

Extra Force of Clerks Mail Out Safeway Recipes

Have you one of those holiday hang-overs? Not the alcoholic kind, but a sort of "Even if it's good, I wouldn't like it" attitude toward food.

Whether you have or not, it's reasonably safe to bet that the other members of the family are thus afflicted. The answer, of course, is that too many rich foods always prove their own undoing. Appetites automatically put on the brakes.

And when that happens, according to Julia Lee Wright, director of the Homemakers' Bureau of Safeway Stores, it's time for the old-fashioned, simple foods. Spitt-peas, lentils, beans and rice become the order of the day.

"Besides being good cookery," says Mrs. Wright, in a national magazine article, "these simple foods are also sound economy. Rice, in particular, is one of the few foods now selling below its price at this time last year."

"If your family insists on something new," she continued, "you can give them a pleasant surprise by serving some of the combinations which have been discovered recently, or by reviving the old favorites long forgotten in the modern shuffle. The names themselves are interesting, such as 'Hopping John'—a memorable dish of black-eyed beans and rice."

"Forepine Meat Balls"—so named because the rice, in cooking, pops out of the meat in much the same fashion as a porcupine's quills; "Bean Cheese Roast"—a dish which, even experts can rarely tell from meat loaf, and many other main courses which will help to awaken those jaded appetites."

Mrs. Wright is said to have received thousands of requests for recipes for these items as a result of the magazine article. Extra gifts have been employed at the Oakland, California, headquarters of the Homemakers' Bureau in order to handle the rush.

The story of science never grows old. Every day discoveries are made which change our knowledge of the world about us and make its story fresh and new. Books for boys and girls on many different scientific subjects may be found at your County Library branch.

Boys' Home Book of Science and

Construction by Morgan

Chapters on chemistry, mechanics, liquids, sound, heat, light, electricity, and meteorology.

Secret of Everyday Things

by Fabre

Amazing facts about familiar things: cotton, matches, bread, air, sound, etc.

Astronomy For Young Folks

by Lewis

Stars For Sam by Reed

Story of Earth and Sky

by Washburne

Inside the Atom

by Langdon-Davies

Boys Interested in Chemistry and physics will find this book full of information and easy to understand.

Book of Electricity by Parker

Boys' Playbook of Chemistry

by Yates

Earth For Sam by Reed

The history of the earth beginning with the time "when the earth was hot."

World's Moods by Heile

Why we have night and day, summer and winter, rain, snow, the rainbow, wind and storms are interestingly explained in this little book.

Seeing the Unseen by Diraell

Young Folk's Book of Invention

by Bridges

What Makes the Wheels Go

Round by Beck

MICHIGAN

The official picnic reunion for the Michlanders is announced by President E. E. Haring of the Michigan Association of Southern California. It will be held in Sycamore Grove Park, Los Angeles, all day Wednesday, January 16.

RRA Votes to Dispense With Turkey Dinner

Money Devoted to Purchase of Reloading Outfit For Club Use

The members of the Revolver and Rifle Association will not have their turkey dinner after all. When the members congregated for their monthly meeting last Monday night, the assembly voted to dispense with the dinner, and to call upon the members of the team which lost the match held in December to contribute $1 each toward the purchase of the reloading outfit owned by Everett Taveland and Major Harry Boynton, which they have been using for the benefit of the club. The balance of the purchase price was made up out of the club treasury.

All officers were declared vacant at this meeting, and Captain John Stroh was re-elected president. Major Tiffany was chosen secretary-treasurer, replacing Dick Lockwood.

Beginning February 5, the regular monthly meetings will be held on the first Tuesday each month instead of on the first Monday.

Work on the city-owned revolver and rifle range near the brickyard, began in earnest this week, and the club expects to have it in shape for use within a short time.

