DEININGER-LYKKE NUPTIALS SOLEMNIZED AT SANTA ANA
 SANTA ANA, Special. At a wedding whose beauty and solemnity will remain as a fragrant memory to all who were fortunate enough to witness it, Miss Nora Lykke, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. H. P. Lykke, last night, (Dec. 8) spoke her nuptial vows to Robert John Deininger, amidst a shower of flowers and ferns, arranged in her girlhood home at 609 North Van Ness avenue. Only members of the two families and a very few close friends were present at the ceremony, which took place at 8 o'clock with the Rev. George F. Pauschert, pastor of St. Peter Lutheran church, officiating.

Preceding the ceremony was a brief musical program, with the bride's nephew, Armand Faccou, Jr., at the piano. He concluded the numbers with Lohengrin's Wedding March, and the Rev. Mr. Pauschert, entered the living room, followed by Mr. Deininger and his brother, Louis Deininger of Torrance, who assisted him as best man.

As they took their places beneath the snowy wedding bell which swung from the canopy of ferns and white carnations, they were joined by the bride and her attendants, entering from an opposite door, Miss Lykke on the arm of her father.

The bride's blonde loveliness is familiar to all her friends, but it was never more radiant than in her wedding gown of silver-white point lace, gleaming over a foundation of white satin. The gown had been made for her in Paris, and with its snug bodice, graceful full skirt and long bell sleeves, was unusually beautiful and becoming. Her veil was of dotted net and lace, and had been secured in Brussels, where much of the world's most exquisite lace is made. It was arranged in a coronet flaring from her golden hair, and confined with a bandeau of orange blossoms. Her flowers were bride roses and orchids.

Attended by Sister, Mrs. Carl Edgar attended her sister as best matron, and wore a beautiful gown of maize georgette beaded in butterfly design. Her flowers were yellow rosebuds and orchid sweet peas. Her small son, Master Robert Edgar, bore the wedding ring on its satin pillow, and little Miss Karina Deininger, niece of the bridegroom, wearing a ruffled frock of pale blue tulle, scattered rose petals from a silver basket.

During the reception which followed the nuptial service, the new Mrs. Deininger cut the sparkling bride's cake, rising in three tiers, surmounted by a wedding bell. It was served with ice and other delicacies.

After receiving the congratulatory wishes of their friends, Mr. and Mrs. Deininger left for a motor honeymoon which will take them to the Yosemite, San Francisco and other points of interest in the state. Mrs. Deininger traveled in a costume of gray georgette and lace with gray accessories, and a dark green velvet coat with blue fox fur. The costume was one of her bridal trousseau from Paris.

They will live in Torrance where Mr. Deininger, assistant cashier in the First National bank of that city, has a pretty home in readiness for his bride. He is a past commander of the Torrance Unit, American Legion, and the romance of the young couple had a distinctly military flavor, too. Miss Lykke was active in the local Legion auxiliary, and she and Mr. Deininger first met at the "Legion Pilgrimage" to Catalina, two years ago. She has been a valued employee of the Edison company, having been in the Santa Ana office ever since leaving high school several years ago.

ROTARY ANNS LUNCHEON ENJOYABLE EVENT
 The December luncheon of the Rotary Anns was beautifully arranged by Mrs. Perry Briney, Mrs. William Booth and Mrs. J. W. Barnes.

The decorations were carried out in Christmas colors of green and red. During the luncheon the ladies were entertained by solos by Mrs. Rasmussen and Miss Betsy Barnes, who sang several Spanish folk songs.

The Rotary Anns have decided to hold their regular meeting in the evening instead of the afternoon, the date remaining the same. They will meet at the homes of the different members.

The next meeting will be held at Mrs. Carl Hyde's home on the second Tuesday of January at 8:00 p. m.

MR. AND MRS. YOUNG HOSTS AT SUPPER
 Mr. and Mrs. Raymond C. Young entertained ten guests Sunday evening at a three-course bridge supper. The Yuletide motif was used in decorations of rooms and tables.

Honors at cards went to Mrs. Paul and Mrs. Whyte. Mrs. Frengr was awarded the low score prize.

The guests were Mr. and Mrs. Allen H. Paul, Mr. and Mrs. Ray Crisler, Redondo Beach; Mr. and Mrs. Norman Marchmont of Hawthorne; Mr. and Mrs. Ted Frengr and Mrs. and Mrs. Grover C. Whyte.

ROYAL NEIGHBORS TO HAVE CHRISTMAS TREE

Torrance Camp of Royal Neighbors will have a Christmas tree for juveniles and the children of the members, Friday evening, Dec. 16. All mothers are requested to bring a small gift for the tree. There'll be Christmas games for the children and refreshments will be served. Members are urged to do their share toward making the affair a success.

MRS. O. E. HALL HOSTESS TO CHURCH SOCIETY

Mrs. O. E. Hall of 2119 Gramercy avenue opened her home to the ladies of the Methodist Church Tuesday afternoon, the occasion being the regular meeting of the Ladies' Aid and a Christmas party combined. There was a good attendance and much business was transacted showing that the society has not been idle.

