Of Cooking Service
May Go On By Mail

Housewives Desiring Further Information
May Send Queries to Herald-News Office
—Mrs. MacEwing Will Answer

The Herald-News Free Cooking School at 1927 Carson street is ended, but its service may go on indefinitely if Torrance and Lomita housewives desire it. Mrs. Mabel MacEwing, in charge of the three-day culinary demonstrations which closed last Friday, has kindly offered to answer by mail any questions housewives of this community may desire to ask in regard to cooking methods, details and recipes. Mrs. MacEwing is almost continually engaged in cooking demonstrations in various sections of the Pacific Coast. Housewives who desire to communicate with her may do so with the minimum of effort, however, by leaving their communications at The Herald-News office, 1419 Marcelina Avenue, Torrance. All communications received by The Herald and The News will be forwarded to Mrs. MacEwing, and she will answer them direct.

Many housewives who took advantage of the opportunity to visit the cooking school demonstrations and become acquainted with Mrs. MacEwing and her associate, Mrs. Grace Avis Howard, will desire to continue the acquaintance and profit further by expert advice and information. Others who for some reason or other were unable to visit the school still have an opportunity to take advantage of its free service by communication thru The Herald and The News with Mrs. MacEwing. Names and addresses should be written plainly on all queries.

The two culinary experts, both of whom are nationally known, enjoyed their stay in this community, and expressed appreciation of the interest shown by Torrance and Lomita housewives in their work. The big demonstration room was filled every day of the school, and the two home economists, assisted by Miss Irene Burmeister, a Torrance girl, were kept busy manipulating shining pots and pans, operating gleaming electric ovens, and removing delicious chilled morsels from big white refrigerators.

One of the features of outstanding interest on the final day of the school was a demonstration of canning by Mrs. Howard. Corn, peas, carrots, peaches, berries and other fruits were packed before the eyes of the audience, processed in the electric ovens, and set out as exhibits of finished canning products during the demonstration.

A big jar of luscious berries, still warm from the ovens, was received by Mrs. Theresa Murray, 1912 Andree avenue, as a special surprise attendance prize on the last day. Attendance prizes of automatic heat control electric irons and pie flakers were awarded each day of the school. Irons were received by Mrs. D. M. McCormack, 1928 Andree; Doris Wood, 1916 Andree, and Mrs. L. Anderson of Hilldale avenue. Pie flakers were awarded to Mrs. Phoebe J. Milburn, 1918 Andree; Mrs. Gertrude Haydon, 1514 Martine, and Irene Newby, 1919 Andree.

O. E. S. Is Hilarious at "Brothers' Night"
"Brothers' Night" at Torrance Chapter, O. E. S., proved a highly enjoyable affair last Thursday evening.

The excellent program presented included orchestra selections; vocal selections by the Masonic quartette—"Chick" Curtis, Fred Lessing, Dr. W. J. Neelands and C. B. Bell; readings by Fred Hopkins; piano solos by Miss Virginia Watson; vocal solos by Mr. Mason, and a dance by Iona McDonald.

The brothers served ice cream in paper cartons, with paper spoons. No dishes to wash! Pretty joy, what? Dancing was enjoyed after refreshments were served.

Waldo Mallory of Pennsylvania avenue was an Ingewood visitor Sunday.

A Few Herald-News Culinary Recipes From Free School

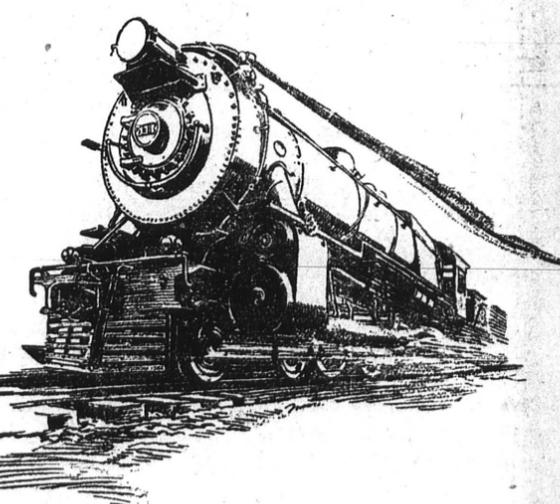

By MRS. MABEL MACEWING
HOT FUDGE CAKE
3 squares unsweetened chocolate melted over hot water, 1/2c shortening or butter, 1c sugar, 1/2c molasses, 1/2c sour milk, 1/2c hot water, 1tsp soda, 1tsp vanilla, 2 eggs, 2c flour (sifted before measuring), 1/4 tsp salt.
Cream sugar and shortening, add melted chocolate, beaten egg yolks, molasses and milk alternately with flour (sifted four or five times), add boiling water to which soda has been added, then vanilla and fold in whites of eggs stiffly beaten.
Bake in layer tins for 35 to 45 min. at max. tem. of 350 deg.

ANGEL FOOD CAKE
1c egg whites, 1/4c sugar, 1c Swansdown flour (sifted once before measuring), 1/2tsp cream tartar, 1/2tsp salt added to egg whites tsp vanilla or almond ex.
Beat egg whites till stiff but not dry, (adding cream of tartar when frothy) add sugar, tsp at a time, folding it in rather than beating it, then flavor. Fold in flour last, after sifting five times. Bake in tube pan at a maximum temperature of 350 deg. 50 to 60 min.

SPONGE CAKE
Using Egg Yolks After Angel Cake Making
6 egg yolks, 1c sugar, 13c flour (sifted before measuring), 2 tsp baking powder, 1/4 tsp salt, 1 tsp lemon ex., 1/2c boiling water.
Beat egg yolks until lemon color, add sugar slowly, boiling water and flavor. Sift flour four or five times with baking powder and salt. Beat for five minutes and bake in layer for loaf for 35 to 45 min. at tem. of 350 deg. max.