Keeping Up With Torrance High

By RUTH GRANGER

The executive committee of the World Friendship Club held a meeting and nominated the following for next semester's officers: President, Takashi Kiyomura and Rufi Granger; vice president, Julian Isen and Jayne Traller; secretary, Bobby Elder; Lucile Stroh and Laurella Lancaster; treasurer, Walter Bunje; Philip Jensen and Mildred Hitchcock; reporter, Juanita Mullen. The annual club banquet was discussed and also the mass meeting to be held at Gardena high school in the near future.

The G. A. A. is preparing a play for the purpose of raising money for their annual banquet, which will be given some time in May and will be for all members and past presidents. At the G. A. A. meeting held last Monday, last semester's president, Margaret Kibbe, was presented with a gold past president's pin, a pin which is presented to every outgoing president.

Miss Bent, physical education instructor, has been absent from school since Christmas vacation because of an illness. All the students hope Miss Bent will quickly recover.

Torrance high's four championship teams have brought four trophies to the school collection. Football, track, tennis and golf are the sports for which trophies will be awarded. A large silver football, mounted on a pedestal, is the type of trophy that will be selected for the football championship.

At a staff meeting held recently it was decided that the theme for the 1935 annual Torch be "Sports." Because of the good showing Torrance has made in sports and in honor of the championship football, golf, tennis and track teams the theme "Sports" was selected.

Bird Dog Field Trials Held Soon

MEXICO, Mo. (U.P.)—The national championship bird dog field trials of the Associated Amateur Field Trials Clubs of America will be held early in 1935 over a 16,000-acre course, located in Audrain, Boone and Randolph counties. The meet is tentatively set for the week of February 4 to 10.

The Missouri State Field Trials Association will be host to the 15th annual field trials of the national body. The event each year attracts the premier entries in the bird dog fraternity. Many of the best of quality owners are valued as "thousands of dollars."

The Missouri State Game and Fish Department co-operated in establishing the 16,000-acre preserve in protecting birds already there and in planting new stock. More than 40 coveys are known to be in the tri-county tract.

Raymond Hoagland, New York City, is president and P. K. Phillips, Cincinnati, is secretary-treasurer. Prize awards will total hundreds of dollars.

The Torrance Merchants, a new bowling team which has just been organized, is looking for a sponsor, and any sport-minded individual or firm who wants to back a first-class outfit is invited to get in touch with "Tilly" otherwise known as Alver Johnson at the Safeway Market on Carson street.

The team is made up of Carl Quayle, captain; Ivan Ekersley, Stanley Sach, Stanley Gilbert and Johnson, and the boys moved up into the top spot in their league Monday night at the Compton alleys. Three teams were tied for the lead but the Torrance boys out-bowled their rivals and are now sitting pretty.

Winners of Major Golf Championships in 1934 were: U. S. Open—Olin Dutra. U. S. Amateur—W. Lawson Little. British Open—Henry Cotton. British Amateur—W. Lawson Little. U. S. Women's—Miss Virginia Van Wie. British Women's—Mrs. Andrew Holm. P. G. A.—Paul Runyan. Walker Cup—United States (beat Great Britain). Curtis Cup—United States women (beat Great Britain).

"Canadian Open—Tommy Armour. Canadian Amateur—Albert C. "Scotty" Campbell. Wonder how many of these great golf champions' will still be at the top when 1935 rolls out?

Robert Lewis, a sophomore at Carleton College, Minn. should have been listed with the champs of 1934. Lewis was playing golf on a Northfield, Minn. course when he saw a flock of ducks heading low over the No. 1 fairway. He quickly cast aside a driver and took a spoon. With a terrific swing he drove the ball. One of the ducks faltered in the air and collapsed with a broken neck. Lewis entertained his opponents at a duck dinner. (He brought the duck).

