County Teachers' Institute Trips Begin Saturday

Oil refineries, dairies, newspaper plants and other plants and business establishments will be visited by the 4,000 elementary and secondary teachers of Los Angeles county during the annual institute which opens Oct. 9, next Saturday.

Teachers will be required to attend the institute field trips, mostly at the end of the week, as a part of their "instruction in the art of teaching," as required under the state's school code. The first session will be held in the Philharmonic auditorium, at which A. R. Clifton, county school superintendent, will preside.

One City Session

In contrast to the county's institute, which will not end until December, the teachers' institute for the Los Angeles city school system will consist of but one session this year, according to Vierling Kersey, superintendent of schools.

The county's institute will consist of round table discussions, demonstrations, laboratory workshop meetings and symposiums in addition to the usual lectures, Clifton said. Field trips will also include steel mills, bakeries, meat packing plants, glass and clay making plants, telephone exchanges, the planetarium at Griffith Park, Los Angeles harbor, the county jail, courtroom and hospitals.

H.S. Teacher Wins Overcoat at Store

James H. Burchett, 1411 Amalapa avenue is the proud owner of a new overcoat, valued at $35, which was awarded by the Star Department Store last Saturday evening. Burchett is an instructor in drafting at the Torrance high school.

This Saturday at 8 p. m., the Star will give away a virgin wool blanket, it is announced by J. G. Koch, proprietor of the store.

The Spirit of California Press Is Unselfish Public Service

GOVERNOR MERRIAM'S PROCLAMATION

"The newspapers have been referred to as the backbone of American freedom.

"For a century and a half the publishers of our newspapers have been the guardians of the freedom of opinion of our people, the right of which is guaranteed to them under the first amendment to the constitution of the United States.

"The responsibilities of expressing public opinion in the local community, state and nation, have been borne with honor by the newspaper publishers. California may well regard with pride the inspiration and leadership which has been her heritage from her newspaper editors, dating back to the gold rush days of '49.

"As gatherers, disseminators and interpreters of the news of rural areas and cities, the state and nation, our newspapers wield a formidable and significant influence upon public opinion.

"In recognition of the faithful performance of their duty to the public they serve now, therefore, I, Frank F. Merriam, governor of California, do hereby proclaim the period beginning with the 4th day of October, one thousand nine hundred thirty-seven as 'Newspaper Week' within the limits of this commonwealth and urge all of our people to give consideration to the unswerving service given California by her newspapers."
