

Business Men's Association Favors More Sewer Laterals

A motion that sewer laterals be laid for every 50 feet in the South End was passed by the Lomita-Torrance City Business Men's Association at their meeting last night in the brick hall at Harbor City. As the plans now drawn, laterals would only be laid to reach houses in the district. As pointed out by John Holm and other members, this would mean that later connections would necessitate the laying up of the streets again.

A telegram was sent John R. C. Baine, now in Washington, D. C., urging him to use every effort to secure a government loan for the construction of the South End sewer.

The matter of closing earlier, especially during the winter months, was discussed, and an effort will be made to line up the merchants for a 6 o'clock closing hour. That an earlier closing could be carried out if the business, the purchasing power of the community, would co-operate and arrange to shop early, was brought out.

Complaint forms, to be filled out by employees who are being compelled to work longer hours than the N. R. A. code provides, will be furnished postmasters shortly, was stated.

Mr. C. F. King spoke on the central valley water project, stating that in his opinion, as the Southland was paying for the metropolitan water district, it would not have to pay a share of this $110,000,000 project and that he should vote against it.

Dr. T. W. Bullock spoke of the proposed Christmas community sing, asking that the community get together at least once a year, at Christmas.

The association will give a card party, the date and place not being decided upon.

The offer of Hugo Schmidt of the free use of the room in his building, formerly occupied by the Chamber of Commerce, for the meetings of the association, was accepted and the next meeting, December 6, will be held at that place.

Several new members were introduced and the meeting closed with the serving of refreshments.

Thousands of Mexicans to Be Sent Home

Advisability of repatriating thousands of indigent Mexicans to relieve Los Angeles county's staggering charities burden is the purpose of a special trip to Mexico City to be taken by Supervisor Harry M. Baine during the next two days.

With his departure set for Tuesday, it was learned today that records show that there now are approximately 113,000 Mexican families in Los Angeles county. Several thousand reside in San Fernando valley.

Baine said he would confer with officials of the Mexican government in an effort to speed up colonization in the republic to the south. A new area recently was thrown open by the government in lower California.

"I understand that Mexican farmers do not pay a tax on their land, but only on agricultural products they sell," Baine said. "This should be an inducement for Mexicans returning to their native country, as they have the advantages of learning the American way of doing things, our customs and our machine methods."

Los Angeles county already has returned some 15,000 Mexicans to their native land at county expense. The $60 fare, secured on a trainload basis to the Mexican line, means that the case is off the county's hands, if it is a welfare case.

Not all of the 113,000 Mexican families in the county are to be considered as in need of aid, it was pointed out. Many of them are fully self-supporting.

First District Receives Lion's Share In Gasoline Tax Money

The first supervisorial district received nearly twice as much in gasoline tax funds during the last fiscal year as any other one of the five districts, it was revealed today by the report of the county road department filed with the board of supervisors.

The larger proportion received by the first district was due to the fact that the first district has by far the most number of miles of highways, and because it has more than twice as many cities as the other districts. Also, it was explained that Supervisor Thatcher had considerable more funds "left over" from the previous year. It was further learned that the first district still has a larger balance than most of the other districts, by computation.

Total allotted to the district represented by Supervisor Hugh A. Thatcher was shown to be $2,277,866, of which $575,841 was expended upon highways through the score of municipalities in the district.

The second district, lying entirely within the city of Los Angeles received $1,057,173 for 1932-33. The third (Hollywood) district was allotted $1,030,128, of which $1,028,550 was for highways through Los Angeles. Share of the fourth (West-Southwest) district was $1,141,150, of which $545,045 was expended upon highways through Beverly Hills, Compton, Gardena, Hawthorne, Inglewood, Los Angeles, Torrance and Santa Monica.

In the fifth district $1,276,663 was expended, $526,713 of that amount going for highways through Burbank, San Fernando, Los Angeles and the other five cities it encompasses.

Throughout the county 47.73 miles of new roadway was built by the construction division, the report stated. Prisoners in the eight detention camps were paid $79,328 in wages. There were a total of 1229 men in these eight camps and most of them have nothing but praise for the management and treatment afforded them," the report stated.

Allotments for this district were as follows: Fourth district: Beverly Hills, $25,089 (Beverly drive $19,089 and Canon drive $6000); Compton $7500 (Rosecrans $3000 and Compton avenue $4500); Gardena $3325 (Normandie avenue $250 and Riverside-Redondo boulevard $3075); Hawthorne $650 (Hawthorne avenue); Inglewood $3450 (Freeman avenue and Redondo boulevard); Los Angeles $396,120 (for Imperial highway $12,360, Olive street $50,000, Figueroa street $101,446, and other streets); Torrance $36,436 (Sepulveda boulevard $32,373, Torrance avenue $1263, and Torrance-Redondo boulevard $1800); Gardena also received an additional $960 allocated from second district funds. Compton received $1803 from the same source.

