MISS ESTHER M. CARLSON
Funeral rites for Miss Esther M. Carlson of 1722 Andreeo avenue, who passed away Dec. 1 at Torrance Memorial hospital, were conducted last Saturday at Stone and Myers chapel. Rev. Frank Meehling, pastor of the Lutheran church, officiated and interment was in Inglewood Park cemetery.

Miss Carlson, who was 24 years of age, was a native of Salt Lake City, Utah and came to Torrance three years ago. She leaves her parents, Mr. and Mrs. C. V. Carlson, and four brothers, Henry, Gilbert and Roland, all of Torrance, and Arnold, of Ogden, Utah.

MRS. ESTELLA LYDIA ROBERTSON . . . of 1816 West 257th street, Lomita, succumbed Monday at Torrance Memorial hospital where she had been confined less than 24 hours. Wife of Charles Henry Robertson and mother of three children, she had worked in Lomita and nearby communities for many years as a practical nurse. Mrs. Robertson was 49 years of age.

In addition to her husband, she was survived by two daughters, Mrs. Thelma Whitaker of this city and Edna Mae Robertson of Lomita; a son, Charles Lee of Lomita, and sisters and brothers in Washington. The funeral service was held this afternoon at the A. M. Gamby chapel in Lomita and interment was at Roosevelt Memorial Park.

FIRE STATION PAINTED
A coat of stucco paint was given the central fire station to make the exterior of the two-story building more similar in color to the other municipal structures in the civic center.

Dictators, Study in Psychology Writes Dr. Carl G. Jung

WHAT manner of men are these European dictators, who, with lightning speed are changing the history of mankind?

Few inquiries could surpass in importance the question which Dr. Carl G. Jung, the world's foremost analytical psychologist, answers in the January issue of Cosmopolitan, for dictatorship's triumvirate—Stalin, Hitler, Mussolini—not only direct the destinies of 800,000,000 people but are also feeling the future of us all.

H. R. Knekebocker, foreign correspondent for the International News Service, in his interview with Dr. Jung for Cosmopolitan asked this question: "What would happen if Hitler were to die tomorrow and you were to take Hitler's place? Would you be able to do what he did? Would you be able to do what he did? Would you be able to do what he did?"

"I doubt if they would divide it," Dr. Jung answered. "Hitler, being a medicine man, would probably hold himself aloof and have nothing to do with the quarrel. He would be helpless because he would be without his German people. Mussolini, being a politician, would probably divide it up among both chiefs or strong men in their own right, would probably divide possession of the food and drink, and Stalin, being the rougher and tougher, would probably get all of it."

The law to remember about dictators, according to Dr. Jung, is that it is the persecuted one who persecutes. "The dictators must have suffered from circumstances calculated to bring about dictatorship. Mussolini came at the moment when the country was in chaos. Hitler came when the economic crisis had reduced the standard of living in Germany and increased unemployment to an intolerable level. Stalin came when the death of Lenin, unique creator of Bolshevism, had left the party and the people leaderless and the country uncertain of its future. "Thus," says Dr. Jung, "the dictators are made from human material which suffers from overwhelming need. The three dictators in Europe differ from one another tremendously, but it is not so much they who differ as it is their peoples."

The famous psychologist compares the way the German people think and feel about Hitler with the way the Italian think and feel about Mussolini. The Germans are highly impressionable; they go to extremes and are always a bit unbalanced. The Italians, he points out, are more stable. Their minds do not roll and wobble and leap through all the extravagant ecclesiastical of the German mind. When the Fascist took power in Italy, Mussolini worked not with ecstasy of spirit, but with a hammer in his hand, beating Italy into the shape he wanted it, much as his blacksmith father used to make horseshoes.

As a physician, Dr. Jung has not only to analyze and diagnose, but to recommend treatment. Therefore he says, "Studying Germany as I would a patient, and Europe as I would a patient's family, I say, let her go into Russia. There is plenty of land there. It wouldn't matter if Russia if somebody took a bite. Our democratic U.S.A., of course, must be saved, else we all go under. You must keep away from the crazy and the infection. Keep your army and navy large, but save them. It was comes, wait."

Streets Being Re-Surfaced

Street Superintendent "Andy" Gascoigne continued an extensive program of street improvement this week by resurfacing El Prado from Sartori to Cravens, the east side of El Prado from Cravens to the high school and Florence avenue in North Torrance. He intends to smooth out the west side of El Prado next week. An asphalt base and "bituminous" or gravel top is being used.
