Big Time Eastern Crews Meet Western Rowers At Long Beach

One of America's oldest and most thrilling sports... eight-oared crew racing... comes to California again this year with a regatta of national importance scheduled for the Long Beach marine stadium June 28 and 29. U. C. L. A., one of the newest entrants into big time collegiate rowing circles, is acting as host for the event and has arranged to entertain the University of Pennsylvania, Syracuse, University of Wisconsin, University of California and University of Washington, all outstanding oarsmen in their various sections. Aiding U. C. L. A. in staging the event are the Los Angeles and the Long Beach Junior Chambers of Commerce.

Entrants in the coming regatta are to participate in the world-famous Poughkeepsie regatta on June 18, and immediately after it, will entrain for Southern California, arriving here in time for five days of practice before the event. There will be two days of racing, with two of the six crews to be eliminated on the first day and the remaining four to fight it out in the finals. Several rowing events for Southern California rowing clubs, special diving and other water exhibitions and all the pageantry which traditionally makes a rowing regatta have been arranged.

To accommodate the expected crowd of more than 25,000 spectators, the Long Beach city authorities are rebuilding the grand stand which is unique in rowing circles as it allows a full view of the 2000-meter course, and enlarging the automobile parking place, as well as adding thousands of bleacher seats. Dan Hay, of Los Angeles, chairman of the first regatta which was staged in 1933, and Reg F. Dupuy, of Long Beach, are co-chairmen of the general arrangements committee responsible for the event.

Who Wants a Good Gopher Catcher?

Old Mom Tabbyeat, 1732 Cabrillo avenue, mother of the kitten which has been fostered by a Boston mail carrier, is the champion gopher catcher of Torrance. Monday morning she brought in the record for this season, four gophers, three of them captured in the space of one hour. Old Mom announces that she has one kitten left, which she has been training to be her equal in the gopher game, which she will give away free to anyone whose lawn is infested with the pests. "Gophers turn up their noses at a trap," said Mom, "but they turn up their toes when a cat gets after them, or else they leave the premises. Who wants my Little Poot?"

place, as well as adding thousands of bleacher seats.

Birds Defeat Fashion Pants Friday Night

Big Joe Casser Pitches Team to Victory Over San Pedro Stars

Joe Casser, pre-advertised as the biggest if not the best softball pitcher in the Southland, pitched his first game for the Bluebirds Friday night. Joe fully comes up to advance notices as to bigness. He looms up like a derelict on the mound and makes the other boys look tiny.

Poncho Fabregat had to reach high for some of the big boys' upshoots and plans to work out with him between games to help him get the ball down to where he can grab it. Joe had plenty of power behind his pitches and struck out six men.

The Birds got away to a good start with three runs in the first inning. They added two in the fourth and one in the sixth, defeating the Fashion Pants boys of San Pedro, 6-4. The Fashion Pants scored two in the third and two more in the sixth.

Salvo Luevano chucked for the visitors and had a slight edge on Joe with eight strikeouts. Both pitchers gave up three passes.

Police Officer Bill Evans scared players on both sides out of a projected set to when he walked out on the field where Van Vliet and the Pants' shortstop were going round each other like a pair of banty roosters. It looked like a session with both teams mixing in, but Bill gave the boys one look at his star and the trouble subsided.

In the ninth the Pants objected to a decision at the plate and second base that robbed them of a run and a chance to tie the score and another near battle had to be headed off.

The game was a filler for the Birds who drew a bye in the league schedule. Since announcing the list of games for the remainder of the season some more changes have been made. According to the last decision Los Angeles will play the Birds here next Tuesday night. They will play at home on the following Friday and abroad on June 25.

League Officials Study Neva Case

Report has it that a closed meeting of the National League board of managers will be held tonight to inquire into the signing of Louie Neva with the Huntington Beach Oilers this week. Neva pitched the Oilers to their first victory over Santa Ana, the league leaders, Tuesday night. Last year when he jumped to Visalia in the middle of the last half of the pennant chase, leaving the Bluebirds stranded, it was announced that Neva was through so far as the National League was concerned and would not be permitted to play in that circuit for an indefinite period.

Now Louie scoffs at rules and it looks as if the old smoothie will get back in the fold. He has played fast and loose with various managers this spring, dangling his services before their noses only to snatch them away. Unless Louie can be made to see that a contract is a contract there will shortly be no organized soft ball, for all the prima donnas of the leagues will be imitating him.

Great Fight Card Friday Night At Westside L. B. Auditorium

The fight fans of Long Beach and vicinity are in for a fisticuff treat when Matchmaker Eric Lawson makes his debut at the Westside auditorium, 645 West Anaheim street, Long Beach, next Friday night. It is a "welcome home to the navy" night at the Westside with sailors featuring in the double main event and in the special event.

Matchmaker Eric Lawson, acting under the supervision of the Westside's new manager, Johnny Borges, is making his Westside debut with a main event that is bound to stand the fans in the aisles when he takes the 16-year-old Wilmington schoolboy, Pancho (Baby Face) Ramirez, out of the semi-windup class and bills him with the star sailor fighter, Alex Hadrian, in this Friday's main event. Hadrian, it might be stated, is leading the All-Navy popularity contest. Ramirez, a mere babe in arms as far as years is concerned, is a veteran of over 50 fights and recently at Jefferies Barn in Burbank he gave the Golden Glove champion, Gale Harrington, a good shellacking in their featured spot, and then turned right around and whipped Nat Mills in the main event at Huntington Park. Ramirez has lost one battle in his last 15 fights.

Francis Marke, Golden Glove champion, visited the Westside Tuesday. Francis brought his stablemate with him and modestly admits Powell is a better fighter than he is, rather a significant statement for the garrulous sob Marke to make. In meeting Sailor Hipps, who has fought and beaten some of the best heavyweights in Southern California, including Steve Ludman, Powell will have to get "high behind." This fight between Powell and Hipps may steal the show. In the special event, Elmer Lewis, of Redondo Beach, will fight Sailor Pollard. Lewis has been training intensively at Redondo Beach during the past several weeks and reports himself in the pink of condition. In meeting Sailor Pollard, Lewis will have to extend himself to win.

In all there will be eight fights, the preliminaries being of the same high standard as set by the double main event and the special. The preliminaries will begin at 8:30.

Last Inning Rally Fades Lomita Team

Walt Morris's Lomita Merchants lost a tight game to the Jadrans Sunday, 5-2, at Lomita. The locals had the game won until the ninth when seven hits and four runs were tallied by the visitors. Patlanco pitched for Lomita and was touched for 12. The Jadrans completed two double plays during the game which was a thriller up to the fatal ninth.
