

Charity at Jail Puts Food Donor Inside

PORTERVILLE, Cal. (U.P.)—It was Chester Vient's big heart that landed him behind the prison bars here. He was passing the city jail, when inmates called to him and told him how cold and hungry they were.

Vient bought a supply of sandwiches and began passing them through the bars. He was so intent on his charity that he did not see a big sign on the jail

X-ray Proves Guilt

GLASGOW (U.P.)—X-rays were used to prove the guilt of William Thompson, who was sentenced to four months' imprisonment for stealing a ring from a jeweler's shop. He had swallowed it.

warning it was against the law to talk to prisoners.

The night patrol came along about that time and Vient followed his sandwiches into the jail.

TORRANCE HIGH LIGHTS . . . by Harvey Abramson

FACULTY LUNCH . . . The annual faculty Christmas luncheon was held Tuesday. Herbert B. Andrews, former printshop teacher, was the guest of honor. After the luncheon, faculty members exchanged gifts. They were entertained by a group of Madrigals and junior choir members who caroled beneath the windows. George V. Powell took Santa Claus' place, and everyone told Santa what he wanted for Christmas.

CAFETERIA PRAISE . . . Orchids to fellows and girls who have been helping in cafeteria for all the luncheons and banquets that have been held lately!

OFFICIAL VISIT . . . Last Monday the school was visited by Charles B. Moore, assistant superintendent in charge of high schools for the L. A. board of education. This is the first time that Moore has visited our institution, and he was very complimentary about it. While he was here Moore looked at the locker and shower rooms in the girls' gym. The school has been trying to get the conditions in the gym improved, and it is hoped that his inspection will hasten the changes.

YOU'RE INVITED! . . . This is an open invitation to the people of Torrance to attend the dedication and Christmas program to be held tonight at the high school auditorium. They will be entertained by the singing of the Madrigal Singers, the Junior A Capella choir, and the Treble Clef club. They will also be able to witness the dedication of the aud. The dedication program will start at 8 o'clock and the Christmas pageant at 9.

Cherry Tree Chopper Gets Stung for Work

CLEVELAND (U.P.)—Patrolman Edward Maurer chopped down a cherry tree, but instead of a name that will live through history all he got was a swollen neck.

Maurer saw some children setting fire to a huge cherry tree, turned in a fire alarm and helped the firemen chop down the tree, still burning and a menace to traffic.

A large nest of hornets resented the destruction, pursued the 200-pound patrolman, and alighted successfully and with results upon the back of his neck.

Texas Families Choose Names 'Taxi,' 'Reline'

AUSTIN, Tex. (U.P.)—Fathers and mothers of Texas show originality in naming their youngsters.

Names recorded with the state health department show hope, despair, and an interest in mechanics.

For instance, the Ford family named its baby "V-8 Ford." And the Lok family called one of its children "Yale." Then there are "Reline," "Clearance," "Taxi," and "Curb."

National affairs apparently influenced the parents who gave children the names "Hoover Depression," "N.R.A.," "Armistice" and "July Fourth."

Maybe personalities were responsible for the names "Lady," "Hardhead," "Angel" and "Whirlie."

Shirley's Pet In Her Picture

One reason why Shirley Temple will always remember her latest picture, "Just Around the Corner," which opens Christmas Day at the Plaza theatre in Hawthorne, is that it marks the first screen appearance of her favorite pet, "Ching-Ching," a Pekinese.

For over a year now, "Ching-Ching," as everyone calls him, has been a familiar nuisance on the set of every one of Shirley's pictures. On many occasions his asthmatic wheezing has been loud enough to cause the sound man to renege. But regardless of what anyone said, Shirley insisted on having "Ching-Ching" with her at the studio.

When she heard that in one sequence of "Just Around the Corner" there was to be a "dog-lounging," to be populated by a variety of pooches, Shirley approached Director Irving Cummings with the proposition that "Ching-Ching" should appear in the scene with the other dogs. That was O.K. with Cummings.

Later, however, on learning that the other dogs were being paid for their screen appearance, Shirley demanded that "Ching-Ching" likewise receive some compensation. That, too, was O.K. with Cummings and Ching went on the payroll at $5 a day. But when, following a conference Cummings decided to inure a sequence wherein Shirley gives Ching a bath, the Number One star balked.

"Five dollars a day is all right for an extra," Shirley pointed out, "but if I give Ching a bath that will mean he has a bit more and he'll have to get more money."

"How much?" asked Cummings.

"Ching expects $7.50 a day," said Shirley. So, for the rest of the picture, Ching was paid $7.50 a day, and Shirley deposited his earnings in her Milk Fund for charity.

Jinx Day No Bar to Narbonne High Open House Fete

Friday the 13th may be a jinx day for some superstitious souls, but not the faculty and students of Narbonne high school who have chosen Friday, Jan. 13, as the date for their Open House and junior play. Starting at 6:30 p. m., and continuing until 9:30, all of the shops will be open and show displays of projects completed by students this term. In the gymnasium there will be an exhibition of tumbling and a basketball game.

Exhibits or demonstrations will also be going on in various other departments, including sewing, cooking, science, social studies, and journalism.

Visitors will be met at the front door by Jane Adams members of Vigilantes, who will act as ushers. After the Open House, "Spring Fever," a three-act comedy, will be presented by a sequence of students. Following the play, light refreshments, provided by the home economics classes, will be served in the cafeteria to all adults.

MONDAY, TOO!

Styled on more beautiful lines than ever before and equipped with an improved method of air-cooling, the 1939 Servel Electrolux gas refrigerators are now on display in local dealer and gas company showrooms, it was learned today from O. M. Butler, sales supervisor for Southern California Gas company.

"Two distinct problems confronted Servel engineers when they set about designing the 1939 gas refrigerator," Butler declared. "First, they were required to effect a number of improvements to increase the efficiency, convenience and beauty of this home appliance, and second, they were called to make manufacturing economies which would enable dealers to make a substantial reduction in price."

"That they were able to accomplish both these things is considered one of the outstanding engineering achievements of the year. The smart, modern lines of the cabinet have been enhanced this year by a paneling effect on the doors, which, together with the 'disappearing hinges,' a feature of the 1938 refrigerator, gives the new models a streamlined loveliness."
