The FOOD PRIMER

C stands for Cheese For Carrots and Cherries. For Chicken, Crab Apples And Choice Huckleberries.

BY BETTY BARCLAY

Now that the preserving season is approaching, these "C" foods are in the limelight. Some women are planning to stock their emergency shelves with glass jars of cherries, chicken and crab apples. Others, who do not put up their own goodies each year, are purchasing supplies for next winter—feeling that prices are very likely to continue climbing.

When stocking your preserves chest, remember to purchase foods packed in containers of glass—or to use new glass containers if you are stockpiling home-made delicacies. These jars are transparent—and through their sparkling sides you can see the quality of the foods.

Food packers are constantly improving the shape and appearance of these glass containers, so that now, shelves of cheese, cherries and crab apples are exceedingly attractive.

If you would like to try some home-made goodies this season, here are a couple of easy-to-follow recipes:

Carrots
Grade for size, color and degree of ripeness. Wash thoroughly.

Use vegetable brush. Scraper or pare to remove skins. Precook 5 minutes. Pack into clean glass jars. Add level teaspoonful salt if desired to each quart jar. Fill to within one-half inch of top with water in which vegetable was pre-cooked or boiling water. Put on cap, screwing hand firmly tight. Process in pressure cooker, 35 minutes at 15 pounds; or in water bath, 120 minutes; or in oven, 150 minutes at 250 degrees.

Cherries—Cold Pack. Wash, stem, pit if desired. Pack into clean glass jars. Fill to within 1 1/2 inches of top with No. 2 or No. 3 syrup (see below) depending on the sweetness of the cherries. Put on cap, screwing hand firmly tight. Process in water bath 20 minutes; or in oven 68 minutes at 250 degrees; or in pressure cooker 10 minutes at 5 pounds.

Syrups: No. 2 Medium syrup. Use two parts water to one part of sugar and bring to a boil. No. 3 heavy syrup. Use one part of water to one part of sugar and bring to a boil. Choose your syrup, according to the sweetness of the cherries.

At 12:12 this morning he was found drunk again on the sidewalk in front of a Carson street cafe and causing a disturbance. When he refused to go home Webb was re-arrested and jailed.

This morning he was given
