Two Speakers Entertain Business Club

Mrs. Steinhiber, Miss Huth Give Recollections of Interesting Trips

Members of the National Business and Professional Women of Torrance were taken in fancy on two interesting trips at their dinner meeting at Earl's Cafe Tuesday evening. With Mrs. Nettie Steinhiber as guide they crossed the plains from St. Louis to Denver, Colorado, in the early '60s, and learned from her of the hardships, dangers and strange adventures that attended the pioneers on their slow journey westward. Mrs. Steinhiber was taken as a child from her home in Chicago, via St. Louis where they joined other families traveling by wagon westward, to Denver, where her father was engaged in business. How she was enticed away from the train to an Indian encampment where she was found some hours later by her terrified family was one of the interesting highlights of her story.

Miss Bobbie Huth, secretary to Dr. Florence Mae Morse of the University of Southern California, then took the club on a tour of Vienna where she attended last summer the first convention of the International Federation of Business and Professional Women at which 13 countries were represented. A novel idea, presented in connection with this gathering, was the fact that in the European countries and the British Isles, the clubs were required to have the approval of their respective governments in order to organize, so that the convention represented to a certain extent the goodwill of the reigning powers as extended to these women's organizations. Miss Huth presented her notes on the convention in a forceful, attractive way, which made her hearers feel that they were almost taking a personal part in the important sessions which she attended. The club welcomed two new members at this meeting, Mrs. Pietzke of the Southern California Telephone Company and Mrs. Hoover of the Hoover Dress Shop. Miss Ade Chance of the Torrance high school art department, was a guest at this meeting, as were Miss Elsie Gordon and Miss Mildred Myers of the Los Angeles club. At the next dinner meeting of the club a program in observance of the Washington bi-centennial will be given, plans for which are now under discussion.
