The Charm of Old England is Combined with Modernness of America

English homes are reputedly the most popular with home builders, and this attractive 5 room house at the corner of Sonoma and Portola, with its peaked and varicolored roof, is modeled along English lines.

A walk which cuts diagonally from the corner, leads to a porch, the only sheltered portion of which is just before the arched wooden entrance door.

The living room is large and well lighted with five windows. Three of these are cathedral windows, placed together, and are as one large window at the front of the house.

A large wood fireplace, in which gas may be also used, is on the right wall of this kitchen. The drain pipes and sink are of large green tiles. On it is a sanitary garbage remover, which connects with a garbage can outside. The fixture is so arranged, that by opening the top to insert garbage, the top automatically closes, lower down in order to keep out the fumes from the garbage can.

A mirror, behind which is the space cupboard, is over the sink, with windows on each side.

At one end of the kitchen is just a suggestion of an arch, with the breakfast nook beyond. Windows on three sides of this breakfast nook, make it a most cheerful place to breakfast.

Off the kitchen is a small enclosed porch, with broom closet and laundry trays.

The hall, which is reached from the dining room, is long and finished in cream, and contains two large linen closets.

Off of this are two bedrooms and the bath. The front bedroom has the triple arched windows on the front and one on the side. It is finished in a lovely shade of coral, with paneled walls.

The other bedroom has wood work of a delicate green, and is paneled with dainty wallpaper of matching tones. Both bedrooms are large, but not too much so, and have large closets.

Orchid and yellow tiles were chosen for the bathroom floor and to build in the fixtures. The walls are tinted in a lovely shade of pale ochre, as is the built-in vanity and linen drawers at one end of the room.

There is also a two-car garage attached to the rear of the house. This is treated in the same manner as the house, with the tan stucco exterior and peaked roof.

Atwater Kent to Ship Radios in Trainloads

Pacific Coast to Get Better Service, Is Report

Determined to arrange consistent trainload shipments of Atwater Kent radios during the current year, Ray Thomas, Atwater Kent distributor, and Mark Smith, general manager of the Thomas organization, leave this week for Philadelphia. They will confer with officials of the radio manufacturing plant there. It is expected that one of the largest orders in the history of the industry will be placed by them.

The unprecedented order during the past year, not only in Southern California but throughout other sections of the United States, have been resultant in a shortage that is reported to be assuming acute proportions. Despite the fact that the Atwater Kent factory is turning out nearly 1000 sets a day, the huge plant is said to be taxed in meeting trade requirements.

The constantly increasing number of Atwater Kent owners in Southern California makes it imperative that more frequent carload shipments be made from the factory at Philadelphia. It was disclosed, will endeavor to obviate any possible shortage this year by transportation arrangements that they hope will be consummated during their Philadelphia visit, according to the Debra Radio Company, local dealers for Atwater-Kent radios.

New Metals Used in Ford Car of Interest Here

The new Model A Ford automobile contains some of the finest examples in the world of new metal treatments for resistance to wear and to the torsional strain imposed upon some of the parts of the modern internal combustion engine.

One of these is the crankshaft. In this latest Ford product the crankshaft is made of a special Ford carbon manganese steel, developed under processes of metal blending and heat treatment that are new to the industry.

These processes produce a crankshaft that is heavier than any previous Ford crankshaft that is tougher to resist wear and stronger to resist the torsional strain of high speed performance. The weight of the shaft in itself makes for smoother operation and the static and dynamic balancing process to which it is subjected before it is installed in the motor still further reduces the chances of vibration.

This special carbon manganese steel is only one of more than forty different kinds of steel, each representing a special treatment, which are used in the manufacture of the new Model A Ford car.

Chuckle a bit and forget your worry. Read the Comics on the back page and the first page of the second section.
