

"C. C.'s" Climax

Wreckers Remove Scene of Oil Promotion History

From the windows of his roadside cafe at 20718 South Main street, Charles M. King observes the removal of a building across the street that was the scene of great activity 12 years ago. And as he watches, a shadowy figure of a debonair, cane-twirling, $1 cigar-smoking character who made promotion history in Southern California crosses his vision.

It is the late C. C. Julian and the building being wrecked is the main office of the Julian Petroleum Company at East Road and Main street.

"Yep, they're tearing it down," he said this week, "but I'll never forget the days in 1924 when it was jammed with workers and investors clamored outside for a chance to give 'C.C.' their money. I was one of them and I had about $1150 worth of Julian stock when she crashed in '28."

"A Great Guy"
The Sunset Petroleum Company, successor of the S. C. Lewis organization which took over the Julian remains, is wrecking the stucco-brick structure that once was framed in a beautifully landscaped plot. The Sunset does not plan to erect another building in its place at the present time.
Cafeman King, who has maintained his stand for 14 years, pays high tribute to Julian, who committed suicide in faraway Shanghai about three years ago. Remembering when that oil promoter had the Southland buzzing with his tales of great profits to be made overnight, King said that he still can hear the dapper, half-fellow, speculator's shout: "Hello, everybody!" as he entered the main door to his office building and the answering response from those in the building: "Hello, C. C.!"

"He was a great guy, that Julian. Why, he used to transport all his employees out from Los Angeles in fine, big buses and would bring some of his biggest prospects over here for a cup of coffee. He never would eat much, though, always said he didn't want to miss enjoying a big dinner in town."

Boom Never Arrived
Wreckers working on the one-story building and its mezzanine floor found that it was laid with five-eighths-inch hardwood flooring thruout and was in excep-

Mattress Works Opens On Border

Former Oklahoman Has Modern Plant

Grady Vaughn, formerly of Oklahoma, has opened the Torrance Mattress Works at 1511 Border avenue where he is specializing in remodeling, re-conditioning old mattresses, installing new covers and re-cleaning the cotton filling. He is believed the only worker in this line in the Harbor district and comes from Carnegie, Okla., where he had a similar plant for five years. He has installed the latest machinery at his Torrance shop.

Married, Grady lives at 1908 Cabrillo avenue. He is a brother-in-law of E. A. McBride, who is one of Harvel Guttenfelder's veteran workers. McBride was instrumental in getting Grady to locate here where the field for this type of mattress work is virtually free from competition.

Candy

Store Opens At 1323 Sartori In Whitney's

As the only business selling home-made candies in Torrance, Garcelon's Candy Kitchen opened last week at 1323 Sartori avenue. The business is located in Whitney's Bakery where it has a complete display of hand-dipped chocolates, fudges, caramels and other sweets.

From Harbor City Mrs. C. M. Garcelon, whose husband has been a candy maker for years, is the operator of the new business. Mrs. Garcelon plans to stock a full line of candy which is made of only the finest quality materials it is possible to buy. The Garcelons maintain a candy store at 1718 Redondo-Wilmington boulevard, in Harbor City, and are opening the new store in an attempt to find a greater market for their products.

Club Picks Sponsor; Plans Activities

Because of the recent death of Mrs. Granger, the World Friendship Club has been left without a sponsor until Mr. Barrow was chosen to fill the vacancy this week. He will have various members of the high school faculty acting with him as co-sponsors of the group.

A series of panel discussions with students from China, Korea, Japan and Russia have been planned. The club also plans to have well-informed speakers from the faculties of U. C. L. A. and U. S. C.

Guests at the meeting Tuesday were Bob Bischoff and Florence Buchman, president and vice president of the Torrance Forum.

tionally good condition considering its 11-year period of abandonment. It was only occupied less than a year and with Julian's crash in 1928 was allowed to stand unattended. The workers had to tear away the mass of dead shrubbery that covered the front but did not hide the gaping, broken windows or the general air of time's wastage.

"Julian had between 60 and 65 workers there when he was in his prime and selling two shares of preferred and one of common for $100," the cafeman says.

"He was the world's greatest promoter and when we got word that his stock was down to $150 I sank another hundred with him. Then the stock was taken off the market. I was going to stop payment on my check for that amount at my Torrance bank but some friends said that I would be foolish as taking the stock off the market meant it was due for a boom. But that never came."

Without a Country
The office structure cost around $30,000 to build. It had the finest equipment money could buy in 1924 and in and around it thronged hordes of prospective investors, eager for a chance to see the man who was to make them rich and who, in reality, left them with nothing but worthless paper.

"That Julian—he could sell Eskimos palm-leaf fans! Seemed like he was always happy, always wanted to do something for the other fellow," King sums up that character who died a man without a country in a cheap hotel in the European sector of Shanghai.

