Lomita Couple Feted On 50th Wedding Date

The 50th anniversary of the wedding of Mr. and Mrs. James Wilkinson of 259th Place, Lomita, was celebrated on Friday at the home of their daughter, Mrs. Andrew Mackay, and son, George Wilkinson, of Los Angeles at a beautifully appointed dinner. The table service was of amber glass and a three-tier cake with tall yellow candles made an attractive table center.

The house was artistically decorated with flowers and yellow tulle and the couple received many attractive gifts and greetings from far and near. Special guests were Judge Windle of Avalon who is a nephew, and Mrs. Windle. Later in the evening Mr. and Mrs. T. Willacy and son, James Victor, and a group of old-time friends surprised the honorees and an evening of music and reminiscences passed quickly by.

Mr. and Mrs. Wilkinson, their two daughters and son, are pioneer Lomita residents, having lived in Lomita for 23 years.

New Assembly of United Artisans Has 40 Members

Officers Installed At Organization Meeting Held Monday

LOMITA.—Adding a new organization in which both men and women can take part to the other fraternal and civic groups of Lomita, Assembly No. 663, Lomita United Artisans, was launched this week with a charter list of 40 members.

An organization meeting at which officers for the new assembly were installed, was held Monday evening at the I. O. O. F. hall. A beautiful installation ceremony was exemplified by a drill team of 20 young ladies in hand-some costumes, who came from the Los Angeles Assembly to act on the work under the direction of Walter Harris, state manager.

Ben Levy, past master artisan of Los Angeles, acted as installing officer.

Officers seated at this time were Dr. M. C. Woods, master artisan; Frank Perkins, superintendent; Edgar M. Jorgenson, inspector; Earl Christy, secretary; Mrs. Ernestine, treasurer; A. Veatch, instructor; Mrs. A. Veatch, senior conductor; Ellen Farquhar, junior conductor; Carl Hansen, master of ceremonies; Art Barnett, warden.

An orchestra furnished music during the evening and a substantial chicken and noodles supper was served.

The new lodge, which is a part of an organization which has been in existence on the Pacific coast for the past 40 years, will meet on the second and fourth Monday of each month.

George Beckley, 1839 261st street, is the district duty who was instrumental in organizing the local assembly, and Roy Farquhar is the local representative.

Last Date to Register For Bond Election

Next Thursday Is Deadline For Participation In the Election March 20

February 8 is the last date when residents of this city may register for the Los Angeles school district bond election to be held March 20, 1934.

Monday morning the board of education voted to call a bond election to vote on the question of raising money to rebuild the public schools. Members of the board indicated that the proposed bond issue will be approximately for $20,000,000.

A technical advisory committee named by the board estimated that the cost for retaining and rebuilding of damaged buildings will amount to $31,000,000. The federal government has promised $10,500,000 for the rehabilitation program and this will take care of the difference between the bond issue, if it is voted, and the amount needed.

It is possible that a government grant of 80 per cent may be received, according to board officials. If the grant materialized, as a similar one did in the last school bond election, it will be only necessary to vote $15,000,000 in bonds.

Funds for immediate use to the amount of $1,115,000 out of the Reconstruction Finance Corporation emergency fund of $5,000,000 are available according to Henry S. McKay, local chairman of the RFC. However the money must be used for buildings of a permanent nature and none of it can be used for tents or bungalows.

DISTINGUISHED VISITOR

LOMITA.—Mrs. James Oliver Curwood, who is making a trip round the world on the "Francona," stopped over a day this week to visit her sister, Mrs. Yates, in Lomita.

—at Narbonne High School

Billy Buker, A9, was elected to the presidency of the Junior Associated Student Body in the election held at Narbonne, January 24. The office of vice president will be held by Mary Jo Aikman, while Betsy Ann Hunt will act as secretary-treasurer.

Billy has held every office in his class and was recently appointed to a position in the student store. Mary Jo Aikman was secretary-treasurer of the Junior A. S. B. last year, while the Betsy Ann Hunt was president of the Junior Girls' Athletic Association. Qualifications for the offices in the Junior A. S. B. are the following: Officers must be in the A9 grade, have over 85 merits in citizenship, no failures, and must have been going to Narbonne for at least one year.

The outgoing officers are: Florence Martinson, president; Viola Ferguson, vice president; and Mary Jo Aikman, secretary-treasurer. The adviser is Miss Mutch.

Though the thoughts of most Narbonne students are centered upon the senior commencement exercises, the A9s are busy with plans for their own graduation, which will also be held Friday, February 2. However, the junior high commencement is to be held in the afternoon at 2:30 o'clock. At this time 55 students will receive their certificates from Miss Griffin.

All junior high students will be admitted, but senior high members and outsiders must have special tickets. Each A9 graduate has been supplied with five of these.