After adjournment, each lady was presented with a gift from a beautifully decorated basket and many were the surprises as the packages were opened.

Mrs. Hall was assisted by Mrs. Harry, Mrs. Rhoden and Mrs. Bishop. Delightful refreshments were served at a late hour.

Crowd Throngs Local Dealers To See New Ford

Eighteen hundred and seventy-four persons by actual count thronged the showrooms of Schultz, Peckham and Schultz last night to see the new Ford car. A large crowd assembled at the showrooms long before the car arrived. Crowds continued to pour in and out of the building until late at night.

The model on display was a Tudor Sedan. The onlookers were delighted at its graceful lines, the completeness of its equipment and its specifications.

Hundreds witnessed the moving picture which showed the painstaking balance of power are still the Ford is being manufactured at the great factory in Detroit.

Schultz, Peckham and Schultz say that the enthusiasm and size of the crowd greatly exceeded their expectations.

Mr. Worrell the Hardware Man Talking:
 I am very much pleased with the amount of business I am doing. Folks seem to know where they are getting their money's worth. I have around 180 pairs of shears for my lady customers and it didn't cost them one cent. Come in, ladies, bring in your shears and have them ground FREE.
 Oh yes! I forgot—when you want a gas heater my price of the Lawson heater is very low.

 country of small area flame into a revolution. In the U. S. such turnouts are of no more than passing interest to persons removed from the scenes by thousands of miles. As a matter of fact, however, each of the three outbursts actually constitutes a miniature Civil War.
 News of such events in the U. S. are always cabled to Europe where they are prominently displayed in newspapers published by men who by very virtue of the wealth of such news think the U. S. is still a country in which life is cheaply held, where constituted authority is in constant jeopardy, and where part of every citizen's wardrobe should be a bullet proof vest. And in the light of such outbursts we can scarcely blame the Europeans for this misconception.

Week's World News

friendship between Italy, Spain and France and its consequent threat in the Mediterranean. Now that Mussolini's ambitions have encompassed the Western Hemisphere, his diplomatic activities will be subjected to no passing scrutiny by the state department at Washington.

Field Marshal Ferdinand Foch, generalissimo of the Allied armies during the World War is anything but an alarmist. Hence any alarming statement issuing from his lips creates an apprehension not born by similar declarations from others of less optimistic viewpoint. Wherefore, the world took painful notice when Foch declared in Paris that in his estimation a new and terrible World War would flame out in Europe about 1935. Diplomats in conference at Geneva have revealed activities all too reminiscent of the diplomatic chess game which brought about the war in 1914. The same international jangling for position and striving to establish the war making balance of power are still the order of the day in European foreign offices, all of which profess to seeking to avert war on the one hand, while on the other they are actively encouraging the hatreds without which no war would be possible.

Big Growth Is Seen for 1928

 bringing many new residents to Torrance.
 Certain that the vast industrial development now under way and that which is certain to take place in the next few months will bring a record demand for dwelling houses here, the Torrance Chamber of Commerce is making plans for a 1928 advertising campaign in Los Angeles newspapers so that the housing and other problems of this city may be brought to the attention of Southern California interests and individual investors. The first of this series of proposed display advertisements was authorized to be published this week. It sets forth the details of the location in Torrance of the Doherty Stone Drill Corporation plant. Later advertisements will describe Columbia Steel's industrial expansion and it is probable that a joint campaign will be put on by the Chamber of Commerce and the Santa Fe.

So that they may be ready for the influx which will be experienced here owing to the industrial development, property owners of Vista Highlands and Tract 4070 are prepared to request the city council that improvement in their district be installed as rapidly as possible. Meantime the council is shaping final plans for the proposal of an ornamental lighting system throughout the business and close in residential districts.

150 Persons at Dinner Served to Brotherhood

One hundred and fifty persons enjoyed a baked ham dinner topped off with apple pie and coffee, Monday evening at the Brotherhood dinner at the Methodist church. The dinner was cooked and served by the men of the church. Poinsettias and red candles formed an attractive centerpiece, and a color scheme of red and green was otherwise carried out.
 Rev. B. H. Lingenfelter offered the invocation at the beginning of dinner, and Rev. Young, returned thanks at its close. G. L. Morris acted as toastmaster.
 Included in the dinner program were the following selections by the Guen male chorus: "Guide Me, O Thou Great Jehovah," "On the Sea," "Mother Machree," "Going Home," "Kentucky Babe," "Unfold Ye Portals," a group of southern melodies and "Sweet Bye and Bye." Mrs. M. Cox, director of the chorus rendered "A May Morning," "Down Here" and "The Trumpeter Song."

 Rev. R. A. Young, pastor of the church, gave an inspiring talk on the "Community Quartette—Business, Education, Home and Church." "A city," said Mr. Young in part, "cannot hope to progress unless it is founded on these four corner stones. There must be integrity and sincerity in business; children should know books; teach them to see the beautiful in life; we would do well to build this nation on thoughts of home; every church should be cosmopolitan; churches bring out the best in man." No man, said Mr. Young can reach the highest and leave Christianity out.
