Elementary School Notes

Beginning Monday, October 14 the adult class in home nursing and first aid will be held at the Torrancia Elementary school every Monday afternoon from 1-3.

This class was first scheduled for Monday mornings. The class is free and upon completion of the work a certificate for first aid is granted. About twenty-two mothers reported the first meeting last Monday.

Two permanent changes occurred in the faculty at the Elementary school. Mrs. Mildred E. Aden Malm resigned her position as A2-B3 teacher and in her place Miss Ethel Marion Crittenden of Lomita was assigned permanently. This is a new room opened this fall when the enrollment increased. Reports sent to Los Angeles Friday show a total enrollment of a thousand pupils, this being in addition to one hundred twenty-five at Fern street school.

STAR REPORTER SOLVES BAFFLING MURDER MYSTERY

Playing a part on the screen with which one is absolutely familiar in real life rarely falls to the lot of a film player, but such is the good fortune of handsome Grant Withers in "In the Headlines," Warner Bros. latest all-talking Vitaphone comedy-drama of modern newspaper life, coming to the Torrancia Theatre, Sunday and Monday.

Previous to Grant's entrance into films, he was a reporter on a prominent Los Angeles daily paper, covering a police beat. In "In the Headlines" he portrays a police reporter through whose eyes a double murder mystery is solved. His characterization is typically that of a metropolitan newspaperman and is greatly enhanced by his practical experience as such, but the part is made amusing by the fact that he plays the role of an extravagantly egotistical youth who, trusting to his rise in the newspaper field, his fake murder story starts a war which he cannot stop and results in his acquaintance with two astonishing blondes and a more disturbing brunette.

In addition to Grant Withers, the cast of "In the Headlines" includes Marian Nixon, Edmund Broese, Clyde Cook, Frank Campeau, Pauline Garon, Vivian Oakland, Robert Ober, Ben Hall, Jack Wise, Spec O'Donnell and others. John G. Adolfi directed the piece, from Joseph Jackson's adaptation of James Starr's original story.

Lomita Theatre Offers Week of Exceptionally Good Shows

Patrons of the Lomita Theatre have several picture "treats" in store for them this coming week. Tonight and Friday a big double bill is scheduled. "The Donovan Affair," a mystery drama featuring Jack Holt, Dorothy Revier and William Collier Jr., will be shown in addition to Bill Cody in "The Tip Off." Saturday night only, "Sioux Blood" is showing, starring Tim McCoy. Plenty of tense late thrillers in a drama of Indian lore. Another big double bill is set for Sunday and Monday, Oct. 13 and 14. Buster Keaton's "Spite Marriage" has real live human interest blended to the tune of endless laughs and thrills. You'll enjoy it together with Hoot Gibson in "The Lariat Kid" another big western smash. And as a fitting climax for a week of exceptionally good pictures comes Norma Shearer in her dramatic triumph "The Last of Mrs. Cheyney." Miss Shearer repeats the splendid impression in this feature picture that she made in "The Trial of Mary Dugan." Don't miss it. And "Love and

At Fox Redondo

"The Girl from Havana" hooked at the Fox Redondo theatre Sunday is an all talking production that is next thing to taking a sea trip. As the action of the gripping detective story shifts from Los Angeles where a diamond robbery is perpetrated to an ocean liner bound for Havana by way of the Panama Canal, much of the picture was filmed and recorded at sea.

Ronald Colman, the English actor, who has risen to the heights of screen eminence, in his newest starring vehicle, "Bulldog Drummond" which opens at the Fox Redondo for a three day run on Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday has the first speaking role of his film career. This is significant for prior to his entry into pictures, Ronald Colman was one of

Fox Granada

Tonight and tomorrow the Fox Granada Theatre in Wilmington will show Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer's great all talking triumph directed by Lionel Barrymore, "Madame X" starring Ruth Chatterton with Lewis Stone and Raymond Hackett. The screen version of this favorite stage masterpiece offers conclusive proof, according to critics who have viewed it, of the superiority of the talking screen over the stage for the presentation of tense drama. The whole story is told in a series of gripping episodes which follow the tragic about the world, showing so much more than is possible on the stage. You can surely bet that every bit of this picture will hold you in suspense for the way they have in achieving superhuman results. Ruth Chatterton is superb in "Madame X."

Showing for Sunday only is "The Lady Lies," an all talking Paramount production with Claudette Colbert and Walter Huston, two brilliant stars of the New York stage. Two good talking shorts will also be shown.

Monday and Tuesday a double feature program will be shown, "Masquerade," a Fox production and an all talking thriller, stars of note in the cast are Lella Hyams with Clyde Cook and J. Farrell McDonald, while "Oh, What a Night" is an uproarious comedy drama with piquant Bebe Daniels. This is to be shown at 8:15 only, so be sure to be on hand early to see both of these splendid pictures.

Wednesday and Thursday "The Mysterious Dr. Fu Manchu" will be shown—a story of thrills, chills and sinister oriental intrigue laid in Chinatown. You'll say this picture is the best ever! Warner Oland scores a tremendous hit in this Paramount all talking special. Others in the cast are Neil Hamilton and Jean Arthur. On the same program is to be shown an all talking Edward Everett Horton comedy. "William Fox Silver Jubilee—1904—October 14th—1929, commemorating 25 years of service to the public," is being celebrated by the Fox Granada, all next week.

Torrance Briefs

Miss Babbette Raymond of New York has been visiting with her sister, Mrs. Edgar J. Moore at the Portola apartments, Miss Raymond says she is very much impressed with Torrancia in every way.

Mrs. Juliette Johnson and Miss Reva Hodge expect to attend the performance of Il Trovatore on Saturday evening.

Mrs. J. E. Forbes and Mrs. Bert Dye drove to Azusa recently and were dinner guests of Mrs. George Dilley.

Mr. and Mrs. Greco have just returned from Seattle, where Mrs. Greco has been a patient in the Good Samaritan Hospital. Her many friends will be glad to know that she is rapidly improving.

Miss Marjoe Flood, daughter of Mrs. H. H. Barnard of Dolores street has returned here to make her home with her mother after a two years' residence at the home of her aunt, Mrs. R. Gleason. Miss Flood is taking commercial art lessons of Vernon Grant in Los Angeles at the present.
