Million-Dollar Trade School Under Study for Alondra Park

Preliminary plans for establishment of a million dollar advanced trade school for the training of young industrial workers in the Southwest Los Angeles county area were outlined at a meeting of civic leaders and educators last Friday in the offices of the Gardena Valley Chamber of Commerce.

Representatives of Torrance, Gardena, Inglewood and Hawthorne-Lawndale area discussed with Los Angeles Superintendent of Schools Vierling Kersey and Inglewood Superintendent Harold Sinar the need for such an institution centrally located in this industrial area.

It was pointed out that industry, particularly defense industries, are seriously handicapped because of inability to secure workers with any semblance of training, the airplane and machine tool industries being the hardest pressed to find trained workers.

Is Greatly Needed Here
Superintendent Kersey was of the opinion that Federal aid could be secured for such a project which he stated is greatly needed in this district and should be located so as to be readily accessible to Inglewood, Hawthorne, El Segundo, Redondo Beach, Torrance, San Pedro, Wilmington and Gardena.

He suggested a set-up similar to a Junior College District, except that instead of academic training the school would be built for the particular purpose of providing trained workers for aircraft, machine tool, oil supply and other industries.

A suggested location which might be acquired without necessity of purchase was Alondra Park, a 300-acre tract located between Redondo Beach boulevard and Rosecrans avenue and midway between Western avenue and Hawthorne boulevard. Kersey, however, agreed to place facilities of the Los Angeles school system at the disposal of the district in making a population and industrial survey of the district.

The survey will be made immediately by experts from the Los Angeles City School system and following its completion another conference will be called of educators, representatives of the larger industries and civic leaders of all the Southwest Los Angeles county cities, and definite plans of procedure decided upon.

Present at the meeting last week besides Superintendent Kersey were Mayor Tom McGuire, Ex-Mayor William Tolson and Chamber of Commerce Secretary L. J. Gilmeister of Torrance; James C. Haines, principal of Inglewood high school; Dick Richardson of the Federal Savings and Loan, and Harold Sinar, superintendent of schools, representing Inglewood; B. L. Cook, Hawthorne-Lawndale; Arthur Davies, Lew Guild, and Chamber of Commerce Secretary Pat MacDonnell of Gardena.

Mayor McGuire, who heads the personnel department at National Supply Company, emphasized the need of skilled workers and stated that his firm had established a form of apprenticeship system to meet a demand. His company now employs over 800 on the pay roll and has sub-contracts for the government totaling over a million dollars which are expected to double the number of workmen.

Pueblo Parley Postponed Here

A scheduled meeting of the city council with the Torrance Ministerial Association and Jack Isen and Perry Isenstein Tuesday night about the Association's proposed clean-up of the Pueblo district was postponed indefinitely when the pastors notified City Clerk A. H. Bartlett they could not be present.

MARCH OF RINES

DIAPERS AND DADS By H. F. NOAKE

A maternity ward was cluttered with men, each milling around like a militant hen; awaiting the stork, and his parcels of joy, which would it be, a girl or a boy? From the looks on their faces, expectant and wild, you'd think each of them was having a child; like bears in a cage, they moved to and fro all cursing the bird for being so slow. One fellow joined up with another, and said, "If Hattie has triplets, their pa will drop dead." Then, in came a nurse, who announced amid grins, that Hattie was now the proud owner of twins. In time, each was given the coveted news, some appeared happy, and some had the blues, but all were agreed, which ever he brings, the stork and his bundles, are wonderful things.

Local Draft Board Starts Work

BEGINS PATRIOTIC, PAY-LESS SERVICE . . . After organizing Saturday at Narbonne high school, the Torrance-Lomita draft board today swung into its big job of checking over registrations made yesterday by men between 21 and 36 in this area. Members of the board shown above are A. E. Cameron, Palos Verdes, member; Carl D. Steele, Torrance, chairman, and O. C. Field, Palos Verdes, vice-chairman.

"We've got a big job on our hands and we can only say that we will do our best to follow Federal regulations and act impartially on every case that comes before us," Chairman Carl D. Steele of Torrance declared yesterday as he and the other two members of the Torrance-Lomita draft board observed men registering for the national draft.