The San Pedro Merchants, who until recently were the Torrance Merchants are playing a great game of baseball for the Harbor people. Last Sunday they played Alhambra at Alhambra and next Sunday will entertain in San Diego where they will try and wallop the border city boys. Manager Tommy Bowker of Torrance says the team is going great guns and has only lost four games in the last thirty-five starts. Not bad when it is considered that Tommy Bowker's team is playing the best semi-pro teams in Southern California. It is too bad that the citizens of Torrance will not help support this winning team and get them back to Torrance as a home team again. The advertising that the city would get out of the deal would well pay its expenses. And would also give en-

SPORT PAGE

SPORT SHOTS

By Bob Lewellen

Notre Dame not only plays the hardest football schedule of any University in the United States, but has also an outstanding inter-sectional basketball schedule that will rate among the hardest of the 1934-1935 season. Coach George Keogan has had a schedule of twenty-one games. The schedule sends the Irish against five Big Ten conference teams in seven games and other rivals from coast to coast. A few contests with respected smaller rivals will intersperse the more important games. Stanford opened the inter-sectional schedule, at Notre Dame. Then the Irish went east for two games, meeting New York University at Madison Square Gardens and Holy Cross at Boston, Pittsburgh, which beat the Irish last year plays a home-and-home series, Stanford, New York University, Holy Cross, Illinois, Washington of St. Louis and St. Ambrose are new teams on the Notre Dame schedule. Big Ten conference rivals of the Irish include Northwestern, Minnesota, Chicago, Ohio State and Illinois. A tough schedule for any school, but the Irish of South Bend like them tough in an sport.

Uncle Sam is looking for two sharpshooters for Fort Thomas, Sharpshooters to be placed on duty at Fort Thomas, Kentucky. This does not sound like news, because Uncle Sam is always looking for a sharpshooter. But these two favored nephews need know nothing about guns, however. Their prowess must be demonstrated with a basketball ball.

Sergeant J. J. Francis, who is going recruiting duty at Huntington, W. Va., says that the Fort Thomas commandant has scheduled an intra-regimental basketball tourney and is looking for good material.

Torrance high school has had a few sets of brothers to win letters in various sports but does not even "show" with Moline high school of Moline, Illinois. Moline high has had thirty-four sets of brothers who have won letters in football. Records show that few of the brother combinations worked together on the football squad, but younger brother has followed older brother in most cases, frequently eclipsing the feats of the first in the family to achieve gridiron fame. Topping the list of brothers who have played football at Moline high is the Axene family, which sent Oscar, Clarence, Harry and Everett to the high school. Each won letters on the gridiron. If this is not enough proof to show that athletics must run in the family here are 3 sets of brothers who play hockey for the St. Louis Flyers, professional team. Harry and Joe Matte; Tom and Pete Palangio; Reg and Paddy Padden are all stars of the team.

Winners of Major Golf Championships in 1934 were: U. S. Open—Olin Dutra. U. S. Amateur—W. Lawson Little. British Open—Henry Cotton. British Amateur—W. Lawson Little. U. S. Women's—Miss Virginia Van Wie. British Women's—Mrs. Andrew Holm. P. G. A.—Paul Runyan. Walker Cup—United States (beat Great Britain). Curtis Cup—United States women (beat Great Britain).

"Canadian Open—Tommy Armour. Canadian Amateur—Albert C. "Scotty" Campbell. Wonder how many of these great golf champions' will still be at the top when 1935 rolls out?

Robert Lewis, a sophomore at Carleton College, Minn. should have been listed with the champs of 1934. Lewis was playing golf on a Northfield, Minn. course when he saw a flock of ducks heading low over the No. 1 fairway. He quickly cast aside a driver and took a spoon. With a terrific swing he drove the ball. One of the ducks faltered in the air and collapsed with a broken neck. Lewis entertained his opponents at a duck dinner. (He brought the duck).

