Exhibits at the show were made by all classes of growers, from amateur to professional growers, and by florists. Every exhibit made by the Torrance District Garden Club was awarded a first prize, and the total exhibit was awarded first prize for the most artistic display. The club had their display on a terraced table, backgrounded in black, and decorated with ferns and greenery.

The following first prize awards were made to Club members: Sweet peas, grown by Watson E. Antis; rex begonias, grown by Roy Berry, Keystone; Los Angeles gladiolus grown by William Pearson; Lily of the Valley, grown by Miss Mary Halderick, Moneta.

Fear Local Women Purchased Hosiery from Fake Agent

Did you order some hosiery last fall from a man named Albert Frantz, pay him a deposit on the order and fail to receive the hosiery?

If you did, phone 599, Torrance police department and notify them. He was recently arrested in Alhambra on the same charge and compelled to make good the money, and the Torrance police department is anxious to check up and see if any Torrance women were defrauded.

It is asserted that he came through Torrance last November taking orders for alleged non-run hosiery, and that a number of complaints have been voiced by women here.

Hundreds Attend School Program

Masonic Public School Night Attracts Great Crowd Last Night

Torrance public schools were a mecca for hundreds of parents last night, the occasion being public school night under the auspices of the Masonic Lodge.

At 6:30 the grammar school was crowded. In each room regular classes were held so that parents might obtain a first hand idea of modern methods of instruction. This feature was one which was greatly appreciated by the fathers and mothers who accompanied their sons and daughters to the school.

Following this instructive routine scheduled for parents the annual program was given at the High School auditorium. The program opened with a delightful song-tableau by kindergarten children, in which the little folk represented flowers, nodding their pretty heads to and fro.

E. N. Tomkins, master of the Masonic Lodge then explained to the audience the significance of the public school program sponsored by the Masons. He introduced Principal Herbert S. Wood of the High School and Principal Bell of the Grammar school. He also introduced a number of Masonic officials including Dr. O. S. Fossum and John Guyan.

Hyde and Salm at Sacramento to Aid Industry

Carl L. Hyde, secretary of the Chamber of Commerce and John Salm were in Sacramento this week conferring with members of the fish and game committee in the interests of the Salm Manufacturing company. Existing statutes governing the shipment of abalone shells operate against the interests of the local manufacturing concern and Mr. Salm is seeking amendments to the statute which will protect him against unfair competition. The present statutes prohibit the shipping out of the state of shells which have not been manufactured. Eastern interests are shipping out shells which have merely been cut in two. Mr. Salm is seeking an amendment defining the term "manufacturing." He cannot buy eastern shells because regulations which he is now seeking in California prevail along the Atlantic seaboard.

There followed two entertaining numbers of the Junior High school girls' glee club.

Then John Young, district oratorical winner in the contest on the Constitution delivered his prize address on "The Development of the Constitution."

Warrén C. Conrad then delivered a significant address. There were engaging dances and exhibition by gymnasium classes.
