

Better Matinee Movies Sought by Civic Group

 children on stage should be discouraged and individual child acts prohibited. Singing by audience is excellent; (4) Permit no "trailers" advertising adult programs; (5) Junior matinee should be a complete unit program and the theatre cleared before adult program begins; (6) If theatre runs a continuous afternoon show lights should be turned on for 30 minutes and children made to leave at end of junior matinee; (7) Chaplines should be present, and (8) If these standards cannot be met then the program is not a junior matinee and the theatre manager should not encourage child attendance.

The group attending the session was not critical but most cooperative with the local theatre management and several made it clear that the purpose was only to protect children from harmful movies.

Those present included Mayor Tom McGuire, Revs. H. W. Roloff, Harry Branton, Frank Porter and Father Joseph Leo Bauer; Mrs. J. Marriot, president of the San Pedro-Lomita P. T. A. council; Mrs. G. A. Plummer, San Pedro-Lomita Council motion picture chairman; Mrs. J. R. Garner, former council motion picture chairman; Mrs. W. H. Tolson, Torrance Elementary, P. T. A.; Mrs. J. J. Eyes Seldom Used To Fullest Extent

OF the five senses with which the normal human being is endowed at birth, eyesight is the most precious and the most important. Yet, few people use their eyes to the fullest extent.

The famous author, Royal Brown, writing in the January issue of Cosmopolitan Magazine, says he never was aware of this until he completely lost his hearing. His eyes must now obtain the information for him instead of his ears. But this enforced use of his eyes has brought him in many small ways an enrichment of life.

"I am almost always the first to notice when a person is bothered by a draft or a light shining too brightly," Brown says. "My eyes tell me when a person needs a match or is in any way uncomfortable. My eyes have made friends for me because people are gratified at having their wants anticipated."

A child, he points out, is often spoken of as "all eyes." He is using his eyes continually to adjust himself to a world that seems strange. He is as alert of eye as our primitive ancestors had to be to survive. Any magician, whose art is deceiving the eye, will quickly state that an audience of children is the toughest to face.

Constant and proper use of the eyes brings treasured rewards. It can enrich human relations, Brown relates, and give a fuller meaning to life. "To be interesting," he concludes, "you must be interested. Your interest must be turned outward, not inward. You must see everything that is going on about you. Therein, I believe, lies the answer to many of life's important questions."

Motoring of 1907 Had Its Hazards With Farm Horses

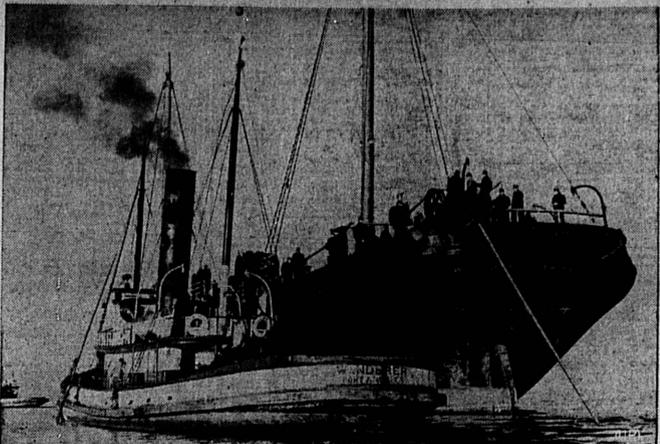

Starkly contrasting with motoring of today, is a rule of 1907 which will bring a nostalgic twinge for the "good old days" to motorists of yesterday, according to the National Automobile Club. For it was in that year that the following advice about what to do when encountering terrified horses was issued to man's Club president; Mrs. C. W. Brown, Torrance Elementary press chairman; Mrs. Lillian Billups, Fern Avenue school principal; Leonard Dykes, Torrance Elementary school principal; Mrs. J. O. Bishop, High School P. T. A. president and Manager Tobin.

Missouri motorists:
 "Drive to one side of the road and, if possible, hide the machine behind a clump of trees; then emerge quietly, take the bridles of the horses and lead them past the automobile. Then give the farmer a cheery slap on the back and a hearty 'jolly' that will send him on the way feeling that indeed the automobile is the prince of them all."

