Lomita Showhouse Equipped With New Heating and Ventilating System

Manager J. O. Baker, of the Lomita Theatre, has news for his patrons which will be of interest on these chilly winter nights. A new heating and new non-draft ventilating system has been installed which makes the Lomita Theatre a cozy place to spend an evening.

These improvements together with others that have been installed such as new seats, screen, and the R. C. A. Victor Hi Fidelity sound apparatus makes this showhouse a thoroughly comfortable place to see a modern up-to-date show.

Big Bad Wolf

Marxmen to Impersonate Three Little Pigs In "Duck Soup"

"Who's Afraid of the Big Bad Wolf," the song that the screen cartoon, Three Little Pigs, made famous is being used in a special sequence in "Duck Soup," the Four Marx Brothers' latest Paramount picture, which comes today, Friday and Saturday to the Torrance Theatre.

Although the picture was finished some time before this song became so popular, the mad Marxmen called back their production unit and photographed an added scene in order to use this new "National Anthem."

This is believed to be one of the few times, if not the only time, that one film company has secured from another the right to use a late "hit" song.
