Board Disapproves Gallimore's Bill

Breed Attacks Water Grab On State's Ballot

Twice-Defeated Measure Is Once More Up to Voters

By ARTHUR H. BREED President Pro Tem, California Senate.

The pending water and power act has been twice rejected by the people. Four years ago it was rejected by a majority of nearly 354,000, and two years ago by a majority of more than 431,000.

It is a constitutional amendment which pledges the state's credit to an issue of $50,000,000 to tax-free state bonds. A board of five persons, appointed by the governor, would spend the money in acquiring, operating and maintaining such water and power projects as it deemed necessary or convenient. This political board would operate the projects from Sacramento, fix rates, and determine conditions and quality of service, all without regulation by the railroad commission.

Consumers and communities would thus be at the mercy of five politicians with a virtually unrestrained control of industry. Should incorrect estimates, inadequate service or political mismanagement prevent projects from paying expenses or meeting interest charges or requirements for repayment of principal out of rates, explicit provision is made to meet deficits and losses out of the general funds of the state. The board is empowered to appoint such employees as it may require, and fix their compensation. These employees are exempt from the state civil service law, so that the board can build up a great political machine through patronage.

Advocates of the measure seek to take political advantage of California's occasional dry years and its constant concern about water problems by masking the water and power amendment as a water conservation plan, but public ownership will not increase rainfall. What California needs in times of drought is more rain, not more empty reservoirs.

There is no public need for the state to embark in the power business, and no good reason for adding half a billion dollars of tax-free bonds to the huge volume of such securities outstanding. Some advocates of the water and power measure, undismayed by the failure of North Dakota in the wheat and banking businesses, and of many other government ownership projects, favor the act as a first step in California toward the taking over by government of essential industries and the redistribution of private wealth through taxation. There is no more reason why the state should adventure into the power business than into the flour or automobile business. Less than sixteen years ago the state undertook ineffective regulation of public utility companies. As a result, the rates, investments and service of such companies are now controlled by a public agency. To scrap the policy of regulation and substitute public ownership would be unjust and foolish. Even those who assert that regulation has failed cannot logically offer as an improvement a new commission appointed like the railroad commission by the governor and given the insufficiently restricted power of expanding the taxpayers' money and hiring armies of employees.

Private initiative and effort developed California. Political management is usually wasteful and inefficient, and to compel taxpayers to provide enormous amounts of borrowed money for the financing of unspecified ventures by a political machine would be to invite disaster.

The voters should rebuke, by a majority larger than before, the restless agitators who refuse to accept the decision of the people twice so emphatically expressed. Such repeated submission of measures repeatedly rejected by the people should be prohibited.

Guests Plus Gifts Nonplus Chief

Miss Helma Greenlund, Torrance chief operator, was "nonplussed" (her word) when her beautiful new home on Allene street was invaded Wednesday evening by practically the entire forces of the Lomita and Torrance exchanges.

The affair was an informal housewarming. The girls of the Torrance office presented Miss Greenlund with a copy of Maxfield Parrish's beautiful painting, "Day-break"; the gift from the Lomita office was a beautiful tapestry table runner; and a handsome parchment lamp shade was presented by the two offices combined.

At the close of the evening home-made cake and ice cream were served to the following guests: Mr. and Mrs. William McComas, of Huntington Beach; Mr. and Mrs. S. J. Jackson, Mr. and Mrs. Tony Hann, Mr. and Mrs. G. F. Christopher, Mr. and Mrs. Duke Pearson, Mr. and Mrs. James Chamberlain, Mrs. Sam Henderson, Mrs. F. Lewis Peters, Mrs. Lillian Geary, Mrs. Bessie Snow, Miss Lillian Faulkner, Lee Lewis, of Torrance; Mr. and Mrs. Frank Sharock, Mrs. Luther Dearborn, Mrs. Kate Dalos, Mrs. Kelly, Mrs. Theilma Slier, Miss Mary Taber, and Otto Fahler, of Lomita.
