CHRISTIAN SCIENCE CHURCHES
"God" is the subject of the Lesson-Sermon on Sunday in all branches of The Mother Church, The First Church of Christ, Scientist, in Boston, Massachusetts. The Golden Text is from the Psalms: "God is the Lord, which hath shewed us light by the Bible citations in the Lesson-Sermon are the words of Isaiah: "We have a strong city; salvation will God appoint for walls and bulwarks. . . Thou wilt keep him in perfect peace, whose mind is stayed on thee, because he trusteth in thee." The words of James are included also: "Draw nigh to God, and he will draw nigh to you. Cleanse your hands, ye sinners; and purify your hearts, ye double minded. . . Humble yourselves in the sight of the Lord, and he shall lift you up." The words of Habakkuk are presented also: "Art thou not from everlasting, O Lord my God, mine Holy One? . . . Thou art of purer eyes than to behold evil, and canst not look on iniquity." A passage from "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures," by Mary Baker Eddy, states: "Christian Science reveals God, not as the author of sin, sickness, and death, but as divine Principle, Supreme Being, Mind, exempt from all evil."

Special New Year Service at Church Planned for Jan. 3

A New Year's service entitled "The Convocation of the Centuries" will be presented at the Christian church next Sunday evening, Jan. 3, beginning at 7 o'clock. Lighted candles and a high gilded cross against a gray background will serve as appropriate setting for the special service. Father Time representing the old year and a tiny child arrayed in white representing the New Year, will be the principal characters.

The songs to be used in connection with the pageant are "The Morning Light Is Breaking," "In the Cross of Christ I Glory," "The Holy City," "O Zion, Hasten," "The Lower Lights Be Burning" and "Lead Kindly Light." The picture of the gold cross, the blue-lighted background and the burning candle make a beautiful background for the New Year's service. All are cordially invited to attend.

California Oil Output Curbed

SAN FRANCISCO, Dec. 30. (U.P.)—In an effort to conserve California's oil resources, for home use and national defense purposes, the 18 major oil producing companies of California have voluntarily accepted the principle of production control.

As a result of the decision, it is estimated that the state's oil resources, which at the present rate of production would be exhausted within the next 16 years, can be made to extend over a period of 21 years or more.

In the plans for production and sale which have been accepted by these major companies virtually all exportation is eliminated. It was conceded that foreign shipments from the Pacific coast, which in the past have gone largely to Japan, China, Australia, and New Zealand, already have fallen off to a large extent as the result of production in the East Indies and other Oriental regions. No effort will be made to recapture these markets.

Latest Oil Estimates
In addition, shipment of California oil to the eastern seaboard, either for domestic consumption or export, will not be encouraged, for the reason that it is not considered justifiable to exhaust the local resources in an effort to compete with the cheaper pipe line and transportation facilities of the Oklahoma and Texas fields.

When the invalidation of the NRA eliminated all enforced restriction, California producers immediately engaged in unlimited competition that showed quickly that only two results would follow. The first was the speedy exhaustion of the state's oil resources and second the lowering of prices by over-production.

The latest scientific estimates of California's oil fields place their maximum productivity at 8,000,000,000 barrels. To date 4,673,000,000 barrels have been extracted, or approximately 58 percent of all the oil resources.

One Wild Hour Results in Four Law Infractions

The next report of Cooper's alleged "wild hour" came to deputy sheriffs at Sub-station No. 3. A Cadillac sedan, registered to Parks was found abandoned about two miles from where it had struck a Plymouth coach driven by Lee Riffe, 1460 12th street, Manhattan Beach.

Riffe, in the Hawthorne hospital with two fractured ribs and numerous cuts and bruises, told sheriff's officers that the Cadillac had side-swiped his machine at 162nd and Firmona streets and then sped on without stopping. The abandoned car, only slightly damaged by the impact with Riffe's auto, was found at Rosecrans and Ewen avenues.

The brief case and the money it contained was missing as was the revolver and box of shells. Deputy sheriffs assert they learned that Cooper had been rooming at 4607 West 159th street, but that he had not been there since Christmas.

Retail Report For '35 Shows Business Gain

State and Local Figures Told by U. S. Census Bureau This Week

Final figures for retail sales in California in 1935, presented in an area report released this week by William L. Austin, director of the Bureau of the Census, show total sales of $2,329,009,000 in 100,874 stores. The state shows an increase of 38 percent over the sales of 1933.

With 140 stores listed for this city, Torrance merchants reported a sales volume of $2,045,000 for 1935.

The state's 100,874 stores are shown to have employed during 1935 an average of 262,524 full-time and part-time employees.

Torrance business concerns employed 224 during that year.

The total state payroll is listed at $273,641,000, an increase of 27 percent, according to the Department of Commerce figures.

For Torrance, the 1935 payroll to store workers, including the 140 proprietors, is estimated at $624,000.

The ten counties showing the largest volume of retail sales (in order of their sales: Los Angeles, San Francisco, Alameda, San Diego, Sacramento, Fresno, Santa Clara, San Bernardino, San Joaquin and Kern) include 78 percent of the stores and account for 79 percent of the total sales in the state.

L. A. Leads in Sales

Two of the counties, Los Angeles and San Francisco, accounted for 51 percent of the stores and 53 percent of the total sales for the state as a whole. Los Angeles city led in retail sales by cities, its 23,471 stores reporting $593,902,000 in sales.

Long Beach, the report states, had 3,054 stores with a total sales of $63,181,000 and Pasadena had 1,568 stores with sales of $45,003,000. In the remainder of this county there were 12,948 additional stores with sales of $237,323,000.

Local Report Itemized

In the "break-down" report on retail firms in the various California cities, Torrance embraced the following firms and sales totals: Forty-three of this city's 140 stores dispensed food valued at $114,900; 23 were eating and drinking places doing $102,000 in business; three general merchandise firms accounted for $136,000; seven apparel shops transacted $92,000 in sales; 12 firms in the automotive group did $340,000 worth of business.

Torrance's 15 filling stations accounted for $99,000 of this city's retail sales volume; eight furniture, household and radio shops did $129,000; five lumber, building and hardware concerns transacted sales totalling $86,000; five drug stores reported $78,000, and 19 other concerns, including liquor stores, were reported to have done $69,000 in retail sales during 1935.

FHA Stimulates Better Housing

Local Bureau Functions at Chamber Office

The total amount of business reported to Nov. 1, by private financial institutions in Southern California district, under provisions of the National Housing Act is as follows: Number of insured modernization loans, 10,600; dollar volume insured modernization loans, $33,600,000 (above figures are approximate).

Number of home mortgages accepted for insurance, 11,295; dollar volume, $46,432,734.

Of great interest has been the activity of the Federal Housing Administration which has stimulated a flow of mortgage money enabling new construction throughout this region, and this unquestionably has attracted people to the purchase of homes.

The Federal Housing Administration has also given to the real estate business a great deal of publicity for the purpose of making the people property conscious. The desire to own a home is strong and has been encouraged by the FHA.

A better housing information and assistance office is located at the Chamber of Commerce where complete and accurate information in regard to FHA Insured Mortgage System is available to any person interested in building, purchasing, refinancing or repairing a home. The office is open daily except Saturday from 9 a. m. to 5 p. m. All FHA literature and pamphlets are available for free distribution.