Due to the fact that there are no N. R. A. codes applying to engraving and photography it may be possible to make the annual for less than was planned at first. The year the editors were chosen by a different method than formerly. Each applicant was required to write an article on the Boulder dam project, and this was handed in to a group of three faculty members. Miss Burnham made the final decision. The applicants were judged by their English standing, accuracy, promptness, reliability and ability to gather news.

Mrs. Bull's sewing classes are planning to give a fashion show at the Woman's Club in about two weeks. It will probably be held during the seventh and eighth periods.

Work on the Boulder dam project has been progressing steadily and the diversion tunnels have been started. Faculty members who have charge of the work are Mr. Ties, Mr. Casey, Mr. Burchett, Mr. Waddingham, Mr. Merrill and Mr. Wright.

The Science Club recently was shown pictures of Boulder dam which were taken by Mr. Waddingham, club sponsor, on a visit there. Mr. Waddingham explained and pointed out the several points of interest as the pictures were projected on the screen.

Elmer Munson, last year's editor of the Torrance News Torch, has been chosen managing editor of "Trade Winds," the Frank Wiggins Trade School paper.

It is a credit to Torrance high to have one of its alumni win such an honor in his first year at Frank Wiggins. The paper has won many prizes in school newspaper competitions.

Elmer has also been chosen supervisor of the activities of the Radio Club. In the future he will have charge of all radio programs.

Plans for mid-year graduation were discussed by the senior class at their last class meeting. It was decided to have the print shop print graduation announcements. It was decided also that if the graduation is held in the gymnasium caps and gowns will be worn. They will not be worn if the graduation is held elsewhere.

President Francis Carnahan appointed an announcement committee. Committee members are Keeping Up With Torrance High - The first all-call this year was held Friday, November 10, in the gymnasium, in honor of Armistice Day. Floyd Covington, Negro social service worker, and executive of the Los Angeles Urban League, was the speaker of the day. The topic of his speech was, "What of Armistice Day, 1933?"

The World Friendship Club had charge of the assembly. Eldon Zanon, school president, presided, and George Kubo, president of the World Friendship Club, introduced the speaker.

Paul Gilliam, a radio singer, accompanying himself on the guitar, sang several numbers that were popular during the World War. He sang "There's a Long, Long Trail a Winding," "Belgium Rose," "God-bye, Polly," and "Keep the Home Fires Burning."

Mr. Covington was introduced next, and he addressed the student body in an inspiring talk on peace. He described the signing of the Armistice and how much it meant to the world. Mr. Covington pointed out that only by abolishment of racial prejudice could world peace ever be truly realized. "The fact that I stand before you, although different in so many respects, indicates the deep feeling that is in our hearts today," he said. He argued that races of different colors make up the world just as the American flag is made up of three different colors, red, white, and blue. Just as each one of these colors is necessary to make up our flag so is every race necessary to make up the world. "We may use only black keys or only white keys on the piano, but for harmony we use both white and black," he said.

At Mr. Covington's conclusion his address, Mr. Gilliam sang several more numbers and the assembly was dismissed.

Helen Smith has been chosen editor-in-chief, and Verna May Long, associate editor, for this year's annual. So far no other staff members have been chosen. This year the editors were chosen by a different method than formerly. Each applicant was required to write an article on the Boulder dam project, and this was handed in to a group of three faculty members. Miss Burnham made the final decision. The applicants were judged by their English standing, accuracy, promptness, reliability and ability to gather news.

SOUP AND SALAD STYLES - Soups and stews and salads are the three S's of successful winter meals. The heavier, heartier soups are really the most popular at this time of year, such as the stewlike vegetable soup. Then, too, beans (the navy and lima), split peas or lentils make a delicious soup when cooked with a ham or beef bone. Potato soup with more than a suspicion of onion is a nourishing, delicious soup, and while thinking about onion, we really should mention the French onion soup with a meat stock basis that is served in gay pottery bowls with a piece of toast which has been liberally sprinkled with cheese in the bottom of each bowl.

