

Bay City Boy Slightly Hurt, Hit By Auto

A four-year-old San Francisco boy suffered a bump on his head and some skinned shins last Monday evening when he was accidentally struck by a car driven by Allan K. Muir of 1810 1/2 Martina avenue. No charges were filed against Muir.

The boy, Eric James, who was visiting Mr. and Mrs. Charles Chaplin at 1019 Cota avenue, was playing in Cota avenue with some other children when Muir drove by. The motorist told police he was watching out for the children and turned to see if he was clear of them when Eric ran across the street in front of his car. Muir stopped his machine at once and took the youngster to a doctor's office.

The boy was treated and allowed to return to the Chaplins at once, with only the bump and a few scratches to show for his experience.

1 KILLED and 56 Injured in Auto Collisions here to date 1940.

"I note what you say about your willingness to take a child evacuee from this country. I do not know of any parents who are prepared to send their children to America but if I hear of any I shall certainly put them in touch with you. There is an arrangement on your side where by you can register as willing to take a child. But I rather think the recent torpedoing of a ship carrying children will stop evacuation from this country.

Praise for Roosevelt

"We were fortunate that neither of our soldier sons was in France and we live in hope that they may be kept in this country. It is very cheering to realize how strongly the American tide of sentiment is swinging in our favor. Roosevelt has been great and I hope he goes back for a third term.

"No American election has ever awakened such interest here. The 50 destroyers are a grand accession to our strength and our lease of bases in America shows that America and we together will make a new and better world."

Mrs. Stickney's Defense Being Heard Today

Defense witnesses were expected to occupy the witness stand throughout the entire day today in the trial of Mrs. Katherine Stickney, charged with three counts of embezzlement.

The state concluded its case yesterday afternoon just as court recessed, and the defense stated it would proceed Thursday and possibly part of Friday. The charges are being heard by a jury.

Floyd L. Swanson, first witness called, gave the court a summary of the audit of the Ed Thompson Chevrolet Company's books, and said there was a shortage of $961. Robert J. Deinger, second witness, identified photostatic copies of deposit slips, and two bank books. Leo O'Brien, the state's only other witness, identified a payroll book and the company's general ledger on the witness stand.

Motion of Mrs. Stickney's attorney for a dismissal of the charges was denied by Superior Judge Thomas L. Ambrose, at the conclusion of the state's case.

become pastor at Brawley in the Imperial Valley, served the Covina parish and three years ago was sent here.

Almost from the beginning of his Torrance pastorate, Father Fitzgerald began working for a new church to replace the small wooden structure that now serves as a parish hall. He celebrated Mass in the new Church of the Nativity on March 6, 1939.

Rev. Kelly in Charge

Father Fitzgerald was survived by his brother and an uncle, the Rt. Rev. Monsignor Maurice P. Fitzgerald of St. Gregory's church in Brooklyn, N. Y. A priest's choir of the Archdiocese chanted the solemn Office for the Dead in the late pastor's memory Tuesday evening at the local church. Interment followed the impressive rites yesterday at Calvary cemetery in Los Angeles.

Rev. Father William Kelly, who came to Torrance several months ago as an assistant to Father Fitzgerald, will serve as acting pastor here until Archbishop Cantwell appoints a new shepherd for the Torrance members of the Catholic faith.

In tribute to the late pastor, the Torrance Coordinating Council adopted the following memorial Monday: "The passing of Rev. Joseph V. Fitzgerald came as a terrible shock to those of us who have enjoyed working with him for the social betterment of the community. We of the Coordinating Council feel a deep sense of loss as a result of his untimely death. Torrance has indeed lost an intelligent champion of the cause of community progress."

Noted Singers to Present Sacred Concert Here

David Owen Jones, noted Welsh tenor, and Miss Jeanette Cristine, soprano and accompanist, will present a sacred concert at the Torrance Methodist church Sunday evening, Oct. 13, at 7:30 o'clock. They are artists with 20 years distinguished service to the church and have proved an outstanding example of musicians with a fine conception of church music. The public is cordially invited and a silver offering will be taken.

Those from Torrance who attended the concert at Long Beach given as a benefit for British War Relief Saturday evening included Messrs. and Mrs. F. D. Davies, Stephen Ball, W. J. Diamond and E. L. Parry.