Steele was chosen head of the local board by O. C. Field and A. E. Cameron, both of Palos Verdes, who will serve with him in acting as the primary body in this area to send men between 21 and 36 into a year's Army training. The Torrance man is now serving his third term as president of the Steel Workers' Organizing Committee Lodge No. 1414 and has been a resident of Torrance for 11 years.

All Have Children
None of the members of the local board have children of draft age, they pointed out yesterday. Steele has a 10-year-old son and a daughter who recently started a teaching career; Field, who is vice-chairman of the board, is a member of the Palos Verdes school board and a mechanical engineer. He has been a resident of Palos Verdes for the past 11 years and has three children.

Cameron, third member of the board, is a wholesale auto parts dealer in Los Angeles and has lived in Palos Verdes for 16 years. He has a daughter.

Legal, Medical Aides
Assisting the local draft board in their selection of men for one year of Army training will be Dr. Norman A. Leake of Torrance. He was appointed late last week by Gov. Olson as a member of the medical advisory board for the harbor district, other members being Dr. A. J. Langan for San Pedro and Dr. W. M. Pearce for Wilmington.

Gov. Olson also named members of the appeal board and attorneys who will serve as appeal agents. The local lawyer named is Kenneth B. Hughes of Torrance.

Four Appeal Boards
Four appeal boards were named for Los Angeles county, and local appeals will be sifted by the group which Olson said will have its headquarters at Long Beach. Members of this group will include A. R. Markley of 1271 Ninth st., San Pedro, longshoreman; Lester Adams, Walnut Park publisher; George L. Triggs, Rivers rancher; Gerard Tuttle, Long Beach aircraft plant executive; Jack P. Smith, Bell plasterer; Joseph Ball, Long Beach plasterer, and Dr. F. B. Settle, Long Beach physician.

Working with this appeal board will be the medical advisory group composed of Drs. R. A. Terry, Walter D. Gilgey, Dean E. D. Godwin, John I. Boyer, Richard A. Carter, George A. Stillson, W. E. Hart, Frank E. Weld and (Continued on Page 4A)

Mrs. Stickney Held Not Guilty

Not guilty was the verdict of a jury in Superior Judge Thomas L. Ambrose court late last week, at the conclusion of the trial of Mrs. Katherine Stickney, charged with three counts of embezzlement.

Mrs. Stickney took the witness stand in her own defense last Thursday and denied assertions contained in the testimony given at her preliminary hearing by the late Edward M. Thompson, member of the firm, Thompson Chevrolet Company, by whom she was employed as a bookkeeper. The jury was out but a short time.

Sample Ballots for $530,000 General Election in Mail

17 Propositions Are Reviewed in 30-Page 'For-Against' Booklet

Sample ballots are in the mails for all local registered voters and residents may expect to receive them the early part of next week, according to Registrar of Voters W. M. Kerr.

In addition to local offices to be filled, the voters will find 17 state propositions, some of them more involved than usual, according to a "preview" of the 30-page booklet containing arguments for and against each of the 17 proposals.

It will cost $530,000 to hold the Nov. 5 general election in Los Angeles county, it was estimated today by W. M. Kerr, Registrar of Voters. Largest item will be the salaries of election board officials—six of them in each of the 5000-odd precincts—who are to be paid $8 apiece, or a total of $240,000. This amounts to approximately one cent on the general county tax levy alone.

Next largest item is $150,000 estimated by Kerr as the cost of ballot paper, ink pads, rubber stamps and cost of delivering voting booths and election supplies to the precincts the day preceding the election. In preparation for the election, an estimated $100,000 will have been paid to clerks to register voters, check each registration, make up rosters for each precinct, printing and canvassing work.

Simplification of Election Procedure is Proposed

Eight-member election boards may be one way of simplifying election day procedure, it appeared today when the board of supervisors was handed an opinion of County Counsel J. H. O'Connor on suggestions made by various citizens during the past few months.

Four members would be on duty until the polls close at 7 p. m., when the other four members would report and proceed to tally the votes cast for the various candidates. This proposal has merit, county attorneys concluded, provided the members are paid $6 instead of $8 for the day's work, so that the total cost of the eight-member board would not exceed the cost of a six-member board where each is paid $8. It is believed the shorter hours also would appeal to the board members.