No record is extant of the casualties resulting from this counsel.

Puebloans Honor Patron Saint at Rites, Fiesta

 Juan Diego was walking in the mountains near Mexico City, when he heard wonderful music and saw brilliant lights in the colors of the rainbow. The Holy Virgin appeared, told Diego to go to his bishop and say that she wished him to build a church for her on that spot.

Image Imprinted on Cloth
 Diego carried the message, but was told to bring proof. On his third visit to the barren rock of Tepeyac, the Virgin told Diego to climb to the highest spot and gather roses which grow there. Diego well knew that no roses were to be had there where not even a blade of grass could grow, but he obeyed the command and in his amazement he found many beautiful red roses.

He gathered all his ragged mantle could hold and took them to the bishop. When the roses were taken from the mantle, on the rough maguery cloth was imprinted the image of the Holy Virgin.

She was pictured with black hair carefully parted in the middle, eyes downcast, a sweet serene face. She was robed in a long tunic of rosecolor, flecked with gold. Over this she wore a full cloak of blue resembling velvet, embroidered with 46 stars. A cross was hanging from a chain about her neck.

The sceptical bishop was convinced, the church was built, and the original portrait of the Holy Virgin was framed in gold and placed over the altar where its vivid colors remain undimmed. Thousands of worshippers gather at this holy shrine each year, and at its neighboring Chapel of the Well many miraculous cures are related of sick and crippled persons who have sought divine aid for their afflictions.

Thrifty Dried Fruits Add Zest To Many Dishes

By Katharine Fisher
 Director, Good Housekeeping Institute

Many a dish can be lifted out of the doldrums by the addition of one of the many dried fruits, particularly during the winter months when some fresh fruits are out of season or perhaps beyond reach of the food budget. Modern dried fruits, kept clean in sealed packages, are so deliciously tender you don't need to soak them, or even simmer them the usual long time, as of yore. What's more, they are good sources of calcium, iron, vitamins A, B₁, and G, as well as other food values that keep us well nourished.

Prune-and-Orange Salad

(All Recipes Tested by Good Housekeeping Institute)
 Use Institute-approved measuring cups and spoons. Measure level.

Fill 10 pitted, cooked, large-size prunes with 1 3-oz. pkg. cream cheese and 1 tsp. mayonnaise or salad dressing, which have been creamed together. Top each filled prune with a walnut quarter. Arrange 2 prunes with 5 orange sections, 2 tsp. of mandarin, on each individual bed of lettuce. Serve with French dressing. Serves 5.

Apricot Rice Pudding

2 1/2 cup. raw rice
 2 c. bottled milk, or 1 c. evaporated milk and 1 c. water
 1/2 c. granulated sugar
 2 eggs, separated
 1/2 c. drained and mashed, unswetened, cooked, dried apricots
 1 1/2 tsp. lemon juice

Cook the washed rice in boiling water to cover for 8 min. Drain; then combine with the milk and 2 tsp. of the sugar in the top of a double boiler. Cook, covered, 40 min., stirring occasionally. Then remove from the heat, and add gradually to the egg yolks, which have been beaten with 1 tsp. of the granulated sugar. Return mixture to double boiler, and cook 5 min. longer. Cool. Then add the mashed apricots and lemon juice, and combine thoroughly. Beat the egg whites stiff; then slowly add the remaining sugar, while continuing to beat. Fold the egg whites into the rice mixture. Chill, and serve with or without top milk of cream. Serves 4.

