TOWNE ALKE

"Just for Fun"

By RAS BERRY

Warren Johnson has been down to his ranch and he says they are guys down there—that makes a feller go to work. They had a big grass fire down there and Warren says a forest ranger come up to him and showed his badge and says you go to work. Warren went.

Bozes that own ranches should ought to stay away from them during the dry spell.

Doc Fossum says that they is so many amendments to be voted on this yr. that he is in favor of drawing up a new constitution and voting on that and getting it over with all at once.

I can't see why so many folks tuned in to listen to the grand opy being broadcast because everybody that I have talked to tells me that they hear plenty of soprano mosquitoes at night anyway without listening to some more over the old receiving set.

The only guys that is pleased with the mosquito epidemic is them as sells swatters.

I have got 'so that I can go to sleep while the mosquitoes is singing around my head and can bat them off during my slumbers, but the other night I guess I batted so many after they had fed that the next morning my mother looks at the pillow and wants to know if I had a nose bleed during the night.

Our neighbors is taking to getting up at 2 p.m. and conducting war on the pests and I have been thinking that a popular social movement would be for early morning socials. Like you could get up at 1:30 and call all the neighbors in and you could serve refreshments and they could help you kill all your pests and then you could go to house No. 2 and help them and so on until it was time to go to work. The next night the party could start at 9 o'clock and end up about 12 so that every other night everybody could get some sleep.

They is one mosquito in my room that is so intelligent that I have got her trained as a pet. At first when she come to me I batted at her just like at all the others only I never could reach her and I'd bat and she'd dodge and come right back singing and pretty soon I see that she didn't want to bite me, she only wanted to play tag.

So I play with her every night and when she gets tired of the game she settles down in my hair and goes to sleep.

We has become quite friendly now and whereas she was once wild and ferocious I have got her so well tamed, that she will eat right out of my hand.

She thinks I'm swell. Which I am, every morning.

This here mosquito I have named Francis because I don't know just which kind of mosquito it is and had to have a name that would fit either sex.

Personally I think it is a she because she talks so much.

Francis is so wise that instead of roosting on the wall or ceiling she roosts on the fly swatter and so she knows just when the battle is gonna start and when you pick up the swatter she hides under the bed.

Before I got her tamed I tried to fool her by using a newspaper, but the paper I selected was the L. A. Express editorial page and it didn't have enough weight to kill a mosquito.

And now I use a sport page exclusively particularly if it has a article in it by Bugs Baer.

One time I used the news section of the Examiner and I thought it was quite a coincidence that I splashed blood all over a article about a street fight with a machine gun in Chicago.

Francis has become so tame now that she leads other less intelligent mosquitoes to the slaughter. That act alone makes me sure she is a woman.

Well, Francis goes around to every roost and whispers to each mosquito that I has gone to bed and they better get busy and then Francis comes and whispers to me in mosquito which I have learned to understand this summer, the yanks are coming and so I get ready by taking one hand out from under the clothes and posing it ready for action and one by one as they land on the feast I send them to eternity. That leaves Francis alone and I usually reward her by letting her get a good long bite of me before I gently brush her off the banquet.

Francis has got such a long stinger that she can reach me clear through a spread, two blankets and a sheet. The other night I caught her boring a hole in a can of corned beef. That didn't make me mad. I was in the army.

Francis has learned a number of popular songs. While I am killing off her fellows she acts on the foot of the bed and sings "Bye, Bye, Blackbird."

And one night when my aim was poor and I missed three out of three swings at some other mosquito I'll be darned if Francis didn't swing into the melody of "Where'd You Get Them Eyes."

One night when I was out late Francis was singing "Where is My Wandering Boy Tonight" and my pa heard her and got up and went after her, but Francis with an intelligence that copes with every situation got a good start and flew into the light bulb, shattering it into a million pieces. My pa put in six new bulbs and she crashed every one of them. So he decided it was too expensive to keep up the fight and so he could get some sleep he tied his hands behind his back so Francis would not be afraid and Francis seen him do it and she lit on Pa's nose and got her fill and Pa had a good sleep the rest of the night.

One night I killed all the mosquitoes in the room but Francis, but as I killed the last one I slipped and fell and my elbow punched a hole in the screen. The next morning when I got up there was Francis standing guard at the hole. In front of her on the window was a pile of dead mosquitoes four inches high that Francis had dispatched so that I could get a night of uninterrupted sleep.

One night Francis and three other convivial mosquitoes found the cork of the Bay Rum bottle left out and I guess they took too much because about 3 a.m. I woke up and the four of them was singing "Sweet Adeline."

I killed the alto, the baritone and the second tenor, but let Francis live.

I couldn't kill a girl like her.

Guests Sunday of Mrs. R. G. Tomkins were her mother, Mrs. Fay Garrison, and uncle, Charles Pear, of Sawtelle.

THOUGHTS for NUCOA USERS

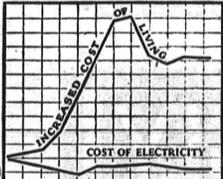

If you could see the children in California's half million of Nucoa-fed families, you would say that it must be a good, wholesome food that can raise such a healthy brood.

Nucoa is not only an energy food, it is also rich in precious vitamins.

"The FOOD of the FUTURE"

The Chart that makes Your Check Book Smile

THIS simple diagram tells a story far more interesting to you than any possible explanation of the technique of making and selling electricity.

It is interesting because it affects the family budget.

The average cost of electricity is now 8 per cent lower than in 1914.

The average cost of everything else, from apples to zithers, is 65 per cent higher.

That's all there is to the case. No oratory—no editorial—no pamphlet can change these facts.

What a Rexall One Cent Sale Is

It is a sale where you buy an item at the regular price, then another item of the same kind for one cent. As an illustration: The standard price of Klenzo Dental Creme is 50c, you buy a tube at this price and by paying 1 cent more, or 51 cents, you get two tubes. Every article in this sale is a high class standard piece of merchandise, just the same as is sold every day at the regular price.

This sale was developed by the United Drug Co. as an advertising plan. Rather than spend large sums of money in other ways to convince you of the merit of these goods, they are spending it on this sale in permitting us to sell you a full size package of high standard merchandise for 1 cent. It costs money to get new customers, but the sacrifice in profit is justified, knowing the goods will please you.