The San Pedro Merchants, who until recently were the Torrance Merchants are playing a great game of baseball for the Harbor people. Last Sunday they played Alhambra at Alhambra and next Sunday will entertain in San Diego where they will try and wallop the border city boys. Manager Tommy Bowker of Torrance says the team is going great guns and has only lost four games in the last thirty-five starts. Not bad when it is considered that Tommy Bowker's team is playing the best semi-pro teams in Southern California. It is too bad that the citizens of Torrance will not help support this winning team and get them back to Torrance as a home team again. The advertising that the city would get out of the deal would well pay its expenses. And would also give en-

Leuzinger Licks Tartar Casaba Tossers Friday

Captain Montague Is High Point Man For Varsity; Madore Lighties' Star

The Leuzinger casaba tossers swamped Torrance cagers in the first Marine League game since

MARINE LEAGUE BASKETBALL

Final games in the Marine League basketball schedule will be played tomorrow.

TORRANCE at Narbonne. Gardena at Leuzinger. North Long Beach at El Segundo.

the holidays, played at Torrance high last Friday. The varsity squad were well tanned to the tune of 46 to 31, thanks to Moan and Jewell who opened up in the second half to deluge the Tartars with basket shots from all angles. Moan was responsible for 20 of the Leuzinger points, Jewell counted 11. Montague was high man for Torrance with a total of 12.

Starting line-ups were:

Torrance: Montague RF, Williams RG, Isbell C, Bunje LG, Kiyomura LF. Leuzinger: Moan RF, Wierk RG, Jewell C, Bradford LG, Babson LF.

Torrance showed considerable improvement in this game but will have to do a lot better if they are to win any starts before the series closes.

The Tartar lightweights also went down before the Leuzinger quint, but lost by a closer margin, 24-10.

Line-ups:

Torrance: Madore RF, Turner RG, Powell C, McHenry LG, Hull LF. Leuzinger: Nix RF, Chase RG, Phipps C, Hamilton LG, Delaney LF.

Louis Madore was the star of this game with his tireless, whirlwind playing. Although Louis only counted two points, he was a big feature in holding down the opponents. Hull was high-point man for the Tartars.

The Torrance varsity lost to North Long Beach Tuesday afternoon, 20-17, up to the last five minutes. In the closing moments Jordan counted seven points to win, 24-20. The lightweights also lost to Jordan, 27-10, who scored their first victory of the season.

LONDON. (U.P.)—Imagine—if you can—a fighter bigger than Primo Carnera!

He's taller and he's got bigger feet, too.

His name is Micky Callaghan, and his manager, like handlers all the world over, dreams big things for his out-sized pug.

Here are Micky's measurements: Height, 6 feet 8 inches. Weight, 234 pounds. Boots, size 16 1/2.

Micky's socks are made specially for him, and cost about $1.87. His boxing gloves have to be made specially, too.

Size runs in Micky's family. His 15-year-old sister is five feet, ten inches. His father was a wrestler.

By the way, Micky hasn't stopped growing yet. He has put on 14 pounds in the last six months.

entertainment for users of our local Municipal Park.

Hal Forney, popular outfielder of the Torrance Bluebirds and former baseball pitcher of U. S. C. is managing and pitching for a team in Santa Monica. Forney recently pitched a one run game against the champion San Pedro Merchants. (Formerly the Torrance Merchants). Oh yes, Forney in the eighth inning, won his own game, with a home run.

TOUGHEST JOB OF COACHING IS UP TO ALLISON

California Post Rated One of Hardest Grid Assignments

By HENRY SUPER

United Press Staff Correspondent BERKELEY, Calif. (U.P.)—One of the toughest jobs in the sporting world—that's the title they

we find "Stub" head coach here at Berkeley and from indications he should be a success. Picturesque Career Allison has had a picturesque career. He knows football from the proverbial A to Z; is respected by the players and teaches the game in a manner that shows he enjoys it.

When Ingram resigned they did not look far beyond the Berkeley campus for a successor. In fact a precedent for speed was set for a selection of a new coach at such a major university.

Ingram's resignation came shortly after the close of the season. There was no speculation as to who would succeed him because everything came off so fast. It was a cut and dried affair that saw Allison named head coach a few hours after Ingram quit.