Spanish Roast Loin of Pork

1/2 c. minced green pepper
 1 c. minced onion
 1 clove garlic, minced
 3/4 c. salad oil
 2 8-oz. cans tomato sauce
 1 c. hot water
 1 tsp. chili powder

1/2 c. brown sugar, firmly packed
 3/4 tsp. salt
 1/2 c. sliced ripe olives
 1 c. seedless raisins
 2 c. cooked rice
 1 lb. loin of pork

Sauté green pepper, onion, and garlic in oil until tender. Add tomato sauce and hot water; bring to a boil. Combine chili, sugar, salt, and 1/2 c. water; add, with olives and raisins, to sauce; boil 4 min. Add 3/4 c. of this sauce to rice. Have butcher loosen pork from rib bone, just enough to form a pocket, the entire length of the loin. Stuff this with the rice mixture. Cook, covered, in Dutch oven, in moderate oven of 350° F. for 1 hr. Pour rest of raisin sauce over roast, and continue cooking, uncovered, 1 hr. Serves 6.

Calawalki Ham

2 1"-thick ham slices (about 2 lbs.)
 2 tsp. prepared mustard
 1/2 c. brown sugar, firmly packed

2 c. drained, unswetened, cooked, dried apricots
 1 c. canned crushed pineapple
 1 c. unswetened apricot juice

Slimmer ham, covered, for 20 min. in water to cover. Drain, and place in greased roasting pan. Spread top and sides with mustard, and sprinkle with brown sugar. Mash apricots to a pulp. Add granulated sugar, apricot juice, and pineapple, and mix thoroughly. Pour over ham slices, and bake in moderate oven of 400° F. for 1 1/2 hrs. Serves 6.

19 NABBED IN 'OPERATIONS' RING RAIDS

 pect would identify herself, as instructed, by means of a white carnation, and by placing herself at a designated place. The patient, it was asserted, would be taken to one of the three clearance houses—here or in Wilmington.

Get 15 calls
 Then, either at one of these houses or at "the farm" there would be a "pay-off" with the minimum being $35. It would range up from that, the investigators said, to high as the traffic would bear.

Then the patient would be taken to the operation headquarters at Palos Verdes. Here, it is alleged, was found a veritable hospital with "nurses" in attendance. While the raiding party was at this "farm" Tuesday, from 1:30 to 4 p. m., more than 15 telephone calls were taken by investigators from the ring's "contact" men in nearby cities who reported names of patients and where they were to be picked-up.

The medical board investigator and other authorities were able to stage the raid as a result of a "plant." A woman operative was employed and made the asserted pay-off at "the farm" Tuesday. In a few minutes of officers from the state, District Attorney's office, Sheriff's office, Los Angeles and Torrance police departments combined to make the raid.

Investigator Anderson said he had been studying the "ring" for a year and that he had evidence to show that the alleged traffic dealt with juveniles as well as adults and that it was the "largest thing of its kind to come to the attention of the medical board."

Dinner guests Sunday at the I. C. Rous home were C. B. Rous and daughter, Miss Charlotte Rous of Los Angeles, the father and sister of I. C. Rous and Mrs. Alta Van Winkle of Beverly Hills.

Christmas cakes, iced cookies and other goodies are survivals of the old custom of giving confectionery gifts to the Senators of Rome.

Santa Claus came to America from Holland and the hanging up of stockings developed from the wooden shoes upon the hearth. There is also an Italian practice where the fairy Bafana fills the stockings of the good children with gifts and the naughty children receive only ashes.

Harbor Chambers Select Finkle As '41 President

 C. Wildman of Long Beach and Louis Gerlach of Compton.

A national defense committee was added to the chamber's committee roster on the motion of Sillas M. Cain of Long Beach, national junior vice commandant of the Marine Corp. league entertainment committee. He was named its first chairman.

At the dinner meeting more than 125 members, their wives and guests heard Rear Admiral Sinclair Gannon, senior member, board of inspection and survey of the 11th naval district, outline chief factors in the construction and maintenance of a strong navy.

Guests were Carl Hyde, former secretary of the Torrance chamber of commerce; Supervisor William Smith and former Gov. Frank Finley Merriam.

Sells His House With 65c Ad

C. D. Howlett recently ordered the following ad run four times in the Torrance Herald & Lomita News—but after the second insertion, he ordered the ad discontinued because he had sold the house thru the two ads already run. He was given a refund for the two cancelled insertions, bringing the total cost for selling the house to just 65c. Here's the ad that did the trick:
