"Adam and Fallen Man" will be the subject of the Lesson-Sermon Sunday in all branches of the Mother Church, The First Church of Christ, Scientist, in Boston, Mass.
One if the Scripture selections includes Paul's statements to the Romans: "For they that are after the flesh do mind the things of the flesh; but they that are after the Spirit the things of the Spirit, for to be carnally minded is death; but to be spiritually minded is life and peace. . . . But ye are not in the flesh, but in the Spirit, if so be that the Spirit of God dwell in you." Another citation contains Paul's words to the Corinthians: "For as in Adam all die, even so Christ shall all be made alive." A passage from "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures," by Mary Baker Eddy, states: "The great truth in the Science of being,

Strong English Character

THE DEVON HOUSE H-127
The snug and vigor of the steep roofed English houses is reflected in this house. The long sweeping lines of the roof combined with the L-shaped plan, gives an attractive elevation on each of the four sides—there is no "back" to this house—the entrance front, the garden front and the two sides, all have good character. It will also be noted that this house has two chimneys, one serving the fireplace, the other the heating boiler. The old English houses had many chimneys that the lack of these in the American adoption of this style is sadly felt in many of the modern houses. The irregular skyline of the English house is one of its principal charms—in America our roof lines are too often hard, set and straight, unbroken and bald.
While the exterior of this house shows the character of the old English—the plan is thoroughly modern and suited to modern ways of living.
The Devon offers a substantial and commodious home for those who like something with character and who demand large rooms.