Mr. and Mrs. W. P. Taylor were recent guests at the home of Mr. and Mrs. G. E. Lingo at Hollywood.

Mr. and Mrs. J. H. Fess were Sunday dinner guests of the A. Greens at San Gabriel.

Col. Jamieson Picking Men for Pacific Defenses

truck drivers, surveyors, auditors—practically every type of tradesman and professional man.

Men Examined

"A shrewd judge of men with countless personal acquaintances among workmen, the onetime hard-riding cavalryman sizes up each one closely.

"He doesn't care a snap of his fingers for their religious beliefs, whether they are employed, what their affiliations are, how old they are. There's a general age limit of 21 to 45—but it's elastic if the man qualifies in other respects."

"One man in 10 is accepted. That man has to measure up perfectly. He's got to be the kind of a guy that'll make construction camp life on a barren, rugged island comfortable for himself and his mates.

"He must be physically perfect. He must know his job thoroughly—3 to 10 years a journeyman in his trade is the rule. He should have a hobby, something to occupy his free time—what there is of it—on the lonely atoll to which he is assigned. His fingerprints can't be in the F.B.I. files for a criminal offense. Trouble isn't what the Navy's looking for.

Signs for Year

"When he is accepted by the steely-eyed colonel, the applicant must sign up for one year's work. Ninety per cent of his salary he must assign to his family or a bank. Ten per cent of it he can have as a drawing account on the commissary at his job.

"Gambling doesn't promote harmony on a windswept, mid-sea islet.

"His salary begins when he steps on the Navy transport headed for his next-year's home and continues until he steps again on his front porch. From $300 to $500 is invested in each man chosen.

"It's no wonder that the Navy told Jamieson: 'Don't make a mistake!'

Many Youngsters

"Many of the applicants are youngsters to whom the adventure of an island appeals. Others are older men with the wanderlust and an eye to greener vistas—literally and figuratively.

"Sure," said Col. Jamieson, "I take some of the youngsters. You have to have them in a camp to raise a little hell and keep the older men on their toes."

"When the bases are finally turned over to the Navy, each must be complete in itself, self-sustaining, a modern industrial city capable of tending its own emergencies, capable of housing, caring for and entertaining its citizens.

"How soon they will be completed is guessable. Lately, developments in the Pacific have spurred efforts toward a quick windup. This means more men—fast.

"But Jamieson doesn't want quantity. He wants quality. He doesn't encourage applicants.

Lights Match to See If Gas Tank Leaking—It Was—Car Destroyed

You've heard of the man who lit a match to see if he had any gasoline left in his car tank... well, Jack Pacheco of San Pedro lit a match under his gas tank to see if it was leaking last Sunday night. It was.

A few minutes later Pacheco's car was almost a complete loss. The resultant fire occurred in the yard of Charlie Mitchell's Standard Oil service station where Pacheco had driven to investigate his leaking tank.

He'd rather — and does — select from a few. "He's doing a big job in a little office."

Yes, New "Sure-Mix" Crisco gives you 3 new exclusive cake advantages no other shortening can give you

Do you want your cakes to be lighter, smoother-textured and better-tasting than ever before?

Well then—read the amazing cake results gotten by hundreds of women who tested "Sure-Mix" Crisco in their regular cake recipes...

Independent investigators chose these housewives at random in 20 cities from Coast to Coast—gave them "Sure-Mix" Crisco and asked them to bake cakes and compare results with their usual shortenings.

The vote was 4 to 1 for "Sure-Mix" Crisco cakes compared with all the other shortenings. Yes, actually, when these women reported which shortening they preferred, they said: "I got lighter cakes with Crisco"—"Smoother-textured cakes!"—"My family liked my Crisco cakes better!"

Why Crisco is different! An amazing discovery—it's patented—makes New Crisco different. Crisco batters are satin-smooth—don't tend to separate or look "curdled" the way batters made with other shortenings often do.

Crisco cakes are consistently up to 15% lighter and higher (depending on type of cake) than cakes made with any other home shortening we know of.

Better Pies and Fried Foods with Crisco—In the nation-wide home-cooking tests women voted 4 to 1 for flaky pies and better-tasting fried foods they got with Crisco.
