Episcopal Women Planning Tea and Embroidery Exhibit Feb. 28

St. Cecilia's Guild members and their friends were privileged to hear one of the most outstanding of Mrs. Florence Lee Ohlsen's splendid talks on current events and book reviews at Guild Hall Tuesday. Mrs. Ohlsen opened her talk with a discussion of events of world concern and proceeded to give a resume of the current political situation.

She continued with a review of the best in recent literary offerings, recommending "Finland" by J. Hampden Jackson, "Atterbury for the People" by Rupert Hughes, "Happy Days" by H. L. Mencken, "Maud" by Richard Lee Strout, "Great Traditions" by Frances Parkinson Keyes, "Capitol City" by Mary Sandoz, "Verdun" by Jules Romains, "No More Gas" by James Norman Hall, and "Portrait of Jennie" by Robert Nathan.

Following the review the ladies enjoyed a potluck luncheon and a business meeting was conducted. Plans were completed for a silver tea to be held at Episcopal Guild Hall Wednesday, Feb. 28, at 2:30. Everyone is invited. Of special interest to the community will be the exhibit of ecclesiastical embroidery to be shown that day.
