Briton Consoles Friend Here On 'Disaster' Story
England and her people are having more than their share of disasters but even from that beleaguered isle there came to Torrance last Saturday morning an expression of concern over what must have been publicized in the English press as a major disaster here—the explosion and fire at the General Petroleum refinery.
"Just heard of disaster. Hope you're ok," was the cablegram received by William Wylam, local florist, from his friend, Eric Engelmann in Safron, Walden, England.
Wylam was forced to presume his English friend meant the G.P. blast-fire as that was the nearest thing to a "disaster" Torrance has encountered in its history—and that was not so bad even though two men lost their lives as result of it.
Engelmann lived for a time in Montebello and Wylam knew him about two years while the Englishman was in this country studying flower culture. His parents are noted carnation seed growers in England and they sent him here to observe American methods.

Here's a New Holiday Treat
By MARJORIE H. BLACK
Pumpkin pie is a favorite dessert for Thanksgiving, but there are other fine ones and among them is the Fruited Ginger Ring given below. Let the Thanksgiving spirit spread over the weekend in order to include several of the favorite desserts.
The charm of the fruited ring is due to not only the delicious blend of flavors of gingerbread, fruits, and rum-flavored whipped cream, but to its attractive appearance. It should be served from the table in order to share its attractiveness with the other members of the family and guests.
FRUITED GINGER RING
1 lb. can fruits for salad
1/2 cup butter
1/2 cup dark brown sugar
1/2 orange
1 package prepared gingerbread mixture
1 cup whipping cream
2 tablespoons sugar
vanilla or rum flavoring
nutmeg
Drain the syrup from the fruit salad and reduce, by boiling, to about one-half cup. Add the butter and sugar and cook 2 or 3 minutes longer. Pour into a ring mold. Arrange thin slices of unpeeled orange in the bottom of the ring and add the salad fruits. Mix the gingerbread, following directions on the package. Carefully pour the batter over the fruit mixture. Bake in a moderate oven, 350 degrees, about 40 minutes, or until cake is done. Remove from oven and allow to stand about 5 minutes and then turn out on a plate so that the fruit mixture is on top. Whip the cream; fold in the sugar and flavoring and pile in the center of the warm cake ring. Sprinkle nutmeg over the whipped cream. Serve at once. Eight servings.

considered luxuries," he said.
"The history of our company is a record of a constantly wider variety of quality foods being offered to a greater number of consumers," Higi said. "As a matter of fact, when George Huntington Hartford founded the A&P in 1859 with the first store in New York, his first act was to take tea out of the luxury class and make it available to budgeteers in modest circumstances."
Higi, general superintendent of the California Unit, said that the public response to this new method of merchandising resulted in the opening of new stores and the introduction of additional foodstuffs. The new mass merchandising principles were applied to coffee and they were so effective that the A&P today operates its own plantations in Brazil, and imports, roasts and distributes one out of every seven pounds of coffee used by American consumers.
The anniversary theme, "Pioneers for budgeteers—since 1859" was announced today by G. S. Higi, A&P executive.
