and bid one heart. A two spades, and Y doubled. What should B now do? Should B pass, bid two no-trump or three clubs? At that time the writer said: "In the opinion of this writer he should pass and trust to his high cards to enable his partner to make the bid. A's bid of two spades over one heart should indicate that his hand is good at spades and nothing more. E's hand has no spades but fine side cards. If A makes his bid he will score game and rubber and he certainly has a good chance to do so. The two no-trump bid seems bad because of A's bid of two spades, which, if sound, should indicate spades and little else. For that reason, how can B play two no-trumps? B in his three make up A's spade suit and A's hand cannot help B in his three suits. The three club bid is sound but doesn't offer a chance for game. "Pass" seems by far the preferable thing to do."

Since writing that opinion the writer has obtained the actual hands of all four players. They were as follows: Hearts—9, 7, 2 Clubs—3 Diamonds—Q, J, 10 Spades—K, J, 7, 5, 3, 2

Hearts—5 : Y : Hearts—K, Q, 6, 3 Clubs—10, 7, 5 : A : Clubs—A, K, 6, 4, 2 Diamonds—8, 7 : B : Diamonds—A, K, 9, 2 Spades—A, Q, 10, 9, 8, 6, 4 : Z : Spades—none

It should be interesting for our readers to analyze the play of this hand at the three possible bids by B, viz., pass, two no-trump, and three clubs. The writer's opinion that "pass" was the proper thing to do with B's hand is more than verified.

Problem No. 6 Hearts—7, 4, 2 Clubs—Q, 7, 2 Diamonds—none Spades—Q, 6

There are no trumps and Z is in the lead. How can YZ so play the hand that they will win five of the eight tricks against any defense? Solution in the next article.

Six Reels Will Reveal Life of Woodrow Wilson

Film Depicting Career of Late President Here Next Monday Night

"Six Reels of the Real Wilson" will be presented on Monday, Dec. 7, with special musical accompaniment, at Central Evangelical Church here. It is announced that the war-leader's career will be graphically depicted from the time of his first inauguration until his death. It is understood that these motion pictures portray the rise of Mr. Wilson to prodigious power over the nations of the world with exact fidelity and then show his tragic descent.

The purpose of the Woodrow Wilson film-memorial is to keep Woodrow Wilson forever alive among his people in the most realistic way possible. It is pointed out that stone or bronze medals are lifeless and ineffective as compared with the life-like motion picture of Mr. Wilson which enables even those who never saw him to spend an hour and a half in the intimate company of the world-famous executive.

The local presentation of the Wilson films has been set for 7:30, and the doors are to be kept open until the available seats have been taken. From other cities it is reported that the auditoriums invariably fail to accommodate all those wishing to see these unusual historical pictures. In so far as is known, this presentation is to be the only one in this vicinity.

I says to Hudd

A fellow was laying in his back yard with the kitchen stove wrapped around his neck.

And his neighbor came along and said, What happened. And the fellow said I don't know, I was following the recipe exactly.

And some folks follow the recipe for a happy home but leave out some important details.

It takes more than a family, and four walls and a roof to make a happy home.

And good, comfortable, up-to-date furniture is not the least important.
