Amendments to License Law Under Study

At the insistence of Councilman George V. Powell, the city council followed its adjournment meeting late Tuesday afternoon with a special conference over the subject of revising the city license ordinance. Several business men had demanded in the past several weeks that the license fees be either reduced or placed on a sliding scale depending on the volume of business or number of workers employed. A report is expected to be made on the "committee of the whole council's" findings next Tuesday night.

SHOP TALK By RAY BROOKS

Continued from Page 1-B come out with sore backs and feet and no fish because they "never did find that creek George told them about." Many take their vacations and stay home. Others go off to a place they never heard of and don't like because they planned the party three years ago with some other people. Quite a few vacationists go to see the "folks" three thousand miles away, spend all their time driving and come home wishing they had invited the "folks" out to see them instead. Almost all Summer Vacationists spend more money than they really can afford and on returning are forced to stall the landlord or the grocer till another pay comes around.

But to the contrary and notwithstanding, VACATIONS are good for the soul. They are the safety valve for tired human emotions. But like all life's hopes and promises the real fun of a Vacation is not the actual spending of it but the anticipation.
