MANY CHANGES IN NEW FORD

Beautiful Lines Strike Modern Note

With new, modernistic body lines, the 1935 Ford V-8 is now on display in all dealers' show-rooms. Embodied in the new car are over a hundred changes in body and chassis design, bringing to the motoring public a new conception of the meaning of style, comfort, performance and safety in personal transportation, according to Ira E. Groves, manager of the Long Beach branch of the Ford Motor Company.

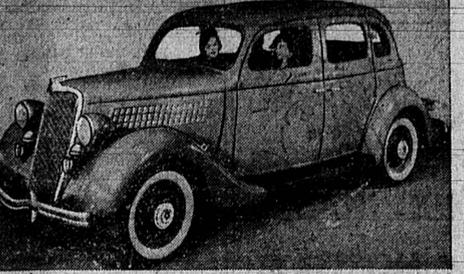

Passenger riding comfort is one of the major features of the 1935 models. All passengers now ride between the axles, the rear seat having been moved eight and a half inches forward of its position in the former model. Seats are considerably wider—from four to five and a half inches in the front seats, and an inch and a half in the rear seats.

A decidedly larger car in looks, the 1935 V-8 actually is longer, measured from bumper to bumper. If not only looks the part but is a big car, almost eight inches longer than last year's, with a spring base (the distance from center to center of springs) of 123 inches. The same time retaining the original 112-inch wheelbase gives the new car all the maneuverability of the former models.

Two body types are introduced in the 1935 Ford series. The nine De Luxe models are the Tudor Sedan and Fordor Sedan, Tudor and Fordor "touring" sedans with trunks, 3- and 5-window coupes, roadster, cabriolet and phaeton. In the Standard models are the 5-window business coupe, Tudor Sedan and Fordor Sedan.

The 1935 V-8 engine has been materially improved with a new type of crankcase ventilation. Ease of control has been increased by numerous chassis improvements.

1935 FORD V-8 DISPLAYED

STREAMLINED YET NOT EXTREME, the 1935 Ford V-8 Fordor Sedan is distinguished by its aero-dynamic lines.

ROOMINESS is a feature of the new Ford. Three passengers can ride in front or back seats with equal comfort.

BEAUTY, a characteristic of all the 1935 Ford models, is exemplified here in the 3-window De Luxe Coupe.

Smith's Store At Lomita Will Be Remodeled

Fine New Confectionery Is Planned For Main Business Corner

Charles M. Smith's place of business at the corner of Normandie avenue and Lomita boulevard, Lomita, the central business intersection, was closed yesterday to remain so until after Mr. Smith has completed a remodeling job which will give him one of the most modern, attractive stores in this section.

A new fountain, new booths, new fixtures and decorations are among the extensive changes planned by Mr. Smith, the work to begin some time this month. Changes in the building are made necessary by the prospect of early work on widening Lomita boulevard, which is one of the county road projects slated for completion.

Mr. Smith, who is commander of the Port S. Crossland Post, American Legion, was at home on Wednesday, looking after business affairs, but is still receiving treatment at the Veterans hospital at Sawtelle, where he has been recovering from the effects of an automobile accident some time ago in which he suffered a broken arm. His arm has healed but Mr. Smith was found to be in need of further medical treatment and will remain at the hospital for some time.
