SCHOOL NEWS

ELEMENTARY SCHOOL
Torrance has been chosen as a summer school center again this year. It is one of eighty summer schools, out of 300 elementary schools in the city. There will be an announcement of teachers and a program later.
Torrance school wishes to announce an entertainment and exhibition to be given the night of May 25. Folk dancing on the athletic field will begin early in the evening. The P. T. A. will serve a plate dinner. The entertainment will be given twice during the evening in the auditorium and the school rooms will be thrown open for exhibition during the entire time.

The principal and faculty of the Torrance school wish to thank the executive board of the P. T. A. for the lovely luncheon given on Tuesday noon. Also they want to thank the room mothers for keeping the children during the luncheon hour.
This morning a thrift assembly was held in the auditorium. There were several talks on thrift and the thrift songs were practiced. A health play was given by the 6th grade girls under the direction of Miss Agnes Crimmins.
This is the "Kindness to Animals" week. It is being observed in all the rooms by appropriate handwork or programs.
Tuesday afternoon George A. Clark, supervisor of Physical Education in this district held a meeting in the local school to help all the teachers of the Harbor District, with their work in folk dancing.

Mr. and Mrs. Bell have invited the members of the faculty to a beach party at their cottage, "Four Belles" in Laguna, for the weekend of May 5 and 6.
The teachers have just spent $3.50 for blue felt letters for the track suits of the boys in the track events at the spring track meet.
A language survey is being given in all the 3rd, 4th, 5th and 6th grade rooms of Los Angeles to establish a standard in language and English for each grade.
HIGH SCHOOL
Rehearsals for "Stray Cats," the senior class play, are under way and are taking a more serious aspect every day. The production is to be presented in the Torrance High Auditorium on May 25.
Miss Lingenfelter, who is directing the play is spending a great deal of time working on its technicalities.
On Tuesday, April 10, 1928, the seniors of Torrance High sneaked away. They claimed to be one of the most exciting events of their whole lives. After a thrilling ride in the back of one of Tolson's trucks, the class arrived at their destination, which was the cabin of one of their class teachers, located in San Fernando valley.
When they arrived the first thing on the program was "Eats." After a long day of eating, dancing and hiking the seniors returned home very tired and dirty, but with the assurance that they had never had a better time in their four years of high school.

SUCCESS
By JOHN TWEEDDALE OF TORRANCE
Inspired by a thirst for detailed information by the great reading public on the subject of success, are failures; the edifice we propose to erect, must be different to nearly all the rest.
Then when the great guiding signal of thought illuminates the broad sea of mundane objects and the silvery waves of cognition roll in cerulean ripples across the sparkling sands of time, and a clarified vision reveals in letters of fire, the recondite passage-way to the temple of success; the magic key of mind will open wide its scintillating portals, and beyond, stretching far into the dim mists of tomorrow will appear the green valleys and purple hills of accomplishment.
Looking backward from the towering pinnacles of this mighty range of thought, we behold a barren, desolate wind swept plain over which roam unrestrained the colossal dinosaur-like enemies of progress and enlightenment, and the greatest of these is "lost motion." No other single factor enters so largely into success as this one; no one monomania of the human race is so assiduously cultivated, so persistently adhered to or productive of such nefarious results as "lost motion." No other living thing on the face of the globe dissipates the few short days, months and years of their earthly sojourn so triflingly as does this being called man, who was given dominion over the beasts of the field and the birds of the air and presumed to be endowed with greater mental acumen than the lower animals.
Even a cursory study of natural history will convince the individual who is capable of absorbing the most superficial information on a subject, that every single unit of the mighty system of animate and inanimate objects under the broad canopy of heaven, save man, is incessantly progressing, without the loss of one single motion in the operation.
The few individuals who have been able, through intelligent effort, to overcome the evil effects of lost motion, in their business, and in their private lives, found without exception, extraordinary prosperity awaiting them. Henry Ford is a notable example of this truth.

The Scholarship Society of Torrance High held a doughnut sale on Monday, April 16. The treasury has been increased by a little over three dollars. Those doughnuts really were good in spite of the fact that they were the cooks' first attempt (no one needs to say anything about food's luck), for the students certainly appreciate them. We see now how the saying "they went like hot cakes" was originated. The members of the society are planning to give a series of these sales.
DeDe Barnard was honored in being chosen as the "May Queen" from seven other contestants for the May Pageant which will be held on April 27, at Torrance. All the girls' gym classes are busy practicing the dances for this affair. This is to be one of the features of our Open House Day.
At a pay and call held on April 18, the Aviation Club presented the pictures as follows: Our Gang in "Buried Treasure" and "Passing of the Old West."
A lucky day for some of the students Friday, April 13. Mr. Mowry took the chemistry and physics classes to Caltech. They left at noon, eleven cars carrying the students up to Pasadena. Many interesting exhibits were visited concerning different subjects of chemistry and physics. One outstanding event was the synthetic punch. One could enjoy it if they had not read the recipe before hand for it was made up of well known acids. The last thing on the program was a sham battle, which was put on by two divisions of the R. O. T. C.

Friends Put on Charivari for Newlyweds Here
Friends of Miss Thelma Lam-brecht and W. E. Cooper, who were married last Thursday evening in Inglewood, subjected them to an old fashioned charivari, beginning immediately after the couple left the doors of the church.
Cooper and his bride, on seeing the procession awaiting them, made a valiant dash for freedom, but were caught and placed in an ancient one horse shay. Then the parade started—approximately 150 cars with cut-outs open and horns tied down, joined in the merry-making.
C. H. Mueller, station agent at the P. E. drove the car that towed the buggy, while Frank Graham kept a street car bell clanging, and W. C. Collins kept red flares burning to illuminate the buggy.
The shay was beautifully decorated with tin cans and large signs—one of which read "A leap year victim." A tub and tin cans were dragging behind the couple, while there was a tin can tied to every spoke on the wheels.
The parade with all its racket thoroughly awakened the sleeping Inglewood, and would have invaded Torrance, but the bride and groom made their escape with the plea that they were rushing to catch a mythical train.
