WOMEN'S CLUB FRIDAY

"Songs you will like" is a slogan, Leon Rice uses in his concert work, and it is the result of a wide experience in studying the tastes of the people who attend musical affairs. Many singers arrange their programs to suit their own preferences, but Leon Rice believes that this is a short-sighted policy if strictly followed. He maintains that popularity and musical idealism can be combined in concert programs in such a manner that the interest and appreciation of the audience will grow with each succeeding song and leave a feeling in every one present that "it was an evening well spent."

Mr. Rice has averaged three returns engagements for each original concert, which record amply justifies his position in the matter of singing "songs you will like." For the concert Friday, June 28th at the Club House, Mr. Rice has prepared a musical feast that will long be remembered by all who are fortunate enough to be present. Jean Rice, whose piano playing is fully half of the entertainment, is an artist who delights both the eye and ear in these unusual programs. The list of songs for Friday night follows: Love's Springtime, Hammond; Sunrise and You, Penn; Magic of Your Eyes, Penn; Song of Faith, Chamblade; A Rose Fable, Hawley; Revelation, Scott; I Am Longing For You, Marshall; The Fairy Glen, Marshall. *Invocation To Eros, Kursteiner; *The Betrothal, Kursteiner; *Morning, Kursteiner; *Sylvia, Cox; *Ye Moaning Mountains, Vanderpool; *Waltz, You Ladies, De Lacey; *Request Songs: Don't You Mind the Sorrows, Cowles; At Dawning, Cadman; The Rosary, Nevin; Roses of Picardy, Wood; Tim Rooney's at the Fightin', Flynn. *Songs especially written for Leon Rice.

MRS. SAMMONS HONOR GUEST

Mrs. Frank Sammons was honored guest last Thursday evening when Mrs. Joe Stone entertained the past presidents of the Torrance Women's club and their first vice-presidents and their husbands. A federation pin with a gavel was presented to Mrs. Sammons by the past presidents of the club who, with their first vice-presidents, had served in the following order: First president, Mrs. Mayme Scott and first vice-president, Mrs. Mildred Lancaster; second, Mrs. Louise Sammons and Mrs. Minnie Brooks; third, Mrs. Stella Young and Mrs. Minnie Brooks; fourth, Mrs. Carrie Parks and Mrs. Clara Curtis; fifth, Mrs. Mildred Lancaster and Mrs. Edna Stone; sixth, Mrs. Edna Stone and Mrs. Frances Collins; seventh, Mrs. Minnie Brooks and Mrs. Mina Shidler; eighth, Mrs. Minnie Brooks (elected for the second term) and Mrs. Hazel Fossum; ninth, Mrs. Louise Sammons and Mrs. Karmee Dolley.

Bridge was the feature of the evening, honors being awarded to Mr. and Mrs. Frank Sammons.

TRIPLE BIRTHDAY DINNER AND BRIDGE

Three who have had birthdays recently were entertained last week at a triple birthday dinner and bridge party at the home of Mr. and Mrs. P. Mize. Those honored were Mrs. Mize, Mr. T. Appenzeller and Mr. Robert McMaster. Honors for bridge were awarded to Mrs. Margaret Jones McMaster and Mr. J. E. Hitchcock.

GARDEN PARTY AT AZUSA

PHILATHEA CLASS HAS SILVER TEA

The Philathea class of the Methodist Episcopal church held a silver tea at the class rooms at the church last Wednesday afternoon.

The rooms were profusely decorated with gladiolus, carnations and summer flowers, and formed a charming setting for the tea.

A delightful program was presented by the following: Marjorie Ott, piano solo; Mrs. R. A. Young, reading; Gaylord Young, a vocal solo, "Mighty Lak A Rose," accompanied by his mother, Mrs. R. A. Young; Arvid Miller, vocal selection, accompanied by Mrs. W. H. Sinclair; Lucille Acree, vocal solo, accompanied by Junior Tomkins; piano duet by Junior Tomkins and Lucille Acree.

School Annual Makes Big Hit

Torrance High Torch Well Edited Periodical Published by Seniors

The "Torch," Torrance High School annual, made its appearance last week and was greeted with high approval by the students. Finished in the school colors, the "Torch" is attractively bound in gray imitation leather with a picture of the school inlaid in the cover, and the torch emblem in red.

The makeup of the book is well planned, and it contains interesting features of school life.

Several particularly beautiful views of the school adorn the first few leaves of the book, followed by pictures of the faculty and graduating class.

Features, poems, class will and prophecy, student snap-shots add to the interest of the book, which is predominated by a spirit of world friendship.

The world peace motif is carried through the book.

Records of athletic events, together with pictures of all teams and game scores form a large portion of the annual, as well as pictures of the various athletic, scholastic and social clubs with records of their activities during the past year.

Students have been busy since the annual came out autographing them for their friends and writing in reminiscences of their high school life. Marjorie Yamamoto was editor-in-chief of "The Torch" this year, assisted by Mildred Bell, assistant editor.

Others on the staff were: Paul Welsh, business manager; Eunice Tansey and Frank Russell, assistant managers; Mary Hinman, art editor; Dorothy Chandler and Dorothy Eshom, Alma Mater; Phyllis Knorr and Loma Kizer, activities; Virginia Rowell, literary; Evelyn Rowell, calendar; Paul Welsh and Ralph Bunje, athletics; John Young and Howard Schmidt, humor; Frank Russell, snapshots; George Kyle, Dorothy Hansen, and Muriel Bell, subscriptions; Margaret Rehbert, bookkeeping; Edith Burnham, faculty advisor; Ada Chase, art supervisor; Jessie Weaver, auditor. Honorable mention: Edna Richhart, Beulah Cooper, Josephine Lupo, Wilson Page, Casanova Hall, Richard Waller, Glenn Tolson, Stanley Creighton and Alfred Pennington.