Study now is being made of election procedure in other states. One state uses two ballot boxes in each precinct, one of which is opened during the afternoon and the ballots counted. When the polls close it is only necessary to count the ballots cast since the other box was opened. Results are available much sooner than in California.

But there are reports that the secrecy of the votes cast in the first ballot box cannot be kept, and that is sometimes believed responsible for a frantic rush at the last minute get more votes out for a candidate that lagged behind.

Rental on the 5000-odd precincts is being allowed at the rate of $8, or a total of $40,000 for the election. Grand total of the items is $530,000, according to Registrar Kerr's arithmetic.

Fashion Show to Precede Cooking School Tonight

Men Cordially Invited to Attend Free Program in Torrance Civic Auditorium Starting at 8 p. m.

Acclaimed "the best ever" by hundreds of enthusiastic women who attended the opening session of the Happy Kitchen Cooking School yesterday afternoon at the Torrance Civic Auditorium, record crowds and capacity houses are freely predicted for tonight (Thursday) and the final session tomorrow (Friday) afternoon. A number of exceptionally attractive and valuable prizes will be awarded at both of these sessions.

Registration Ends County's Part In Selective Service

Completion of registration of all men between 21 and 36 years of age last night and the turning over of the registration cards to the 107 draft boards in the county marked the end of the county's work in connection with the National Selective Service Act.

All cards were expected to be turned over to the draft boards by Thursday night, and from then on only the Federal government is concerned.

Next step will be the drawing of the names, which will take place in Washington, by numbers to be assigned to each registrant, and the notification of those men whose names are drawn. There will be an appeals board to consider appeals, and a medical board to determine the draftee's fitness for military training.

Married men with families will be exempted from the present call for training, according to information from Washington.

Willkie Rally In Torrance Monday

With a capacity attendance expected, the Willkie Volunteers of Torrance, 17th Congressional District, will hold a mass rally in the Torrance Civic Auditorium Monday, Oct. 21, at 8 p. m., according to Luther C. Anderson, chairman of the Willkie Volunteers of Southern California.

A. C. Edington, noted speaker who has been tireless in his campaigning for Wendell Willkie, will be the speaker. He is a member of the League of American Writers for Wendell Willkie, and also one-time candidate for Lieutenant Governor. Stellar luminaries on the program will be the Duncan Sisters. They have made many appearances in behalf of Willkie and will be one of the highlights of the evening.

Everyone is invited to attend this non-partisan rally, political affiliations being no barrier.

Fashion Show Tonight

An added attraction on this evening's program, which begins promptly at 8 p. m., is a 15-minute Fashion Review to be produced by the J. C. Penney Company with members of the Spinsters Club acting as models. An interesting showing of the latest Fall and Winter modes, selected from extensive new stocks of the recently opened new Penney store has been planned by Hillman Lee, manager of the Torrance store.

Miss Kay Gilbert, celebrated home economist in charge of the Happy Kitchen school, stresses cooking principles rather than preparation of individual or tricky recipes. Attendees at the Cooking School thus are given a liberal education in fundamental cooking methods which are applicable in the preparation of all types of recipes. The points brought out by Miss Gilbert will be found helpful to the inexperienced home-maker as well as to those who have been cooking for many years.

Informal Program

Those who attended the Wednesday afternoon session were agreeably surprised at the interesting manner in which Miss Gilbert presents her programs. Informality is stressed as she prefers to talk "with" the members of her audience rather than "at" them. Miss Gilbert's charming personality and long experience enables her to quickly get acquainted with her listeners and as a result the time passes so quickly that few realize the two hours have passed when the program is over.

Bring Your Husband
Gentlemen are especially invited guests at this evening's session, which begins promptly at 8 p. m. Doors at the Civic Auditorium will be open at 7:30. As many meals are planned with the particular idea of pleasing Friend Husband and other male members of the family, it seems proper that they should be invited to come and see how some of the delightful new treats that are in store for them are prepared.

Then, too, the ladies may discover that their husbands are interested in certain types of recreation. (Continued on Page 4A)