A feature of the program will be speeches given by members of the graduating class. Frank Anderson will speak on "Travel"; Mary Jane Seawell on "Row, Not Drift"; and Tommy Nichols on "Class Achievement." The Girls' Glee Club will give two selections and Frances Moreno will sing a Spanish song.

Among the most prominent members of the A9 class are Florence Martinson, president of the Junior A. S. B. and a member of the Scholarship Society for six terms; Frank Anderson and Dorothy Key, who have been in the Scholarship Society five terms; and Carl Bergstrom, Lois Springman, Mildred Takaki and Henrietta Pope, all of whom have been Scholarship members several semesters.

The two A9 groups are under the sponsorship of Miss Shea and Miss J. Williams.

The A12 girls, captained by Dorothy Davis, won the senior basketball championship after a close game with the A11s, captained by Julia Gannon, Monday, January 22. The score was 24 to 23.

The girls on the A12 team are Dorothy Davis, Julia Eley, Harriett Fink, Mildred Robertson, Jessie Short and Antonia Tarico, with Madeline Mackay and June Prince as substitutes.

In previous games the A10s, captained by La Gene Haynes, lost to the B10s. The A11s were victorious in a game with the B11s, while the B12s were beaten by the A12s.

The faculty may not be as good as they used to be, but they are still good enough to hold the Vigilantes to a tie in the gym during roll call period Wednesday, January 23.

The game was featured by "spectacular" shooting and horse-play on both sides. The faculty started with a bang by chalking up 3 points in the first few minutes of play, but in the remaining period the Vigilantes pulled up even.

The faculty was represented by Mel Dornell, Mr. Vogler, Mr. Rowland, Ms. Hunt, Mr. Stump and Mr. Brauer. A few other faculty members were represented by student "seconds" who proceeded to play in the game.

Drawings Prepared For Reconstruction of Torrance School

Working drawings for the reconstruction and reinforcement of the Torrance elementary school are being prepared today by R. McC. Beaufield, structural engineer, following approval of the Los Angeles board of education to the preliminary plans the engineer submitted 10 days ago.

Cost of the work is estimated at $72,744, according to the engineer. Likewise, plans for reconstructing the Gardner high school building are being completed today in the office of another structural engineer, Blaine Noice of Los Angeles. Approval of the Los Angeles board of education was given to preliminary plans Engineer Noice submitted several days ago.

Cost of the Gardner high school work is estimated at $11,400.

ATTEND MEETING OF U. W. V. DAUGHTERS OF U. W. V.

Hints For The Amateur Gardener By Harry Nelson

Through an arrangement with Harry Nelson, Los Angeles gardening expert, the Herald will offer each week a timely article on the proper planting and cultivation of seasonal flowers. Mr. Nelson will answer all questions relating to gardening, either through this column or by direct communication. Persons who wish prompt and personal answers to their questions must enclose a stamped self-addressed envelope with their communication to insure a reply. Questions may be sent to this office to be forwarded to Mr. Nelson.

Keeping Up With Torrance High

The election of school officers for the coming term was held last week. The results are as follows: President, Kenneth Haslam; vice president, Joy Fossum; secretary, Ruth Nahmens; treasurer, Audrey Roogue; commissioner of oral arts, Ted Merrill; commissioner of athletics, Harold Watson; advertising manager, Jimmy Lee; Boys' League president, George Bradford; boys' self government, Larverne Jones; girls' self government, Alice Berger.

Begonias Easily Grown

The tuberous rooted begonias have been greatly misunderstood and even now, the average home owner will draw up visions of a green house when someone mentions the plants to him. Instead, you will find they are very easily grown, giving a blossom that reminds you of the tropics and excites the neighbor's envy. If you have any well rotted cow manure, add enough to the soil to cover it an inch or slightly better in depth. It is imperative that the manure be old and rotted. Turn over the soil until it is well mixed. Commercial growers advise the addition of fish meal before the plants have grown closely together. This would be at the rate of a handful to two feet of row.

The tubers are rounded on one side and have a slight depression on the other. The depression should be planted facing up. About February or March, small red sprouts will appear on the bulb, around this depression. If not planted before they should be put in the soil. Plant them about 12 inches apart if you are planning on making a solid bed of them. Be sure they are not in the full sun and that winds cannot hit them. They want either partial or full shade. A fine place for them is under a pine or cedar tree that comes close to the ground.

First Blooms Fall—Add the manure as directed above, and when the plants have started spreading out a bit, add the fish meal or a solution of household ammonia at the rate of one teaspoon of the ammonia to two quarts of water. After fertilizing, always water again. When the first blooms open up, they may drop off, but this may be due to cold, the wind striking them, or a natural desire of the plant to get rid of them. At any rate, if and when such a thing happens, do not be alarmed. Check on the way any breeze get to them, be sure they are not standing in water, and that they are unobscured, as I do, until the first good bloom opens. If you do not get the begonia-craze then, you never will.