All For Allison Students, players and alumni are for Allison. A man in Berkeley learned his football in the middle west. In his wanderings he played under the Notre Dame system, coached the Warner system and worked with teams using the old punt formation.

He doesn't believe in any particular style of play. He looks at his material and then selects an attack and defense to suit it. Allison began his football career at St. Cloud high school in Minnesota. He played tackle and full-back. He next went to Carleton College at Northfield, Minnesota, where he played end. He was mentioned on several All-America teams and is still remembered as one of the best ends seen in that section of the country.

From college he went to Fort Snelling where he captained the army post football team. Then to Fort Dodge and next to France. When he returned to the United States, Allison went to the University of Washington as an assistant coach. In 1922 he moved to South Dakota and coached there until 1927 when he moved to Wisconsin where he served four years, two as an end coach and two years as backfield mentor. His work drew the attention of Ingram at California and he moved West to become line coach for the Golden Bears.

he have given the football coaching assignment at the University of California.

Yet Leonard B. "Stub" Allison, an assistant-coach, stepped into it without a murmur almost before the ink had dried on the resignation of William "Navy Bill" Ingram.

The job is tough because the student body and alumni want a winning team. "Nibs" Price found the going was tough when California elevens lost too many games so he resigned.

Replaced Price Ingram replaced Price and this season predicted big things for the Golden Bears. When the team failed to deliver runnings were heard—even early in the season—from the alumni and some students.

When California came back and beat U. S. C. and gave Stanford a mighty tussle, the rumblings died down. But Ingram, who had said he would soon enter business, resigned anyway. Whether the showing of his 1934 eleven had anything to do with his resignation is not known. Anyway, today

When he returned to the United States, Allison went to the University of Washington as an assistant coach. In 1922 he moved to South Dakota and coached there until 1927 when he moved to Wisconsin where he served four years, two as an end coach and two years as backfield mentor. His work drew the attention of Ingram at California and he moved West to become line coach for the Golden Bears.

When he returned to the United States, Allison went to the University of Washington as an assistant coach. In 1922 he moved to South Dakota and coached there until 1927 when he moved to Wisconsin where he served four years, two as an end coach and two years as backfield mentor. His work drew the attention of Ingram at California and he moved West to become line coach for the Golden Bears.

When he returned to the United States, Allison went to the University of Washington as an assistant coach. In 1922 he moved to South Dakota and coached there until 1927 when he moved to Wisconsin where he served four years, two as an end coach and two years as backfield mentor. His work drew the attention of Ingram at California and he moved West to become line coach for the Golden Bears.

When he returned to the United States, Allison went to the University of Washington as an assistant coach. In 1922 he moved to South Dakota and coached there until 1927 when he moved to Wisconsin where he served four years, two as an end coach and two years as backfield mentor. His work drew the attention of Ingram at California and he moved West to become line coach for the Golden Bears.

When he returned to the United States, Allison went to the University of Washington as an assistant coach. In 1922 he moved to South Dakota and coached there until 1927 when he moved to Wisconsin where he served four years, two as an end coach and two years as backfield mentor. His work drew the attention of Ingram at California and he moved West to become line coach for the Golden Bears.

When he returned to the United States, Allison went to the University of Washington as an assistant coach. In 1922 he moved to South Dakota and coached there until 1927 when he moved to Wisconsin where he served four years, two as an end coach and two years as backfield mentor. His work drew the attention of Ingram at California and he moved West to become line coach for the Golden Bears.

When he returned to the United States, Allison went to the University of Washington as an assistant coach. In 1922 he moved to South Dakota and coached there until 1927 when he moved to Wisconsin where he served four years, two as an end coach and two years as backfield mentor. His work drew the attention of Ingram at California and he moved West to become line coach for the Golden Bears.

