

Best Dressed Girl Awarded Cash Prize In Unique Contest

A unique contest is being sponsored by the Long Beach Chamber of Commerce each Sunday continuing during the summer months for the best beach attired girl from that city and the surrounding territories, in areas within which judging will be made. The areas include from Venetian Square to Pacific Club and the Amusement Zone and Silver Spray Pier. Judging takes place between 2 p. m. and 4 each Sunday. All girls must appear closely within these areas between this time. Ten dollars will be the prize each week for the girl selected.

This is not a beauty contest. Girls are judged only by their beach apparel, whether bathing suit, pajamas, kimono, etc. A secret committee whose work is to scan the beaches to determine the winner is not known.

Devise Plans to Increase Scope of Labor Camps

SACRAMENTO.—(U.P.)—Plans for the expenditure of $500,000 on California labor camps next winter to provide employment amounting to 1,000,000 "man days" were presented to Governor Rolph today by S. R. Black, chairman of the California Labor Camp committee.

The proposal to extend the labor camp ideas as a relief of unemployment conditions is based on the success of the camps last winter when 3,000 men were given food and a place to sleep in return for work in building fire breaks and trails.

"Believing the unemployment situation will be still more critical next winter, and that local relief funds will hardly be sufficient to take care of local resident relief work, I suggest that the labor program for next winter be organized to take care of a peak load of 7,000 men, and that the camps open October 15 and continue in operation until April 30, 1933," Black said.

"Labor camps under the supervision of the state division of forestry were operated last winter at a cost of 50 cents per man per day."

The plan could be financed, Black suggested by taking $200,000 from state highway construction funds; $200,000 from state emergency funds, and $100,000 from state highway maintenance funds.

"This program," he reported pointed out, "provides for taking care of more than twice as many men in camp next year, and provides that the men shall be in camp approximately two months longer than last winter. By opening the camps earlier it will be possible to send the non-residents into camps as they arrive in the state, thereby relieving local relief agencies of this particular burden."

"By starting early and giving sufficient notice it will be possible to keep out of California thousands of the 'hobo' type who refuse to work under all conditions and who will avoid the state if they know they will have to go to work if they expect to eat."

In explaining the proposed financing program the report said: "The highway construction fund should be used to operate state labor camps for the construction of highways under the supervision of the department of public works. The highway maintenance fund should be under supervision of the division of forestry in fire-proofing lands adjacent to state highways."

"In Southern California there has been a heavy expense to the highway department in removing from the highways debris washed down on the roads by storms from burned-over lands. Protection of such areas from fire by the construction of fire breaks and trails should protect the highways and save the maintenance cost of repair and debris removal."
