Day Nursery to Benefit From Musicales in Civic Auditorium Next Tuesday Evening, Aug. 9

A mid-summer musicale featuring some exceptionally gifted artists followed by a dance recital by the Abbott Starlets will be presented as a benefit program for the Children's Day Nursery operated by Mrs. Lenora Ralston at 1333 El Prado next Tuesday night, Aug. 9, at the Civic Auditorium starting at 8 o'clock.

Tickets, priced at 25 cents for adults and students with free admission for children under 10, are now available at the Chamber of Commerce and The Herald office.

Mrs. Ralston has operated the Day Nursery here for the past two years and her services have been welcomed by parents who have found her pre-kindergarten center a safe place to leave their children for periods ranging from an hour to several days. Her exceptionally low rates for child care have not permitted Mrs. Ralston to extend the facilities of the nursery as she wished and the benefit musicale is being given to assist her in this respect.

George Luddecke, vocal instructor and noted concert singer, will present two of his pupils on the program—Carl Robertson, baritone, who appeared with the Ford symphony in San Diego several years ago, and Nadine Farrar, soprano, whose work before clubs on the concert stage has won her much praise. Robertson will sing Toselli's "Serenade," "Mush-On" by Rhys-Herbert and the popular "Green Eyed Dragon" by Charles Miss Farrar will be heard in Orditi's "Il Baccio," the popular "Two Hearts in Waltz Time" and other numbers.

Betty Mae Weaver, violinist who is being coached by Luddecke, will play Neven's "Mighty Lak a Rose," Englemann's "Song of Love" and Brahms' Hungarian Dance No. 5. The Abbott Starlets will conclude the program with a half-hour presentation of dance routines by a number of talented children who are receiving instruction at the local Abbott branch studio in the American Legion clubhouse every Wednesday afternoon.

Chinese Garden Party Marks 8th Birthday For Nancy Ann

A Chinese garden party to which some 26 diminutive misses and masters were invited served to celebrate the eighth birthday of Nancy Ann Whyte, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Grover C. Whyte at the family home, 1620 Post avenue, Tuesday afternoon.

The long table at which the usual party menu was served was gaily decorated in Chinese blue and red, place cards were Chinese ladies in jinkitshas with tiny parasols. Favors for the girls were folding Chinese fans and for the boys Chinese puzzles. Chinese lanterns hung in the shrubbery added to the atmosphere.

Invited to the party were Janet Lowellen, Melissa Strasser, Marilyn and Janice Haarer, Hazel Davis, Jane Scott, Beverly Jean Hopkins, Patty Sue Allen, Dolores Ubricht, Juanita Ritchie, Ann Gallimore, Marjorie Roos, Patsy McCall, Eleanor Salm, Carol Ann Venable, Marilyn Lee, Teala Billini, Karmee Dolley, Bobby Warner, Ray Grant Young, Richard Mitchell, Lewis Kelsey, Fred and Billy Carstens, Janet Arthur of San Jose, Jean Louise Woodburn of Los Angeles, and Sally Joe Haverstock of Compton.
