Hoover Will Break Solid South
Says Rev. Young After Dixie Visit

Rev. R. A. Young, pastor of the Methodist Episcopal church of Torrance who has returned after a summer spent in the South declares it is his belief that the Republican party with Hoover leading the ticket will make wide inroads in Dixie at the presidential election. Rev. Young says that hundreds on hundreds of lifelong Democrats throughout the South have left the party this year to vote for Hoover. "It looks certain right now that Hoover will carry the border states of Kentucky, Tennessee, Missouri, and West Virginia as well as Texas and Oklahoma. He is conceding a chance in Georgia."

Rev. Young is not so certain that Hoover can carry any of the other southern states, but believes the normal Democratic majority will be cut down tremendously.

Mr. and Mrs. H. B. Linderman and Miss Mae Linderman arrived home Friday after a three weeks' motor trip. The Lindermans drove as far north as Portland, Oregon, stopping at many interesting points enroute.