When he returned to the United States, Allison went to the University of Washington as an assistant coach. In 1922 he moved to South Dakota and coached there until 1927 when he moved to Wisconsin where he served four years, two as an end coach and two years as backfield mentor. His work drew the attention of Ingram at California and he moved West to become line coach for the Golden Bears.

When he returned to the United States, Allison went to the University of Washington as an assistant coach. In 1922 he moved to South Dakota and coached there until 1927 when he moved to Wisconsin where he served four years, two as an end coach and two years as backfield mentor. His work drew the attention of Ingram at California and he moved West to become line coach for the Golden Bears.

When he returned to the United States, Allison went to the University of Washington as an assistant coach. In 1922 he moved to South Dakota and coached there until 1927 when he moved to Wisconsin where he served four years, two as an end coach and two years as backfield mentor. His work drew the attention of Ingram at California and he moved West to become line coach for the Golden Bears.

When he returned to the United States, Allison went to the University of Washington as an assistant coach. In 1922 he moved to South Dakota and coached there until 1927 when he moved to Wisconsin where he served four years, two as an end coach and two years as backfield mentor. His work drew the attention of Ingram at California and he moved West to become line coach for the Golden Bears.

When he returned to the United States, Allison went to the University of Washington as an assistant coach. In 1922 he moved to South Dakota and coached there until 1927 when he moved to Wisconsin where he served four years, two as an end coach and two years as backfield mentor. His work drew the attention of Ingram at California and he moved West to become line coach for the Golden Bears.

When he returned to the United States, Allison went to the University of Washington as an assistant coach. In 1922 he moved to South Dakota and coached there until 1927 when he moved to Wisconsin where he served four years, two as an end coach and two years as backfield mentor. His work drew the attention of Ingram at California and he moved West to become line coach for the Golden Bears.

When he returned to the United States, Allison went to the University of Washington as an assistant coach. In 1922 he moved to South Dakota and coached there until 1927 when he moved to Wisconsin where he served four years, two as an end coach and two years as backfield mentor. His work drew the attention of Ingram at California and he moved West to become line coach for the Golden Bears.

When he returned to the United States, Allison went to the University of Washington as an assistant coach. In 1922 he moved to South Dakota and coached there until 1927 when he moved to Wisconsin where he served four years, two as an end coach and two years as backfield mentor. His work drew the attention of Ingram at California and he moved West to become line coach for the Golden Bears.

When he returned to the United States, Allison went to the University of Washington as an assistant coach. In 1922 he moved to South Dakota and coached there until 1927 when he moved to Wisconsin where he served four years, two as an end coach and two years as backfield mentor. His work drew the attention of Ingram at California and he moved West to become line coach for the Golden Bears.

When he returned to the United States, Allison went to the University of Washington as an assistant coach. In 1922 he moved to South Dakota and coached there until 1927 when he moved to Wisconsin where he served four years, two as an end coach and two years as backfield mentor. His work drew the attention of Ingram at California and he moved West to become line coach for the Golden Bears.

When he returned to the United States, Allison went to the University of Washington as an assistant coach. In 1922 he moved to South Dakota and coached there until 1927 when he moved to Wisconsin where he served four years, two as an end coach and two years as backfield mentor. His work drew the attention of Ingram at California and he moved West to become line coach for the Golden Bears.

When he returned to the United States, Allison went to the University of Washington as an assistant coach. In 1922 he moved to South Dakota and coached there until 1927 when he moved to Wisconsin where he served four years, two as an end coach and two years as backfield mentor. His work drew the attention of Ingram at California and he moved West to become line coach for the Golden Bears.

When he returned to the United States, Allison went to the University of Washington as an assistant coach. In 1922 he moved to South Dakota and coached there until 1927 when he moved to Wisconsin where he served four years, two as an end coach and two years as backfield mentor. His work drew the attention of Ingram at California and he moved West to become line coach for the Golden Bears.

