THE NEW COUNCIL and the WATER ISSUE

How Do Your Favorite Candidates For the City Council Stand On This Vital Matter?

An Editorial

By GROVER C. WHYTE

While the election of the proper type of citizens to serve on the city council is always important, the choice of councilmen which the voters of Torrance favor at next Monday's election is particularly important because of the decisions they will be called upon to make on the municipal water issue.

Recent news reports from Washington indicate that another appropriation will be made for the administration before the present Congress adjourns. Communications received recently by Mayor Ludlow from Senator Hiram W. Johnson, as well as letters from Congressman Charles J. Colden, relative to the Torrance water loan both refer to another two billion dollar appropriation which is to be made to the PWA.

While the city's application for a loan and grant from the PWA distinctly calls for the construction of a new system, it is feared by many who have fought a tireless battle for a new municipal water system that a council which has not the best interests of the entire citizenry at heart may be inclined to unduly favor the present private utility.

The Herald has never opposed the purchase of the present water system providing it could be purchased at a price NOT IN EXCESS of its value to the city. A fair, yes indeed a liberal, price was put upon the old system by a recognized firm of engineers which was employed by the city to appraise the present system.

Three-Day 'Kitcheneering' Course Is to Be Given Here Beginning Wed., April 25

'Kitcheneering' will be here for three days beginning Wednesday, April 25.

This information, received officially today from Julia Lee Wright, director of the Safeway Stores Homemakers' Bureau, brought gladness to the hearts of local housewives who are familiar with the work being done by the headquarters of the bureau in Oakland to lighten and make more enjoyable the work of women in the home.

'Kitcheneering,' which has been defined by Mrs. Wright as "making an art out of the science of cooking," is recognized by home economics experts throughout the nation as the most informative and complete cooking school ever to be presented, and is now in its third year, with the 1934 edition scheduled to be presented here by Mrs. Edith Jeffers Freeman, who will act as Mrs. Wright's personal representative following extensive preparations in the famous bureau kitchen.

Hundreds of local women are expected to attend the course, which will be held at the Safeway Stores headquarters in Torrance. Through the weekly radio broadcasts throughout the area west of the Mississippi conducted by Mrs. Wright personally, through leaflets and bulletins posted regularly on the bureau's bulletin board in Safeway Stores and Piggly Wiggly, or through correspondence which the bureau invites.

Even these women, it is pointed out, may not know that the Homemakers' Bureau is one of the largest organizations of its kind in the country, with a permanent staff of 22 trained women whose sole duties involve service to every customer of Safeway Stores and Piggly Wiggly, and that hundreds of thousands of letters asking information on every type of women's household problems are answered authoritatively each year by bureau experts.

One of the most monumental tasks ever accomplished by the bureau was the publication, last year, of one of the most comprehensive cook books ever offered to housewives. This book, 'Recipes You'll Enjoy,' was personally edited by Julia Lee Wright, and thousands of copies were sold throughout the nation, exciting highest praise alike from users and home economics experts.

With such a strong staff to assist her, and with the many advantages placed at her disposal, experts agree that Mrs. Wright might well be expected to work wonders. Experts also agree that she has done so. And local housewives who are so fortunate as to be able to attend the three-day course in 'Kitcheneering' on Wednesday, April 25, Thursday, April 26, and Friday, April 27, at the Torrance Theatre are expected to agree with them.

Officials in charge of 'Kitcheneering' locally announce that doors will open each day promptly at one o'clock, and that Mrs. Edith Jeffers Freeman will begin each day's course at 2 o'clock.

DOPESTERS BEFUDDLED AS TO MONDAY'S ELECTION RESULTS

Record List of Candidates and Lack of Bitter Campaigning Leaves Outcome Very Much in Doubt; Polls Open 6 A. M. to 7 P. M.

When Torrance voters go to the polls next Monday, April 9, to elect three councilmen, a city clerk, and a city treasurer, they will find a choice of 20 candidates on the ballot, from which they may select five. Never before in the history of this municipality has there been such an abundance of citizens seeking public office, and for this reason local political dopesters are reluctant to even hazard a guess as to the outcome.

While many candidates are confidently predicting victory, there are others who admit some doubt, and still others who predict their own defeat. While the candidates and their friends have conducted a vigorous campaign, many of them making house-to-house canvasses, there has been little "mud-slinging," and the campaign has been conducted in a clean, sportsmanlike manner.

Two propositions also appear on the ballot: the first relative to permitting $25 per month salaries for members of the city council, and the second authorizing the creation of a civil service board for control of police and fire departments. Little discussion is heard concerning the councilmanic salary issue, and little opposition has been voiced against the civil service proposition. The consensus of opinion seems to be favorable to putting firemen and policemen under civil service in order to remove them from political influence. Members of the civil service board will serve without pay.

As there are 3419 registered voters eligible to vote at the Monday election, and the 12 regular precincts have been consolidated into seven polling places, voters are urged to cast their ballots as early as possible in order to avoid congestion.

The complete list of candidates, text of the two propositions, and polling places, are printed in another column of this issue.

In accordance with its usual custom, the Herald will gladly answer telephone calls and announce returns as soon as they are available after the polls close at 7 p. m. Monday.

Night Police Halt Career of Young Offenders

Two 12-year-old Lads Taken In Charge Here Early This Morning

Night city police took charge of two bold young lads about 2:50 this morning, whom they discovered attempting to get gas at the SHeM service station without the assistance of the attendant who had gone off duty a couple of hours before.

At the police station, the lads gave their names as Daniel McMullen, age 12, residing at 2923 1/2 Garcia avenue, and Richard Beard, age 12, of 3250 Glenhurst, Los Angeles. They were driving a Marmon 8, registered to Miss Frances M. Kaufman, 245 East 25th street, Los Angeles, alleged to have been stolen from Sunset boulevard.

One of the lads was found to be in possession of a loaded .32 Smith & Wesson revolver. They had "ditched" school yesterday, and according to Los Angeles and Glendale police had been there by which they obtained funds. Their gas ran out when they reached Torrance and in attempting to help themselves here they attracted the notice of the night police.

The boys were held in the matron's quarters at the city police station pending the arrival of Glendale officers who were notified to take charge of them. Miss Kaufman, said to be visiting friends in Hollywood, had not been located this morning to be notified of the whereabouts of her car.

Child Injured At Moneta In Auto Accident

Little Louise Fales, age 4 years, is lying very seriously hurt at the Jared Sidney Torrance Memorial hospital, as the result of an accident in which the child was knocked down by an automobile yesterday morning while playing near her home, 174th and Western avenues, Moneta.

A. W. Woleben, 102 South Detroit, Los Angeles, driver of the car, was exonerated from blame in the matter on the testimony of witnesses who declared that the child ran into the side of the car. Two fractured vertebrae in the neck were disclosed by X-ray pictures taken at the hospital, and other possible injuries are suspected. The child was unconscious when brought to the hospital and is still in a very serious condition. She is the daughter of Mrs. M. C. Fales.

Woleben is president of the Authorized Chevrolet Dealers of Long Beach and is in business in that city at Atlantic and Anaheim boulevard. He expressed great regret over the tragic accident, which he said affected him all the more deeply because he had recently been bereaved in the death of his own child.
