BUICK NAMES NEW PACIFIC COAST CHIEF

Appointed to take over the administration of one of the most important posts in all Pacific Coast autodom, H. E. Loomis, newly named Western regional manager of the Buick Motor company was welcomed to San Francisco this month. He will succeed Peter S. Steenstrup, whose promotion to an important position abroad with the General Motors Export Company, has been announced.

Loomis' permanent headquarters will be in San Francisco Western Regional offices in the Hunter-Dulin Building and under his jurisdiction will be the zones of Los Angeles, Seattle, Portland, San Francisco, Denver and Salt Lake City.

The new executive was welcomed on arrival by Mr. Steenstrup, R. F. Thompson, general manager of the Howard Automobile Company, and other officials of the Buick-Marquette distributing organization. At noon on the day of his arrival he was guest of honor at a press luncheon tendered by the Campbell-Ewald Company, national advertising agency, in the Whitcomb Hotel, San Francisco.

New Auto Chief

H. E. LOOMIS
New Pacific Coast Regional Mgr.
Buick Motor Company

Loomis comes to his western assignment from the post of Grand Rapids zone manager. He has been a member of the Buick sales organization for the last eighteen years, being first employed at the Indianapolis branch by E. F. Strong, now president and general manager of the Buick Motor Company. Steenstrup's latest advancement comes after twenty-five years with the General Motors Corporation. He has been western manager for the Buick Motor Company, headquarters in San Francisco, for the last eight years. During his occupancy of the Western office Buick sales on the Pacific Coast broke all previous records.

"Pacific Coast conditions right now appear the roughest in the automotive picture," Loomis said on arrival. "We have every reason to believe that the coming spring and summer months will see car sales in more than normal volume in this fast developing section of the country."

Buick and Marquette cars are sold in this district by R. S. Flaherty, Torrance.

Ideal PERFORMANCE

When You Can't Tell Whether You're Listening to a Distant or Local Station

AS YOU slowly tune the dial of an Atwater Kent Screen-Grid radio, you hear bits of one program after another. You know (because you hear so many) that some must be distant and others local stations. But, because of their uniform volume you will find it hard to tell them apart. For it is one of the duties of Atwater Kent Screen-Grid radio's tremendous power to automatically equalize weak and powerful signals. Consequently unless you know where each station is to be found on the dial, or refer to your log, or call book, or wait for the station's announcement, it is mighty hard to tell whether the program is broadcast from near or far. Try this marvelous radio yourself. Learn first hand its advantages over others. Note the great number of stations it places at your command. Experience the sensation of listening to them without being reminded of the fact, through stations interfering with one another, or the lack of power, distortion, hum, and whistles. Only an Atwater Kent... the radio of tomorrow... is able to render you such smooth, effortless reception—clear and realistic as life itself. Terms? Of course... very easy!