Vegetable soup (the way I make it) is a hodge podge of almost everything dumped unceremoniously into the soup kettle and simmered carefully, because simmer it must to bring out the best in soup. This Kitchen Soup includes the odds and ends of left-over roast or steak bones together with vegetables which include the outer stalks and leaves of celery, an onion or two and a piece of garlic - if feeling adventurous. Gravy must be added to this and increases the richness of flavor. A little rice or a few pieces of macaroni complete the picture.

Soups lead to salad because the perfect accompaniment to a rich soup is a crisp salad. Fall salad; change their costumes too, and look like a regular harvest scene, especially the up-to-the-minute raw vegetable salads. Some kind of crisp salad should make its appearance at the table at least once a day, and one of the best ways to serve such a salad is in a salad bowl where each ingredient has its share of dressing.

Variation in salad dressing will often make a salad over into an entirely different dish. Such a change is found in this cabbage salad which has that something about it that makes the family come back for more.

Sweet or Sour Cabbage - 2 tablespoons butter, 1 cabbage, finely shredded, 1/2 cup sugar, 1/2 cup water, 1/2 cup cream, sweet or sour, 2 eggs, 1 teaspoon mustard, 2 tablespoons flour, 3 to 4 tablespoons sugar, 1/2 teaspoon salt. Combine the butter, cabbage, one-half cup sugar and water and steam for 8 to 10 minutes. Beat together the cream, eggs, mustard.

The G. A. A. is planning to have a banquet some time in December. New members will be initiated then. Vee Kasper, Ruth Banks, Inez Smith, Mildred McMullan and Mildred Neelands were appointed to plan the menu and entertainment. This will be one of the G. A. A.'s largest functions this year.

Torrance high has three song leaders and three yell leaders this year. The song leaders are Virginia Bowersox, Ruth Banks, and Elsie Price, and the yell leaders are Jimmie Lee, Bill Burchett, and Eugene Walker. Elsie and Eugene have had previous experience, since they were last year's song and yell leaders. In spite of the handicap of inexperience the new leaders are doing excellently and Torrance high has a team to be proud of. They all have the pep and efficiency to work together and put the yells over.

They carry out the school colors in dress, the girls wearing gray skirts and red sweaters and caps, and the boys, gray trousers with red sweaters.

The Social Arts class gave a luncheon Tuesday, October 31. Decorations and table covers carried out the Halloween motif. Inez Smith was hostess and Virginia Nicholson, assistant hostess. Guests were Miss Parks, Mr. Andrews, Milton Everett and Eldon Zanon.

The luncheon was so successful that the class is planning to have a Thanksgiving dinner the last of this month.

The art room is being redecorated in the Mayan Indian motif by the fourth period art class under the supervision of Miss Ada Chase, art teacher. The color scheme is being carried out in orange, blue, gold and black. The door panels have been covered with paintings of Mayan gods and the cupboards are being decorated with Mayan designs. Stained glass windows will finish the decoration of the room.

The recreation periods are proving to be popular with the students and close competition is going on between the various teams. Among the girls, the Trojans lead in the seventh period class and the Tarzannas lead in the eighth period class. The Hot Shots are the leading team among the boys.

Inter-class competition will probably be started soon.

You all cheered for Recovery! who did you expect was going to do the work?

Road Roller Is Retrieved From Nigger Slough

Although a "powerful ingredient" has been removed from Nigger Slough, the gentle brook that weft over it probably will not smell any sweeter, it appeared today in running down a rumor at the Hall of Records.

Latest thing to be taken out of the well publicized slough is a county road roller. It developed, and as a result the county is $150 poorer today, plus the cost of retrieving the machine.

Several weeks ago the county supervisors advertised - through a Los Angeles legal journal - that they would sell at auction "an old road roller." As customary in such widely-publicized auctions, where only a lawyer or two reads the notices, there were no bids except the bid of the company that had sold the county a new roller, with more gadgets in the cab, and other more modern features. The supervisors accepted $150 for it.

The company's representative then went out to drag in his prize and put it out of circulation, so to speak.

At the Compton warehouse of the county road department, he was told it had been sent to the Figueroa street job, south of 190th street. The foreman on the job took him to one side of the new fill and pointed to a heap of mud and iron at the bottom and said, in effect: "There's your man." Driven too near the edge, it had "slipped."

The company then wrote the supervisors stating the county would have to repair it before the company's check would be honored. George Jones, county road commissioner, reported the cost would be about $200. As the county would still be out $50 in the deal, the road department recommended the bid be cancelled. The old roller will be junked.

You'll hear the old Scoffers Brigade saying that the recovery drive can't work, but the fellow who tries to belittle a movement like this is like the man who stands by a sinking steamer in his yacht and criticizes the way the sailors are handling the life boats.