Beautiful Types—These tuberous rooted begonias may be had in several types. They come in separate colors, including salmon, rose, pink, white, scarlet, crimson, orange and yellow in the double and frilled types. They also have a large color range in the singles. The frilled type is more of a single or semi-double with the edges of the petals frilled. The crested type is described in its title, as is the single. The frimbriata is very similar to the double hollyhock. It is double, has frilled edges and a row of collar formed by the outside row of petals.

Propagation is by seed or cuttings. Cuttings are made after the bulb puts out the sprouts, making about three cuts to a bulb. It seems a shame to cut up the bulbs, and the new varieties are generally within reason. One bulb will last a good many years. Propagation by seed is rather difficult for the amateur, although seed houses will supply directions if the grower wants to chance the results. In my estimation it is better to add a few bulbs each year and let someone else struggle with the seedlings.

An exhibition of art work done by Cornelius Peet, Torrance high student, is in the school library now. There are drawings of landscapes and animals from nature, photographs and imagination.

The class which has been reading "Les Miserables" in English, has made a number of interesting projects, which are on display in the main hall. Several dolls have been dressed to represent Cosette, Fantine, French nuns, and the costumes worn at that time. One of the most interesting is a miniature horse to represent the inn where Jean Valjean found Cosette. Joan Klink made a miniature French house like those in the poor district of Paris. Among other things are a guillotine, a cannon, handmade by Walter Bunje, and an execution block made by David Williams.

Torrance high has a large number of athletes who are receiving varsity letters this year. Included in the list is Milton Everett, a four-year letterman, who was made all Marine League and Honorary Southern California center, Boys' receiving two letters are Emilio Adamoli, Theodore Adzovich, Hito Hatada, Carl Paxman and Guy Rowell. Those receiving one letter are Bill Acree, John Elder, Jim Grubbs, Kenneth Haslam, Bert Hoffman, Jack Javens, Garland Johnson, Homer Kirkpatrick, Johnny McFadden, Roger McGinnis, Cletus McLean, John Nady, Masaki Shimatsu, Hal Smith and Harold Watson.

Highest Point In 20 Months Is Reached In Western Business

Ending the most eventful year in a generation with a decided upturn, the Bank of America index of Far Western Business registered 64.7 (preliminary) in December, the highest point reached in the past 20 months.

The December index number represents an advance of 10.9 points over the record low of March, when the index mirrored conditions which accompanied the nationwide moratorium by slipping to 53.8. A quick recovery was recorded with the figure of 64.5 in April, after which the index climbed steadily through the harvest season and closed the year with a vigorous upturn, reflecting a brighter outlook throughout the Pacific and Rocky Mountain states.

Based on carloadings, bank debits and power production, the Bank of America index is weighted and adjusted for seasonal fluctuations and trend. It covers California, Washington, Oregon, Nevada, Idaho, Utah and Arizona. A review of conditions in industries whose operations influence the factors which determine the index figures discloses a substantial improvement in business throughout the western area. Virtually every section reports increases in the number of persons employed and a decided change in general business, with actual profits supplanting month-by-month deficits.

Bank deposits in the Twelfth Federal Reserve district are making consistent increases over the corresponding periods of a year ago and higher agricultural and commodity prices are returning a fair degree of prosperity to individuals and entire communities. A revival in the gigantic California wine industry already has contributed importantly to the welfare of the West with a volume of many million dollars over a few months' time. Similarly, the reopening of the breweries and the consequent development of widespread activity in barley and hops has aided the residents of the West.

Meanwhile the extensive and varied mining industry, the highly important petroleum industry, shipping, lumber, general construction and a score of other great industries are becoming stable and showing a new vigor that promises better times in 1934.

Presenting to Southern California housewives the opportunity to share in advantageous purchases made before the recent rising trend in prices, Safeway and Piggly Wiggly stores are conducting a mammoth Canned Foods Sale this week-end in all Southern California stores.

To assist the homemakers in making full selections of their needs, the meat department is also featuring a full line of fresh and smoked meats at money-saving prices, along with values being offered in the produce departments owned and operated by Safeway and Piggly Wiggly. That these values cannot be duplicated in the future, due to rising costs, is the opinion expressed by the manufacturers and producers from whom Safeway and Piggly Wiggly made the purchases for this canned foods event. Every Safeway and Piggly Wiggly manager, according to word received from that organization, is expecting his store to outsell all others in Southern California during this sale, and invites everyone around his store to come in and take advantage of the values being offered.