"We liked him and believed his stories. There'll never be another like him and in some ways we're glad of that—but he was a fellow you'd never forget."

NEW GARB

The G. A. A. girls at the High school are now wearing new sweaters. They are good-looking gray ones with crimson letters.

Identification Cards Required

Will Speed Service At Lomita Postoffice

In order to speed up delivery of mail and packages and at the same time eliminate much of the confusion bound to result when the office undertakes to assist registrations under the Social Security Act, Postmaster Birds Padlock at Lomita is asking all who get general delivery mail in Lomita to write their names on cards.

Every member of the family who obtains mail is to be listed on these cards which are to be submitted every time a request is made for mail. Thus the postal clerks can quickly determine the correct spelling of the name and give faster service. Patrons will make and keep the cards.

Postoffice Aids Social Security Registration

ment by Nov. 21, the postmaster will fill in the blank lines showing the city, county, state, employer's name and address and endorse it as "information not furnished."

These forms will then be sent from Torrance to the San Francisco postal headquarters. So far as the postal service is concerned, the work incident to the preparation of Form SS-4 will be completed on Nov. 21. City delivery carriers and clerks at the General Delivery window will be ready to serve all employers.

To Estimate Workers
The next duty in connection with the Social Security Act for the postal workers will be the distribution to every employee of Form SS-5, Application for Account Number. These forms will be ordered by Postmaster Conner as soon as he can estimate the number of workers in the city. These will be available for use by Nov. 24.

Every employee coming within the scope of the Federal old age benefit provisions of the Social Security Act is to be supplied with the form SS-5 and an informational service circular. Deliveries are to be made through the regular postal services. Postmaster Conner will also make suitable provision whereby any person calling at the post office for an application form may be supplied.

It should be noted that any person desiring to file an application shall be accorded that privilege, whether he is employed or not, or whether he comes within the exempted classifications, except that applications will not be accepted from persons who are now 65 years of age or who will reach 65 before Jan. 1, 1937.

Personal Contact
The instructions provide for the employee's form SS-5 to the postmaster in any of several ways: by the employer, by any labor organization; handed to a letter carrier; delivered to the postmaster, or mailed in a sealed envelope without postage, addressed to the postmaster. The instructions also point out that the completed form must be returned through one of these sources not later than Dec. 5.

Postmaster Conner plans to contact local employers of large numbers of help in person, according to his instructions. Every cooperation will be accorded business firms by the local post-office with the assurance that all necessary assistance will be courteously given.

New National Park In State

"Joshua Tree National Monument" is the newest unit in the national park chain. The government has set aside 825,340 acres in Riverside and San Bernardino counties situated in the southern part of the Mojave desert for this park which will preserve forests of the rare Joshua and many other beautiful desert flowers.

The new monument is rich in scientific, scenic and recreational values. From Inspiration Point in San Bernardino mountains, one of the most extensive desert views in the West is obtainable.

Garden Output Doubled
SEBASTOPOL, Calif. (U.P.)—Mrs. Joseph L'Escome has a garden that boasts this year of two crops of cantaloupes, cabbage 14 inches in diameter, sunflowers 46 inches in circumference and one and three-quarter pound to matones.

Vet Leaders Rally to Red Cross

From the leaders of veterans' organizations has come emphatic support for the annual Roll Call (membership) drive by the American Red Cross that began yesterday and will continue until Thanksgiving Day. Locally, the drive is being directed from the Red Cross headquarters in the Chamber of Commerce, with Mrs. Flora McDonald of 1951 Carson street, in charge.

Said Harry W. Colmery, national commander of the American Legion: "Men and women of the Legion who first knew the ministrations of the Red Cross during the days of 1917 and 1918 have stood shoulder to shoulder with this patriotic organization in its work for 18 years."

Declared Mrs. Oscar W. Hahn, national president of the Legion Auxiliary: "The Auxiliary, composed of 425,000 mothers, wives, sisters and daughters of World War veterans, has always been a loyal supporter of the Red Cross."

Asserted Bernard W. Kearney, national commander of the Veterans of Foreign Wars: "Since World War days members of our organization have had great affection for the Red Cross, which so ably served them in cantons, in hospitals and in convalescence while they were overseas."

New Chevrolets Get Much Attention At Thompson's

Introduction of the 1937 Chevrolets at Ed Thompson's agency on Cabrillo avenue Saturday was the signal for one of the greatest receptions that enterprising dealer has ever enjoyed. The five new models on display were the center of attraction for several hundred residents of this city and vicinity and the observation has already resulted in a sizable sheaf of orders.

J. B. Sullivan, well-known along Torrance auto row, is now associated with Thompson in demonstrating the improved General Motors product—and with Sullivan, demonstrating results in sales.

It's a mistaken idea that, because IRIS stands for top quality, everyone can't afford it. Actually, the cost between Iris Canned Foods and commonplace canned foods is very little. Yet the difference in taste is very big.
