TOWNE ALKE "Just for Fun" By RAS BERRY

American Fruit Market Miller he says that he sees the trustees is passing the buck and when asked what he means he says he sees they have passed a goat ordinance.

Jawn Stroh, ambulating policeman of the Torrance force he says he is pretty sure because the other boys is calling him the official dawg catcher of Torrance. Jawn says they had to appoint a good one so the town wouldn't go to the dawgs.

Jawn says Ollie Stevenson couldn't catch no dawgs because if Ollie looks at a dawg the dawg goes mad. Nobuddy was hurt.

The Bat is back. The Bat is back. Tra-la, Tra-la, Tra-la. And she ain't no window peeker neither. The only window she ever peeped in was the Biltmore window.

Mrs. Phoebe Milburn she come in giggling and I says what are you chuckling about and she says between essays I just come by the barber shop and seen the barber running the clippers over the top of Wallace Gilbert's head and she says that is like trying to mow a hay crop off of the corner of Seventh and Broadway.

Well here is the first one from The Bat since she come back and it is written on L. A. Biltmore writing paper.

Sir: Witness the return of The Bat to its old haunt. While in Boston I saw a proof of the Bostonian condition: a sign on the road said "School-Go Slowly!"

I am reminded by this of the old one about the Boston boy at the zoo who said "That's a hell of a big elephant, ain't it, ma?" to which ma replied "Willie, how many times must I tell you not to say ain't?"

All the Los Angeles River floods the city- THE BAT. Well, says Ed Huddlestone as he looks up from a paper in which he is reading about a revolution in China, Well, I see they is a uprising in the yeast.

What says Al Bartlett has become of the old fashioned candidate that used to hand out a cigar? Well Al he has went to the same place that the cigar store Indian has went. I remember a guy who asked where the cigar store Indian went and another gink speaks up and says he jumped on the dapple gray horse in the harness shop window and rode away.

I don't know no better way to get it back than this. I have forgot who I loaned it to but if the bozo that borrowed my copy of "Drums" will send it back why I will be much obliged. And in return for which I promise to return Doc Shilder's copy of "Ten Yrs. After."

Three Headliners at Orpheum Next Week

Three headliners of unusual magnitude will be the features of the all-star bill at the Orpheum Sunday, Aug. 15. Nick Lucas, "The Crooning Troubador," returns to complete his sensational engagement here, bringing new songs fresh from the east and only just put on records last week by Micky Daniels and Mary Korman, principal comedian and leading lady, respectively, of the famous Our Gang comedies, will make their Los Angeles stage debut in person in a comedy skit entitled "A Day Off," written especially for them by Blanche Merriam. Jimmy Burke, by performer of Mack Sennet, in his laughing success, "Dirty Work," will complete the trio of headliners. The other features will include Lucille Valentine, with her boy friends, Ernie Hober, Joe Clooney, Ted Wheeler and Will Allen, in "A New Idea," and "Some Dances" by Maxwell M. Kennedy; Eddie Conrad, with Marion Eddy and Charlotte, in "Episode Peculiar"; Al Shaw and Sam Lee in "Nature's Gifts," and the Angel Brothers. Another afterpiece will be offered as hilarious as the one last week. All the acts on the one last week participate in the fun, which has been dubbed "The Foolies of 1926," an impromptu revue.

Traeger Puts in New Posts To Aid County Enforcement

With deputies assigned and headquarters established, the four new substations of the sheriff's office in Los Angeles authorized by the board of supervisors will be manned and in operation by the end of the week, according to an announcement just made by Sheriff William I. Traeger. Sponsors of the sheriff's campaign for re-election are pointing to the supervisors' authorization of the new substations as concrete evidence of the success of the plan instituted by Traeger to completely district the police protection of the county, one of the many progressive measures to promote the efficiency of his office. The telephone numbers of the new stations will be made public the minute the stations are manned, and residents of the district are expected to call for service or assistance on the branches in their territory thereafter. Here's Station List: Capt. Walter M. Hotz, chief criminal deputy, in charge of the substations, made public the list of stations, their location, and the deputies in charge of each, with a personnel of eight men on duty, as follows: Station No. 1, 1557 East Florence avenue, O. A. Gregg. Station No. 2, 761 McBride avenue, Belvedere Gardens, A. Koenigheim. Station No. 3, 105 North Sunset, Temple, R. M. Conly. Station No. 4, 107 North First street, Norwalk, E. R. Horton. Station No. 5, 11317 South Vermont avenue, J. W. Neighbors. Station No. 6, Newhall, Jed Stewart.

Stations numbered 3 to 6, inclusive, are the new substations just established by Sheriff Traeger under the authority of the board of supervisors, who granted permission to institute four out of five new branches asked for by the sheriff.
