

Please, Mr. Santa Claus

Dresses and Shoes Seem to Be Most Important Items in Last Batch of Mail

Mail for Santa Claus took a decided drop last week. Only 16 letters were in the mailbox at the igloo when he gathered them up last Saturday, but they made up for lack of numbers by their earnest pleas for remembrance. He will be around again this week to get his mail, and perhaps next Saturday the box will be filled again, as there are surely more than 59 children in Torrance who want Santa to visit them on Christmas.

Statues Wear Bonnets
PARIS. (U.P.)—In many French churches the people cover the heads of saints' statues with little bonnets. These hats follow the style of those of the province the church is in, and are changed each year on the saint's day.