When he returned to the United States, Allison went to the University of Washington as an assistant coach. In 1922 he moved to South Dakota and coached there until 1927 when he moved to Wisconsin where he served four years, two as an end coach and two years as backfield mentor. His work drew the attention of Ingram at California and he moved West to become line coach for the Golden Bears.

When he returned to the United States, Allison went to the University of Washington as an assistant coach. In 1922 he moved to South Dakota and coached there until 1927 when he moved to Wisconsin where he served four years, two as an end coach and two years as backfield mentor. His work drew the attention of Ingram at California and he moved West to become line coach for the Golden Bears.

When he returned to the United States, Allison went to the University of Washington as an assistant coach. In 1922 he moved to South Dakota and coached there until 1927 when he moved to Wisconsin where he served four years, two as an end coach and two years as backfield mentor. His work drew the attention of Ingram at California and he moved West to become line coach for the Golden Bears.

When he returned to the United States, Allison went to the University of Washington as an assistant coach. In 1922 he moved to South Dakota and coached there until 1927 when he moved to Wisconsin where he served four years, two as an end coach and two years as backfield mentor. His work drew the attention of Ingram at California and he moved West to become line coach for the Golden Bears.

When he returned to the United States, Allison went to the University of Washington as an assistant coach. In 1922 he moved to South Dakota and coached there until 1927 when he moved to Wisconsin where he served four years, two as an end coach and two years as backfield mentor. His work drew the attention of Ingram at California and he moved West to become line coach for the Golden Bears.

When he returned to the United States, Allison went to the University of Washington as an assistant coach. In 1922 he moved to South Dakota and coached there until 1927 when he moved to Wisconsin where he served four years, two as an end coach and two years as backfield mentor. His work drew the attention of Ingram at California and he moved West to become line coach for the Golden Bears.

When he returned to the United States, Allison went to the University of Washington as an assistant coach. In 1922 he moved to South Dakota and coached there until 1927 when he moved to Wisconsin where he served four years, two as an end coach and two years as backfield mentor. His work drew the attention of Ingram at California and he moved West to become line coach for the Golden Bears.

When he returned to the United States, Allison went to the University of Washington as an assistant coach. In 1922 he moved to South Dakota and coached there until 1927 when he moved to Wisconsin where he served four years, two as an end coach and two years as backfield mentor. His work drew the attention of Ingram at California and he moved West to become line coach for the Golden Bears.

When he returned to the United States, Allison went to the University of Washington as an assistant coach. In 1922 he moved to South Dakota and coached there until 1927 when he moved to Wisconsin where he served four years, two as an end coach and two years as backfield mentor. His work drew the attention of Ingram at California and he moved West to become line coach for the Golden Bears.

When he returned to the United States, Allison went to the University of Washington as an assistant coach. In 1922 he moved to South Dakota and coached there until 1927 when he moved to Wisconsin where he served four years, two as an end coach and two years as backfield mentor. His work drew the attention of Ingram at California and he moved West to become line coach for the Golden Bears.

When he returned to the United States, Allison went to the University of Washington as an assistant coach. In 1922 he moved to South Dakota and coached there until 1927 when he moved to Wisconsin where he served four years, two as an end coach and two years as backfield mentor. His work drew the attention of Ingram at California and he moved West to become line coach for the Golden Bears.

When he returned to the United States, Allison went to the University of Washington as an assistant coach. In 1922 he moved to South Dakota and coached there until 1927 when he moved to Wisconsin where he served four years, two as an end coach and two years as backfield mentor. His work drew the attention of Ingram at California and he moved West to become line coach for the Golden Bears.

MY WIFE HAD A FLAT TIRE IN THE RAIN and am I in the dog house!

"I knew my tires were getting thin and smooth, but I wanted to wait until spring to replace them. Now I can see that I was wrong."

NEW FIRESTONE TIRES COST NO MORE THAN ORDINARY TIRES!

Too many car owners are "waiting until spring" when the need for new tires is